MENINGITIS CURE BY SERUM

Dr. Louis Fischer Tells of Successful Operation He Performed on Child in a
New York Hospital.

New York, March 14.—Authoritative announcement of the first authentic cure of dread cerebro-spinal entic cure of dread cerebro-spinal entic injections of the Flexner serum was made, at a meeting of physicians and surgeons at the New York Academy of Medicine, No. 17 West Forty-third street, last night. That this disease, which proves fatal invariably in the cases of children under two years, has been mastered through the research of Dr. Simon Flexner, head of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research, was admitted scarcely without opposition by the physicians after careful consideration of the data presented by Dr. Louis Fischer, of the Sydenham Hospital, who successfully employed the serum. It is declared to have marked an epoch in medical history.

The process employed by Dr. Fischer was to inject a quantity of the Flexner fluid into the right ventricle of the brain, the intercranial cavity being separated and as much fluid as possible being drained off. The cavity was then washed with a normal salt solution, and the serum was again injected. Lumbar injections also were made, the result being a rapid improvement in the condition of the infantile patient. The infant, which in this case was two months old, was cured after seven weeks' treatment, and its condition today is that of a normal child enjoying the best of health.

"The treatment marks a distinct epoch in the history of medicine," said Dr. Fischer. "It has convinced me that the Flexner serum will minimize the danger of death in infants under two years of age, whereas before its introduction by Dr. Flexner the percentage of deaths was one hundred. That the serum will prove a boon to children attacked by cerebro-spinal meningitis, seems to me a certainty."

The child whose life was saved by Dr. Fischer by the use of the serum administered by intra-ventricular injection was brought to the Sydenham Hospital in October last. It was just two months old and was in convulsions. Its death momentarily seemed imminent. The infant was well nourished, but there was marked bulging of the anterior fontanelle. The back was arched and froth came from the mouth. The evidences of the disease which threatened its life were pronounced, Dr. Fischer said, and the case was desperate.

Dr. Fischer introduced the serum into the ventricle, and the child showed renewed strength after each injection. The improvement was gradual, but pronounced after each treatment, and at the end of seven weeks its condition was normal. When taken to the hospital in the grip of the malady, the infant could discern no object before its eyes, but when the treatment was finished, the power of observation was marked. The appetite was all that could be desired, and the functions of the body were eminently satisfactory. physicians and subjected to critical examination. Dr. Flexner, who was present, was congratulated. In discussing Dr. Fischer's successful use of the serum, he said that while there were no record several instances of the tapping of the ventricles in the treatment of cerebro-spinal meningitis, he was happy to announce that this was the first case in which complete recovery followed.

NO DANGER IN OPERATION.

"The intra-ventricular operation," he said, "can be made without the slightest danger in the cases of infants, as Dr. Fischer has shown. That the recovery of this child was due to the serum injected into the ventricle cannot be doubted. That I may prove efficacious in other cases as well time perhaps will demonstrate."

The new treatment was the subject of favorable discussion by Drs. Chas. Gilmore Kerley, Godfrey R. Pisk, Alfred N. Strouse and others. Dr. Sara Welt-Kakels spoke of the danger of infection from contagious diseases by children at the various dispensaries, and urged that action be taken to force examination of children at dispensaries before they are allowed to mingle with others while awaiting treatment.

FRANK GOULD MAY HAVE MARRIED

New York, March 15.—Advices received here from Paris state that Frank Gould, the young millionaire, whose matrimonial and near-matrimonial affairs have been aired on several occasions in the courts, has married Miss Edith Kelly, the young English actress who made a hit here as the Pensacola Girl with the Havana Company about a year ago, and to whom Mr. Gould has always paid marked attention. It is stated that the pair were married some months ago in Paris, that they were entertaining on a lavish scale among their personal friends in the more Bohemian American set in the French capital, and that they have no immediate intention of returning to the United States.

The report is generally credited here, and is borne out to some extent by the fact that Mrs. Helen Kelly Gould, who last year obtained a divorce from the young millionaire, is asking the court to grant her the full custody of the children of their marriage. By the original decree the custody was divided.

Besides the complication arising from the matter of the custody of these children, the marriage, if it has really taken place, adds another snarl to the breach-of-promise action taken against Gould by Miss Bessie De Voie, the actress and dancer.

Gould's experience in love and marriage have been according to the highest traditions of his family in that line. After the usual amount of gossip connecting his name with those of different stage favorites, he was first married, in 1901 to Miss Helen Kelly, a member of a family which had been at daggers drawn with the Goulds for three generations. The inevitable Gould scandals soon appeared, and last year Mrs. Gould secured her freedom. In connection with the suit Mrs. Hen Teal was convicted of perjury and actually imprisoned, being later freed, however, when the conviction was reversed.

Then followed the Bessie DeVoie suit for breach of promise, a case which is still unsettled. Miss DeVoie was named in the divorce suit.

Meanwhile Gould has gone to Europe, travelling on the same boat with Miss Kelly, and seeing a good deal of her in London. Later they went to Paris and American residents speak of them as having wed and settled down to a long course of Parisian festivities.

While no formal announcement has been made of such a marriage, it is generally credited here. Before her departure last year Miss Kelly referred on several occasions to the fact that she and Mr. Gould were to be married.

JUST HANDS OUT A FORTUNE

Washington, March 14.—D. J. Telfair, who claims to have been put into a hypnotic trance by a stranger while occupying a park bench in the Washington monument grounds last Friday and robbed of $35,000 in cash has been sent from the Emergency Hospital to the psychopathic ward of the Washington Asylum for further examination.

Telfair told a great story. He said he had come to Washington to buy a 700-acre dairy farm near Seminary Station, Virginia.

"The price of the farm was to be $50,000," he said, "and A. B. Morse came here from Philadelphia and handed me $35,000 at the Hotel Hamilton last Friday."

It was too late to go to the bank, so he kept the money in his pocket. He went to the monument lot and sat down upon a bench. A dark stranger then appeared, and before Telfair knew it he had handed the man the $35,000.

The doctors at the Emergency Hospital believe that the man is under hypnotic influence. The police believe he is crazy.

GENERATING POWER AT NIAGARA FALLS

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 15.—Some of the recent contracts closed by the Canadian General Electric Company are with the Electrical Development Company of Ontario, who are duplicating their output at Niagara Falls, this order calling for three enormous generators of 15,000 horsepower each, which establishes a world's record for size of individual units. Another contract of equal importance has been closed with the Ontario Power Company, who are also largely increasing their output at Niagara Falls, and have placed their order for three generators of 12,500 horsepower each. Still another contract of record breaking magnitude has been closed with the Western Canada Power Company of Vancouver for two generators of 10,000 horsepower each, making a total of over 100,000 in these three contracts alone, in addition to about as much again made up of a multitude of smaller contracts.

All of this has been accomplished so quietly that one hardly realizes its tremendous importance, not only to the manufacturing company but to Canada as a whole. The addition of 200,000 horsepower to the output of producing electrical companies means that they must see ahead a market for the use of that amount of power, which in turn means that millions of dollars will be spent in new mills, factories and machinery, and additional employment given to thousands of workmen in our own country.

The lessons to be learned by those not directly interested in the company are as follows:

(1) That Canada stands unrivalled in the number and magnitude of her water powers.

(2) That the rapid growth of the Dominion in the population and enterprise has created an enormous demand for Hydro-electric power.

(3) That capital is being invested in vast sums in the development of Hydro-electric power undertakings.

(4) That the largest generators in the world today are being built by a Canadian company, which has the necessary enterprise and manufacturing facilities to take such foremost rank.

A MICHIGAN TOWN DISAPPEARS

Bad Axe, Mich., March 14.—Perhaps the only instance in Michigan where a good sized town has been completely wiped off the map within three decades is furnished by Huron County.

Thirty years ago Port Crescent, at the entrance of Saginaw Bay, was a thriving village of 1,100 population and the second largest town in the county. Today there is not a building or even a foundation wall to show where the prosperous little city stood. It formerly had sawmills, a salt block, two good hotels, a steamboat connection with Detroit, several large stores and many comfortable residences.

The salt supply gave out, the timber and lumber became exhausted, capitalists went elsewhere, labor followed and within a few years Port Crescent vanished. There was little good farming land in the immediate vicinity and nothing left to support business enterprises. The buildings were torn down and moved away, many of the better ones forming a part of the present village of Kinde, fifteen miles away.

MARYSVILLE TOPICS.

March 14.—There were the usual services in the churches yesterday, conducted by their respective clergymen. Rev. Mr. Cann, of the United Baptist church, administered the rite of baptism to two candidates, there was a large congregation present.

Mrs. Walter Millican and little son, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hatt, leave for their home in St. John on Wednesday, accompanied by Mrs. Hatt.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Merritt entertained twelve of their daughter Mary's school friends at dinner on Monday evening, the occasion being her fourteenth birthday. The dinner table was very prettily decorated. A handsome birthday cake with fourteen candles graced the centre.

Mrs. Merritt was assisted by Miss McConnell and Miss Merritt in waiting upon the guests. After dinner the young people indulged in games and music. Later in the evening light refreshments were served. The young hostess was the recipient of a number of birthday gifts. Following is a list of the invited guests: Misses Stella Clayton, Marion Fisher, Constance Fisher, Minnie Arnold, Edith Staples, Mary Blanchard, Doris McConnell, Geraldine Reed, Bessie Smith, Nellie Logan, Christine Chisholm, Frances Logan and Masters Frank and Sandy Merritt.
