JESSIE MACLACHLAN

DELIGHTED A LARGE
AUDIENCE LAST NIGHT

The City Opera House was crowded last evening by a most appreciative audience, which was eager to hear Miss Jessie MacLachlan, the Scottish prima donna, who has been heard in Fredericton on previous occasions, but who was received last night as warmly as ever.

Scottish music has its peculiar charm, but its interpretation is a gift which few possess. Jessie MacLachlan possesses this gift in a remarkable degree, having the power to make the audience feel themselves partakers in the scene described by the words of the song. Much more could be said about Miss MacLachlan's ability, and certainly nothing finer than the song interpretation given by her last night has ever been heard in this city. Mr. Craigball Sherry kept the audience in roars of laughter in his humorous selections. As an entertainer, he has few equals. His characterization of "The Deputation" was particularly good, and elicited round after round of applause. As a pianist and accompanist, Mr. Robert Buchanan proved himself an artist of rare ability.
