Abysmal Brutishness Will Win the Great Battle at Reno, Says Jack London

Famous Novelist Compares the Two Fighters—Declares the One With Ability to Hit and Keep on Hitting Is Bound to Conquer—Finds Parallel in Britt-Nelson Bout.

CONDITION OF FIGHTERS BY JACK LONDON.

(Copyright, 1910, in Canada by the Standard and Photo Engraving Company.) (Copyright, 1910, in the United States by the New York Herald Company. All Rights Reserved.)

RENO, Nev., June 26.—In considering the relative merits of the two big men who are to try conclusions a week from tomorrow it must be remembered that neither man has ever been really extended, and that neither man has ever been compelled to endure to the uttermost. Barring a lucky punch in the opening rounds endurance will play a large part in determining which man is the better. And by endurance is meant the capacity not only to assimilate punishment but the capacity to administer punishment and to keep on administering more and more punishment.

This question of endurance is worthy of analysis. Men are made differently. Some have but a slight life-grip in their bodies and muscles. Others are apparently impossible to kill. One man can walk seventy-five miles in a day and walk a second seventy-five the next day. Another man will collapse at the end of a twenty mile jaunt and be a lame and groaning wreck for a week to come. Yet both these men will be organically sound, of the same size and weight, and their chance of passing a life insurance examination would be equal.

Then what makes the difference? In the fibres of the one reside a primitive vigor and capacity for exertion that the other lacks. Their muscles may look alike, may be of the same size and tensile, yet the protoplasmic, energy-generating quality is different.

The Quality of Muscle.

Take a professional weight lifter. He may tip the scales at 100 pounds. He can elevate a 200-pound dumbbell with one hand. Another man, tipping the scales at the same mark, cannot elevate 100 pounds. He is as sound and healthy as the other man, yet he cannot do it. He may faithfully train and exercise for five years, or ten, and yet he will be unable to elevate 200 pounds with one hand. Nor has will anything to do with it. He may have ten times more will power than the other, but will power can't lift the 200 pounds for him. He lacks in the quality of his muscle, that is all.

This protoplasmic vigor may be our brute heritage, but whatever it is, it is a good thing to have whether one is a prize fighter or not. It was in describing the fight at Colma with Jimmy Britt that I pointed out the possession of this muscular quality by Battling Nelson. I called him an abysmal brute, and he never forgave me. Yet I meant it as a compliment.

Of two boxers equal to look upon in every way, equally well trained, with equal organs, equal gameness and equal will power, one will reach his limit in five or ten rounds, the other, fighting just as severely, will be able to last thirty or forty rounds, or even fifty. It was this peculiar quality that Battling Nelson possessed to such an extreme degree. Jimmy Britt did not possess it. He could outspar and out-punch Nelson, but he could not keep on sparring and punching as long as Nelson could. At the Colma fight he was not knocked out by Nelson. He was merely exhausted. He had reached his limit. He could not move any more. He lost the fight because he knocked himself out by his own exertions.

No "Line" on the Big Fellows.

Corbett lacked this abysmal brutishness to a considerable degree. Chynski had far more of it. So did Sharkey and Fitzsimmons. But when it comes to Jeffries and Johnson there is no line on them at all. They have never been called upon to demonstrate it. Neither knows that he possesses it. Neither has ever engaged in a long, hard, gruelling fight, round after round, striking and being struck, consuming energy at an enormous rate and still going on fighting furiously, on and on, endlessly.

Of the two men Jeffries has thought more about himself, studied himself more, and he has hinted that he believes he possesses it. He has called it reserve power—a sort of second wind that does not depend on the lungs, but that resides in the muscles themselves. But seeing and believing are different, and he has yet to show it to the world. Nevertheless I venture a shrewd guess that he has it. Also, he may be called upon to show it on July 4.

Nor does the world know that Johnson possesses this abysmal brutishness or lacks it. Johnson does not know himself. He has never had a chance to find out. And in this connection it is not a question of "yellow streak" or will power. No matter to what superlative degree Johnson possesses this protoplasmic vigor it will go for naught if he proves yellow. On the other hand, he has never shown any hints of the yellowness, and, it must be added, he has never been in a fight that forced a test of this particular quality.

Jeffries the More Tense.

There is one quality in which Johnson has the advantage over Jeffries and that is in relaxation. Jeffries, while cool and keen, is always more tense. The tensing of muscle consumes energy. Boxing calls for the use of all the muscles in the body, and five minutes' unnecessary tension of all these muscles out of thirty minutes of fighting means a serious consumption of energy.

This is one of Johnson's great assets. He has the art of relaxing perfectly. His fiercest rallies are always followed by intervals of repose. In a clinch, except when he is punishing, he invariably rests. It is because of this relaxing so continually that he is notorious with the sporting public as a loafing fighter. And he seems to relax in mind as well as in body. He seems to stop thinking and perceiving even, and in a clinch he goes into a sort of resting trance. His very flat footed way of fighting takes off from the tension of the legs. It is far less tiring to shuffle about flat footed than to spring and poise with the muscles tensed from the hips down.

One thing is certain. A week from today Johnson will be compelled to put up the fight of his life. He has never in his career faced so formidable an antagonist. With Jeffries it remains to be seen whether Johnson can make him put up the fight of his life.

THE RACING TODAY PROMISES TO BE MORE THAN CLASSY

Opening of the Maritime Circuits This Afternoon Should Furnish Some Exciting Sport—No Heavy Odds on Any Horse—Several Look Like Winners.

If the some-time bright skies of June withhold their moisture, the race-track followers will see lots of interesting sport this afternoon. The Maritime Circuit meeting today is the official opening of the racing season in the Maritime Provinces. Mr. A. H. Merritt, of Danvers, Mass., is here to do the starting and the first race will commence at 2 o'clock. Judging from the bunch of winners which the Maritime horsemen have brought to the city, it looks as if the judges will have some pretty fine work on their hands.

A field of six horses will start in the first race—the 2.21 pace and 2.18 trot. Frank Boutillier will have two horses in the race, Peter Carroll will ride behind Orphan Girl and Mr. Boutillier himself will handle the ribbons over Tattam. Alice A. will do her best with Clair Wolverson in the sulky. There is only one Fredericton horse in the first race—Belle Gould, from McCoy Bros. stables.

In the 2.30 pace—the second race of the day—McCoy Bros. have entered Mazie. Another local steed which is entered to start in this race is J. S. Allen's Bessie Pardonner, a speedy bay mare by Pardonner. Daisy B., owned by Ald. H. C. Jewett, is also billed for the 2.30 pace. Charlie Dustin will drive Idle Moments, and Wilmot Gerow will guide Thomas T. around the oval for the first time in public.

The real classy racing of the meet will take place tomorrow, Dominion Day, when the 2.18 pace and 2.15 trot, the 2.25 pace and 2.22 trot, and the 2.30 trot will be pulled off. There will doubtless be some very close racing, with so many neck and neck horses in the field. The outside enthusiasts are favoring Frank Paith, Mary Cromwell and Muster Hill. No meet has ever been held without some surprises in the results and it is not at all unlikely that there will be some today.

HOMER OF HALIFAX

BROKE ALL RECORDS

New York, June 29.—Hans Homer, the "West Farms Express," from Halifax, Canada, broke all records for ten miles on Monday, at Celtic Park, where he is training for the fifteen mile championship race at the historic track on Saturday, under the auspices of the Twentieth Century Club. He negotiated the distance in 55.26. This is the fastest time ever made by a runner not in competition, and it is more than probable that Holmer would have smashed W. G. George's world's record had there been any one to force him.

Following is the time in which Holmer did each mile: One mile, 5:18 4-5; two miles, 10:44; three miles, 16:07 4-5; four miles, 21:38 1-5; five miles, 27:10 3-5; six miles, 32:46 2-5; seven miles, 38:26; eight miles, 44:02 3-5; 44:03 3-5; nine miles, 40:40 2-5; ten miles, 55:26.

TWO MORE GAME WON BY CARLETON COUNTY BALL TEAM

Fort Fairfield Loses Twice to the Speedy Woodstock Nine—Big League Pitcher Opposed the Provincial Twirler.

Woodstock, June 29.—The town team added two more victories to their credit against the Fort Fairfield nine, on Connell park today. It shut out the visiting team in the afternoon game and tallied ten times themselves and won the evening game by a score of 9 to 1.

James Long and Claud McLean umpired. Batteries in the afternoon—Woodstock, Milmore and Peasley; Fort Fairfield, Hacker and Johnston. Evening—Woodstock, Faulkner and Dow; Fort Fairfield, Hacker and Gooding.

Peasley had an opponent Eke Johnston who has pitched for some years in big league teams, and is now coach for Ricker classical institute, Houlton, and who thoroughly understands every point of the game, but the work of the local man was more effective, owing to the fact that he had a stronger team back of him.

Fort Fairfield played better ball in the evening than it did in the afternoon, but the team was outclassed. Dow, the locals' young twirler, pitched in the evening game and the junior catcher, Faulkner, was behind the bat.

It is now stated that there will be no race meeting at Dufrin Park until September. The Listowel races on Thursday and Friday of this week have filled well. For Thursday there are three races, the 2.50 pace, the 2.15 pace, and the farmers' trot and pace. On Dominion Day four races are on the card, the 2.30 trot, the 2.25 pace and 2.19 trot, the free-for-all, and another local race. Many horsemen are represented. A carload of horses are being sent up by leading Toronto horsemen.

GARDNER'S TRIPLE DEFEATS ATHLETICS AFTER 15 INNINGS

Another Victory for the Red Sox After 15 Innings—White Sox Goes Down to Detroit—Newark Beats Toronto

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Philadelphia, June 29.—Boston defeated Philadelphia in a 15 inning game here today, 6 to 4. With two men on the bases in the closing inning, Gardner tripled and came home on Lewis' single. Score by innings: Boston ... 001000100000103—6 10 3 Phil. ... 000000002000101—4 13 3 Batteries—Collins, Hall and Kleinow; Morgan, Krause, and Donahue, Thomas. Time, 2:32. Umpire, O'Loughlin.

At Washington: Washington ... 010000000—1 5 2 New York ... 100001000—2 9 1 Batteries—Gray and Street; Warhop and Mitchell. Time, 2 hours. Umpires, Perrine and Egan.

At Detroit: Chicago ... 000000000—0 5 2 Detroit ... 000000002x—2 5 1 Batteries—Scott and Payne; Donovan and Stange. Time, 1:50. Umpire, Dineen and Connolly.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Boston, June 19.—Brooklyn defeated Boston, 7 to 5, in a poorly played game today. Mattern lacked effectiveness and was wild. Bell was hit rather freely early in the contest, but tightened up afterward when men were on bases. Wild throws by H. Smith, in efforts to get men stealing second, gave Brooklyn two runs. Score by innings: Boston ... 112000010—5 10 5 Brooklyn ... 030100012—7 10 2 Batteries—Mattern, Ferguson and H. Smith; Bell and Bergen, Erwin.

Time, 2:05. Umpires, O'Day and Brennan. At Pittsburgh: Pittsburgh ... 000110000—2 9 4 Cincinnati ... 020120001—6 8 2 Batteries—Lever, Powell and Gibson; Gaspar and Clarke.

Time, 1:45. Umpires, Moran and Johnstone. At St. Louis: St. Louis ... 000000020x—2 11 2 Chicago ... 0000000100—1 4 3 Batteries—Sallee and Bresnahan; McIntyre and Kling.

Time, 1:45. Umpires, Rigler and Emshie. At New York: Philadelphia ... 0000000020—2 9 0 New York ... 00000101000—3 8 1 Batteries—Shettler, Stark, Mahoney and Moran; Mathewson and Myers.

Time, 1:50. Umpires, Klem and Kane. EASTERN LEAGUE.

BASEBALL NOTES

The Yankees have purchased Pitcher Bob Revell from Richmond, of the Virginia League. Revell was drafted from Richmond the time Jack Quinn was secured. He was turned back to Richmond a year ago last Spring and subsequently released. Revell has won nearly all his games for Richmond this season.

Cleveland defeated the White Sox 7 to 2 in Chicago on Monday last. The game was the last that will ever be played at the old South Side Park, the present home of Duffy's club. On Friday Charlie Comiskey will open his new plant, which has been declared the finest of modern baseball history. The Browns get the opening day plum.
