

"Hawes" Von Gal Hats

THE
SHAPES FOR
AND SUMMER

The preferred shapes for the present season, still show the flat and medium-flat set brims. In soft hats the style differences are rather more in evidence. Of course good form and taste dictate the avoidance of extremes, in hats as in clothes. Individuality is of course desirable, and it is this attribute combined with Style, Quality, Superior Workmanship, Finish and Fit, that has placed HAWES, VON GAL HATS first in the favour of smartly dressed men.

SITUATION NOT ROSY ALTHOUGH STRIKE OFF

No work for Strikers until Vacancies arise—News that Strike was Off Caused Much Excitement.

Glace Bay, April 29.—Everything is quiet in town and the surrounding districts today. Groups of men are gathered around the central districts discussing the end of the strike.

One hundred and fifty strikers reported for work at the "Hub" mine today and were told there was no work for them now, nor wouldn't be for some time. Men are applying for work by hundreds at all the collieries and will be given employment as soon as places can be made for them.

International Organizer MacLennan stated today that the organization of men in Cape Breton would continue. Special attention is being directed to the Sydney steel workers.

THE SITUATION AT SPRINGHILL Springhill Mines, N. S., April 29.—The news that the strike in Glace Bay had been declared off was received here yesterday afternoon and caused considerable excitement, although many persons were disposed to treat it as a rumor until official messages were received.

At present it cannot be said to have affected the situation here. Everything is quiet and outside of the crowds who throng the streets for further news there apparently is nothing doing. A telegram was received last night that Joe Moss, who has been looking after the interest of the strike in Glace Bay, would be here tonight to make the miners here fully acquainted with the details and as a result the streets were crowded this evening waiting his arrival. However, further word was received to the effect he would be unable to reach here tonight. It is said that E. S. McCollough will arrive in town the first of the week and address the men.

An accident happened at the works of the Cumberland Railway & Coal Company this morning which cost N. P. Howard his left hand. Mr. Howard was managing the conveyer which carries the coal to the fire doors when by some means his hand came in contact with the machinery and was severed at the wrist. Mr. Howard was taken to the hospital.

THE TAXATION OF COLONIAL WHEAT

(Toronto Globe.)

The Canadian Courier says that Mr. Balfour never committed himself to a tax on colonial wheat, and that The Globe is in error in ascribing such views to him. The Courier evidently knows nothing of the election literature of the Conservatives in the recent British campaign. The following extract from page 228 of the "Speaker's Handbook," issued for campaign purposes by the Tariff Reform League and used almost exclusively by the Conservative speakers during the campaign, shows how unreservedly the party was pledged to the taxation of colonial as well as foreign foodstuffs:

"The duties proposed by the Agricultural Committee (of the Tariff Commission) are as follows:—Wheat, six pence per cwt., or about two shillings per quarter; barley, oats, rye, maize, duties equivalent to those on wheat; wheaten and other flour and meal, one shilling and three pence per cwt.; animals and meat, including bacon, general level of duties to be five per cent.; dairy produce, including poultry and eggs, market garden produce, including potatoes, and hops hay and straw, specific duties equivalent in general to from five per cent to ten per cent. ad valorem, though in particular cases some duties when calculated may be found to be lower and in others rather higher than these limits. Preference for colonial produce, is however, an important feature of the scheme, and accordingly it is proposed to place a duty of three pence per cwt. only, or about one shilling a quarter, on colonial wheat, with equivalent duties on colonial barley, oats, rye, maize, etc.

Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Balfour in view of revenue difficulties, accepted the basis outlined above, and the report of the commission was incorporated in the official election literature of the party. Mr. Balfour's lieutenants all over the country took the tax on colonial grain as an accepted part of their leader's policy, and in his York speech, after he had been specifically called on to deny that he proposed to tax colonial grain, Mr. Balfour failed to do so. There never was a party leader more strongly pledged to any fiscal change in an election campaign than Mr. Balfour was to the taxation of colonial grain. Mr. Percy Hurd of the Chamberlain Tariff Commission told The Globe's correspondent, speaking as the mouthpiece of the commission and knowing that he was talking for publication, that Mr. Chamberlain had agreed to the proposed tax on colonial grain, and that the only reason why Mr. Balfour, who had been consulted, did not refer to the specific rates of duty proposed in his public speeches was that the British custom was against any pledging of

"BACK TO THE FARM" SAYS SECRETARY WILSON

Advises New York Produce Exchange to Advocate Preservation of Utility of Soil.

James Wilson, secretary of the Department of Agriculture, addressed the New York Produce Exchange on the food-cost problem and its relation to the farm.

The Exchange had called a conference on this subject and invited the secretary, Congressmen and the heads of the various big railroads in the East. As an outcome of the discussion it was resolved to form a committee of fourteen, on which the railroads will be represented, to educate the farmers in the best methods of production and of inducing residents in cities to go "Back to the Farm."

In other resolutions adopted it was said:

FIXING THE BLAME.

Whereas, The increasing prices of food products are largely due to the unequal distribution of our population as between cities and farms and

Whereas, A most serious cause of the diminishing supply of foodstuffs in proportion to the increasing demand is the general lack of interest in agricultural pursuits and the scarcity of farm labor; and

Whereas desirable immigration in the persons of thrifty agriculturists would be a blessing to the State in helping to develop and increase its agricultural output, it is equally as desirable to encourage a movement of our own people from our cities and larger towns back to the farm and

Therefore be it resolved, That it is the sense of this association that some definite plan of action should be developed whereby existing facilities for bringing the people to the land and the land to the people may be utilized in the most effective manner, and every method, by legislative or administrative, tending to that end, assisting the farmer to a knowledge and practice of the methods best calculated to improve and conserve the soil and to market his products has our cordial approval and will receive our earnest co-operation.

SECRETARY WILSON'S VIEWS.

"We cannot afford to buy food from foreign countries," said Secretary Wilson. "We must see to it that our Western farms produce enough. It costs more to get anything done in our country than in most others. Production does not increase as fast as population. The farmer gets big prices now, but it costs him twice as much to grow things as it did before."

"Most of our people in the East are being fed from the Mississippi Valley. For the last half century the young people from the farms have been educated to leave them. Ignorance has permitted the soil to become unproductive, the highest intelligence is required to bring back fertility. Generally speaking, our farms are managed with too little capital, or the farm is too large for the means of the operator."

"The cheap food of the past has been one of the great advantages the manufacturer has had. He has it no longer. Neglect of the soil will soon impress itself on all classes. If the America we know today is to continue we must look to the soil and its power of production. Other nations prosper by commerce and manufacturing, but their working classes are not as comfortable as ours."

"Every State should organize to preserve the utility of its soil."

STOPPED GIRL AT BORDER

Port Huron, Mich., April 28.—When a girl giving the name of Bessie Mooretown, twenty-one years old, and claiming to be from Toronto, was detained by the immigration officers here she cried bitterly. "Why, I'm on my way to Detroit; I'm going to be married when I arrive there," she sobbed. The United States officers thought she had been deceived and in view of the fact that she was penniless she was given a ticket and sent back to her Toronto home.

public men to the details of a hypothetical Budget.

Finally the Courier may be able to explain satisfactorily the following summary from The Morning Post's comment sent by the Canadian Associated Press correspondent:

"The Morning Post, the organ of the advanced tariff reformers, determinedly disagrees with the Unionist leader's new policy, and hopes the agricultural members and candidates will stick to their guns in the matter of pledging themselves to fight when the time comes for fair play to home agriculture."

If the Conservative leader never favored the taxation of colonial wheat, why should The Morning Post a good Tory paper, regard a decision not to tax it as a "new" and unwelcome policy?
