They say a good workman is known by his tools. You cannot expect your maid to keep everything ship-shape unless you give her every modern help. To keep house without GOLD DUST is to do work by hard, old-fashioned methods. For cleaning everything and anything about the house—from cellar to attic—GOLD DUST is worth its weight in gold. It cuts grease and dirt like magic, does away with scouring and scrubbing, and saves time and tempers.

Your servant can do more and better work and keep sweet with the aid of GOLD DUST in all household cleaning.

THE HARVEST OUTLOOK FOR THE COMING SEASON

The Acreage Under Crop is Expanding Year by Year, Though there Still Remains a Tendency to Specialise on Wheat in the Western Provinces—The Only Blot in the Picture is the Problem of Labour to Harvest it.

(Toronto Globe)

Canada's harvest outlook is a theme of interested speculation from the time the soil is prepared until the returns are definitely assured. The rapid and substantial growth of our manufacturing industries, the extension of railway systems, and the frequent discovery of unsuspected stores of mineral wealth may have a more spectacular aspect, but the soil continues from year to year the great source of wealth. Statistics collected at Ottawa to the end of May last show a total area of 9,295,000 acres under wheat, an increase of 1,554,400 acres over last year's record. The three western provinces, according to the report of The Globe's special correspondent, have a wheat area of 8,376,345 acres, an increase over last year's total of 1,222,595 acres. These provinces now have the bulk of the wheat area, and for the present year have made close on four-fifths of the increase. This shows that the tendency to specialize on wheat still continues. The total areas under oats is estimated at 9,864,100 acres, a gain for the year of 561,500 acres, with an average condition materially improved. Ontario has 3,272,000 acres under oats, as compared with 3,142,200 last year; Quebec, 1,649,600 acres, as compared with 1,574,100 acres and Manitoba, 1,451,000, as compared with 1,390,000 acres, while Saskatchewan has increased her area under oats from 1,847,000 to 1,973,000 acres, and Alberta from 820,000 to 974,000 acres. Western returns of barley and flax have not been completed, but a careful estimate places the total area devoted to the four grain crops in the three provinces at 14,500,000 acres, as compared with 12,500,000 acres last year. Against these records of growth there are slight decreases for the whole Dominion in the total area respectively under barley, rye, peas, and mixed grains.

The area of all field crops in Canada as now reported is estimated at 30,554,200 acres, an increase of 2,359,000 acres as compared with last year and 4,951,050 more than the total for 1908. The special interest centering in western crop areas and conditions emphasizes the dependence of the prairie country on the yield of grain. The expected total of 14,500,000 acres under crop in the West does not accurately represent the proportion of agricultural production, for the eastern provinces have learned to appreciate the greater advantages of mixed farming. Everything does not depend on grain crop conditions in the east, for the returns from animals and their products bulk much more largely in the aggregates. The salient features of all available reports is that the summer opens with a bright outlook and with every indication of a good harvest.

THE ST. ANDREW'S BEACON ON THE MEMBERS FOR CHARLOTTE COUNTY

The Allegations Against these Members May be Applied with Equal Truth to the Government Members for Other Counties.

The editor of the Courier is an ingenious, if not always an ingenious politician. Having stood on his head and read The Beacon of June 9, backward he has evolved a marvelous editorial, the purport of which is that the Federal member for the county has done nothing for the constituency since he was elected, that it was all done by the previous member, etc. etc. The reading public of Charlotte County are a fairly intelligent class of people and are to be deceived by such an ingenious manipulation of language as the Courier editor has imposed upon them. It must amuse them, however, to reach such a disquisition from the pen of one of the most useless representatives that Charlotte has ever had. With three others, Mr. Clarke was elected he has carried out. He promised to ed upon pledges scarcely one of which give the people of Charlotte County good roads. Never were the roads of the County worse than they are at present. He promised to place the control of the roads in the hands of the municipal council. This promise has not been fulfilled. He promised that a progressive agricultural policy would be provided. This policy has not yet been found. He promised assistance in the development of at least one ocean port. Not only has he failed in this promise, but he is now endeavoring to thrust upon the federal government the responsibility of maintaining wharves belonging to the provincial government. He promised that the government of the province would be run on economical lines but one of the first acts of the new government was to vote several of its members an increase of salary. He promised that all contracts would be put up to public tender, yet there have been most flagrant violations of this rule. He promised—but why go over all the broken pledges that lie at the door of our useless local representative and the government he champions! It is enough to say that no county has ever been so thoroughly neglected as this county has been since Mr. Clarke and his associates were elected to the legislature. They have looked after themselves admirably at least two of them have—but the interests of the people have been shamefully neglected. Wharves that were built by their predecessors have been allowed to become ruins; they have developed no ports, they have done nothing for the protection of the clam beds or for the furtherance of other fishery interests; they have not improved rural conditions in the least; they tried to deprive the island of Grand Manan of a portion of its steamer subsidy and only restored it when they were compelled to; they haven't a dollar to expend in rural town roads,—in fact, their whole record has been one of neglect, incompetency, procrastination and broken pledges. It is painful to us to have to disclose the shortcomings of our county representatives in this way, but Mr. Clarke has invited it by his newspaper criticism of our federal member. People who live in glass houses should not throw stones at their neighbor's windows.

LIFE ON A CANADIAN FARM

Gertrude Lloyd-Jones contributes to The National Review for June a very sensible, practical and readable article about life "On a Canadian Farm." She begins by telling who she is:

My father was a well known clergyman and Magistrate in Bedfordshire. I lived in a country village for thirty-seven years, and know how farmers work there, and also how boys live at public schools and colleges. My husband was born in Canada, and has lived all his life on a farm, and on our marriage we came to live here in Ontario. We are in an old settled part, sixty miles from Toronto, and not in the "backwoods." Our farm is 170 acres, and we keep one regular hired man, and hire extra hands at busy times, my husband taking his part in the work. At home a farmer in his social position would only oversee the men, he does practical, hard work, ploughing, sowing, reaping, shepherding, milking, etc.; also going to the woods, felling and hauling home the supply of lumber and firewood. He understands feeding and fitting stock for show and sale, breaking and training horses, and is a noted sheep importer, breeder, and exhibitor, in fact a thorough master of his profession.

Until I became a farmer's wife, I had no idea of the many things to be learnt in farming. Rotation of crops, or if one falls through some drawback of the season, what to do in the way of resowing the field or fields to cover loss; quantity of seed of different kinds to be sown to the acre, this again to be governed by soil and season; number of pounds of different produce that should go to the bushel; value of grain, hay, straw, etc., proper feed for all kinds of stock, if working, resting, fattening or breeding. Keen observation as to stock thriving, and how to get them to do so, cost of feed for stock, price it should be sold at, and one hundred and one items not thought by the layman.

We have had young men here "to learn farming" who come for their own convenience, whom I could not be bothered with. They sit up late at night and then cannot get up in the morning, and I've had to be up at 5.30 myself, earlier than necessary for my work, just to get them up, and then they have got up grumbling. I know my readers would not believe it possible for a "greenhorn" to be such a greenhorn, and so useless and stupid.

In talking the matter over with Canadians, I try to impress them with the fact how entirely differently the English boy has been brought up, and how many are sent out just because they have failed at home. The average Canadian sticks to his farm, and sees nothing of the life beyond it, and cannot realize the tremendous difference in the bringing up of his own boys and the ones from home; and often the failure is the only kind he sees, and thinks all are the same and naturally says: "Stupid English,"

But Lived on Poplar Leaves and Such Stuff
—Weak, but Mentally Bright as Ever—
Searchers Guided by Bark Fragments

Wabigoon, June 22.—Captain Walker Roland, the 83-year-old mining engineer who strayed from a prospecting party one month ago in the Lake Manitou gold district has been found. Several experienced private and Government search parties had given up hope of finding the aged captain alive, but after subsisting on poplar leaves, etc., and water for 31 days, the marvellously strong will and constitution of the captain conquered, and he is today alive and, except being physically weak, is apparently none the worse. Attracted by birch bark parchment scattered profusely by the captain, a Dominion Government geological survey party, found him crawling on his hands and knees about one mile from the trial from which he strayed. Your correspondent had a short interview with Captain Roland on private business matters, and was favorably impressed with the keen unimpaired mind which one might not have been surprised to see affected. Captain Roland leaves for his home in Port Arthur on Tuesday afternoon.

and we are all too busy to be bothered with such, and too poor to keep any one who cannot even earn their board, which costs one hundred dollars (twenty pounds) a year.

STEAMER ASHORE IN THE GULF

The Vessel is Full of Water, and Her Twenty Passengers were Transferred to the Allan Liner Sicilian, which was Near at Hand.

Montreal, June 21.—A report today from the Gulf says that the steamer Prinz Oskar, of the Canada Line, bound to Hamburg, went ashore at a lower ridge near Dorraine Island. The twenty passengers were transferred to the Allan Liner Sicilian, which was near at hand. The stranded vessel is full of water.

Peter Lyall and Sons signed a contract today for the construction of the largest office building in the Dominion, which is to be placed on the Seminary property and bounded by St. James, Notre Dame and St. Francois Xavier, costing one million dollars.

MORE BODIES RECOVERED.

Three more bodies were recovered from the ruins of the Herald building this afternoon, making the total called for by the list of the missing. Those taken out today were identified as those of Reuben Morrison, John Wade and Gustave Lippe. Morrison, who had entered the office looking for employment in the stereotyping department on the fourth floor, was found sitting in a chair with his umbrella still clasped in his hand. But one body remains unidentified. It should be that of John Cunningham, but his relatives say that it is not, and the only explanation is that some other body has been wrongly identified or that there is still another body in the ruins. This the foreman of the contractors considers probable from the stretch arising from the portions of the ruins yet unexplored. If this is the case it will increase the number of dead from thirty-two, the number of names on the official list of dead and missing.

IMPROVEMENTS IN ST. LAWRENCE.

The annual report of the Harbor Commissioners for 1909 was issued today. Last year marked a hundred years of steam navigation on the St. Lawrence, the old Accommodation making its first trip from Montreal to Quebec on November 3, 1809. The revenue of $686,771 and disbursements chargeable against revenue $655,711. The expenditure on capital account was $478,571. The ocean vessels were 371, with a tonnage of 1,436,963, and the inland vessels 10,991, with a tonnage of 3,146,494.

ROOSEVELT INVITES HUGHES TO CONFERENCE

New York, June 22.—Theodore Roosevelt has asked Governor Hughes to visit him at Sagamore Hill, in the future, for a conference.

The news came out this afternoon during a brief supplementary statement Mr. Roosevelt chose to add to his denial this morning of a printed report that he is to come out in opposition to the governor's policy of direct primaries.

Mr. Roosevelt did not say he had received the governor's acceptance and he refused to give any hint of what subjects he expected to come up in conference.

But taken as part of a conversation which had to do with direct primaries, the mere announcement aroused the keenest speculation.

Tonight Col. Roosevelt was the guest of Robert Collier at a private dinner at Sherry's. No list of guests was given out and no reporters were admitted. He will remain in New York tonight and be at his desk tomorrow morning, returning to Oyster Bay late in the afternoon.

A MAN can spend so many hours wishing he was rich that he has no minutes to spare on trying to get over being poor.

port, points out the improvements in the channel in these words:

"There has been in the St. Lawrence ship channel for the first half of our season of navigation a depth at low water of 36 feet, which would permit the Mauretania navigating the channel to Montreal. From August to November the depth varied from 32 feet 3 inches to 30 feet 2½ inches."

The report says in regard to further improvements that the aim is "not only to retain Canadian trade for Canadian seaports, but to offer a competitive trade route available for a large portion of the imports and exports of the Western States."

The revenue of $686,771 and disbursements chargeable against revenue $655,711. The expenditure on capital account was $478,571. The ocean vessels were 371, with a tonnage of 1,436,963, and the inland vessels 10,991, with a tonnage of 3,146,494.
