Give your servants GOLD DUST to clean with, treat them rightly and you will have few occasions to insert a "help wanted" ad

They say a good workman is known by his tools. You cannot expect your maid to keep everything ship-shape unless you give her every modern help. To keep house without GOLD DUST is to do work by hard, old-fashioned methods. For cleaning everything and anything about the house—from cellar to attic—GOLD DUST is worth its weight in gold. It cuts grease and dirt like magic, does away with scouring and scrubbing, and saves time and tempers.

Your servant can do more and better work and keep sweet with the aid of GOLD DUST in all household cleaning.

EARL GREY'S TRIP TO THE NORTH COUNTRY

Reaches Norway House--The Indians Join in Giving Him a Hearty Welcome--The Party Leaves Norway House in Charge of Expert Indian Guides--Those Who are Accompanying His Excellency--The Mounted Police Escort.

Norway House, N. W. T., Aug. 24—His Excellency Earl Grey, accompanied by Lady Grey and Lady Evelyn Grey and maid, with a party of friends from Government House, Ottawa, arrived safely at Norway House last Saturday. They all seemed to be in the very best of cheer, and spoke warmly of their northern journey this far. Lady Grey and Lady Evelyn dropped the party here, and returned to Warren's Landing, there to embark on the steamer Wolverine en route for Selkirk and Winnipeg then to proceed to Banff in the Rockies, where they intend passing the remainder of the summer. They were escorted back by Capt. R. Bingham, A. D. C. Soon after the departure of the ladies his Excellency and friends left on their long journey to Hudson Bay and the frozen north.

MEMBERS OF THE PARTY

Earl Grey's party of voyagers include Mr. Geo. Grey, a nephew of his Excellency; Major G. F. Trotter, A. D. C.; Prof. R. W. Brock, Acting Director of the Geological Survey and a member of McGill medical faculty; Dr. John McCrae, Montreal; Prof. John McNaughton, Montreal; L. S. Amery of the editorial staff of The London Times; Major J. B. Mordie, R.N.W.M.P. Constables Hugh McDiarmid and W. Withers, R.N.W.M.P., W. F. Collins, R.N.W.M.P., and two servants.

It was indeed unfortunate that the weather was anything but pleasant when his Excellency arrived at Norway House. Elaborate arrangements had been made for the amusement of the party in the way of a "York" boat race, canoe races, games of cricket and lawn tennis, but the weather being unfavorable they were all off. The trip from Selkirk to Norway House occupied just two days which is considered a very quick run. At Warren's Landing, where the party disembarked from the Wolverine, the Hudson Bay Company's speedy gasoline launch, the "Nelson River," proudly floating the Union Jack, was in waiting to convey the Vice-Regal party down the Nelson River to Norway House. The twenty-two miles was made in record time against a stiff wind. A cold, drenching rain fell in torrents, wetting everyone to the skin, and making things very disagreeable and unpleasant.

INDIANS FIRED SALUTE

When his Excellency arrived the cheerful reception extended him from the natives in this little far-away colony was impressive, and one that will probably remain fresh for many years in the memory of their distinguished guest. As the launch was nearing the pier some fifty Indians, armed with shotguns and rifles, began firing a salute. This was previously arranged by C. D. Sinclair, the Hudson Bay Company's Manager at Norway House, who left nothing undone in the way of preparing a most cordial welcome for his guest. On every pier and for hundreds of yards along the banks of the river great crowds of Indians were gathered together, with their chiefs and councillors, closely scrutinizing every move that his Excellency made. Landed safely on the pier, the party was greeted with hearty handshakes, and at once proceeded toward the entrance of the old fort, which was profusely decorated with flags and bunting. Just as they were about to enter the fort his Excellency caught sight of a long strip of bunting over the archway displaying words inscribed in the Cree language. Turning to the Chief of the band he asked what these words meant in English, and the Chief answered: "Welcome from the people of the north." This token of respect, so appropriate and so well designed, deeply touched his Excellency, and he expressed his thanks for their kindness.

NORTHWARD STILL

Bright and early on Monday morning the party arose. His Excellency was the first to notice the weather clearing and the wind subsiding. He immediately despatched orders to the Northwest Mounted Police to load the canoes and remain in readiness for his embarkation at a moment's notice. At noon the party, in a fleet consisting of twelve canoes, handled by twenty-four picked Indian guides, supplied by the Hudson Bay Company, made a start. The advance escort of Northwest Mounted Police, in charge of Major Moodie, who are looking after the party's comfort, left nothing undone in the way of detail to make the trip an enjoyable one. They brought along a fine assortment of supplies, and whenever the party stops for lunch or "to boil the kettle," as the Indian would say, a tasty meal will be prepared by the cook. W. F. Collins, of the Mounted Police staff at Regina. There are eleven tents in all, including a specially made one for his Excellency, and whenever these are pitched for the night the police have strict orders to hoist the "Union Jack" immediately.

TO STAY A WHILE

His Excellency interviewed by your correspondent prior to the departure on his tour, was asked if it was his intention to remain in Canada over next winter in order to open and prorogue another session of Parliament. He said: "If I am spared you may say that I will both open and prorogue the next session of the Parliament of Canada, 1911-1912. This is the expressed wish of my superiors across the water, and although my year's extension of time as Governor General expires on September 26, yet I feel it my bounden duty to remain, not from an Imperial viewpoint alone, but out of respect to the Canadian people."

When asked if his northern trip was connected in any way with the construction of the Hudson Bay Railway, Earl Grey said: "None whatever. I am simply making this trip or the express purpose of disproving if possible, the widespread theory that this part of Canada is but a frozen north. My impressions of this country that I will gather throughout the trip will, I trust, enable me to give to the press and the people a fair idea of this vast and unexplored country."

Asked about the reports published to the effect that some Canadian newspapermen thought they were slighted on account of not being invited to accompany the party on their trip, his Excellency said: "In this matter I had nothing to say. The Mounted Police were responsible for all arrangements made, and were vested with full power to expend the Government's appropriation for the trip as best they saw fit and to the best advantage. I might say, in regard to Mr. L. S. Amery, formerly a member of the British parliament, and now connected with the editorial staff of The London Times, that he is alone with me purely as a personal friend and not in the capacity of a newspaper correspondent."

BAPTIST PREACHER ALSO LIQUOR SELLER

New York, Aug. 24.—The mystery surrounding the antecedents of James Irving O'Neill, the "Holy Roller" who died in Los Angeles, Cal., last Saturday was cleared on receipt of advices from Patterson, N. J., to the effect that he had long been a resident of that city where he had successively engaged in the occupation of liquor dealer and Baptist preacher. O'Neill disappeared from Patterson in 1908 in company with a woman known as Nellie Boyle and an eight year old girl named Alice Griffin. One of the doctrines preached by O'Neill was the starving of the body and this, it is believed, was the direct cause of his death. The woman and her daughter are now said to be in a serious condition in Los Angeles from voluntary starvation.
