NEWFOUNDLAND HAS NOTHING TO GAIN BY JOINING WITH CANADA

So Says its Premier, Who is Seeking Better Steamship Facilities for Newfoundland to England.

Quebec, Aug. 25—Sir Edward Morris, Premier of Newfoundland who returned from The Hague by the 'Royal George' yesterday spent the day in this city.

Seen at the Chateau Frontenac this morning by a 'Witness' representative, Sir Edward said that he had come here to meet steamship representatives with a view to securing better steam facilities between Newfoundland and England. He pointed out that it actually takes eight or nine days to reach Newfoundland from England, while if passengers were landed as the steamers pass Newfoundland, the trip could be accomplished in four days or half the time. Sir Edward was loud in his praise of the service given on board the 'Royal George' 'Nothing' he said 'could surpass the accommodation and attention given to the wants and comforts of the passengers.'

Questioned in connection with Confederation between Canada and Newfoundland, Sir Edward said: 'We never hear of confederation in Newfoundland except on the eve of a general election when it is trotted out for the purpose of throwing dust in the eyes of the voters, to mislead him and draw his attention off the real issue of the election.'

'I have never been able to see,' said Sir Edward 'what possible advantage could be gained through a union with Canada. We never could possibly share the great civic advantages and the material prosperity of great Dominion or of the great public services so splendidly maintained here, as we would be too remote from the central government and while we would contribute our per capita share to the cost of railways, telegraph services, agriculture, mail facilities, fishing bounties, roads and bridges, marine and naval works, we could never hope to participate to the same degree as those portions of the Dominion situated on the mainland.'

FLOUR CHEAPER IN BOSTON THAN IN FREDERICTON

Boston, Aug. 25—Nothing has taken place in the flour situation for some time that has caused so much excitement and comment as the very low price made by a spring wheat miller within a few days. For patent flour in sacks $5.25 per barrel has been quoted, and a large amount of business has been booked, orders coming from all parts of New England. It is estimated that in the neighborhood of 200 carloads have been contracted. Few millers are prepared to meet this price for standard first patent, and most quotations are much higher. Before this development it was thought that $5.50 was a low price and several producers quoted up to $6 per barrel for flour in wood packages. The market, as far as spring wheat flour is concerned, is demoralized, and many authorities believe that the flour sold at $5.25 is to be made from Kansas wheat as in the present position of the wheat market it is unlikely that the miller would sell short.

There is steady inquiry for winter wheat flour and a fair amount of orders are being booked by millers' agents for both the hard and soft variety. The opinion is quite general that winter wheat flour is trailing along close to the bottom and that current prices are much under what will prove to be the average price of the crop year. The reason for this is because present prices are based upon cost of wheat at the most favorable time millers ever accumulated supplies, whereas later in the season many of them will be compelled to draw from central markets.

Quite a good deal of Kansas hard wheat patent is still being called for, and business is fairly brisk and well distributed. Good flour is being offered at prices in the range of $4.90 to $5.50 in sacks, including standard and fancy brands. There is also quite a little movement in soft winter wheat grade at prices slightly lower than those which prevailed a week ago. There are offerings of patent at $4.90, but few mills quote less than $5, and choice brands are held at $5.20 and $5.25 in several instances. Straights and clears are quoted in the range of $4.50 and $4.90, pastry flour selling at $4.50 to $4.80 per barrel.

If your eyebrows are scanty a drop of olive oil, or a little lanoline, should be rubbed in at night, and in the morning they should be freely bathed in cold water. Brush them daily with a small eyebrow brush, and this practice, if persisted in, will train them symmetrically, but they must never be brushed or rubbed the wrong way.

DR. WM. SAUNDERS HAS DONE MUCH TO AID AGRICULTURE

Director of Experimental Farms Has Spent the Last Twenty-Three Years Laboring Untiringly For the Prosperity of the Farmers of the Dominion--Many Fruits and Grains Have Been Imported.

Canada's system of experimental farms is one of the most interesting and perhaps the most original feature of the Dominion Government. To the experimental farm, without doubt, more than to any other factor is due the splendid development of the northwest Dominion today. Through 23 years, Dr. William Saunders, the head of the system, has worked untiringly and the results have been great. His first connection with the service was in 1885, when he was a business man having a hobby of horticulture. At that time he was sent abroad to study agricultural work in other nations and upon his return he was made director of five experimental farms about to be organized. Since then, under his guidance, the work has progressed by leaps and bounds. The potential yield of every acre of Canadian farmland has been increased; fruit has been successfully raised on the north plains, and besides this, there has been established a great educational Extension service for the training of the young Canadian farmer.

The keystone of this experimental farm system in Canada is the so-called central farm, near Ottawa. The first branch farm was established between New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, and this was followed by a farm at Brandon, for Manitoba. Then came a branch for the Northwest Territories, which was placed at Indian Head, and others have been established since.

These experimental farms have been of great value to Canada, enabling her to take an inventory of her agricultural resources and to know the possibilities of her land. She has demonstrated that many grains and fruits not indigenous to her broad prairies can be grown upon them and in this way has distributed an immense amount of useful information among her agriculturists which has added immeasurably to the wealth of the country.

PREMIER OF ONTARIO SAYS BRITAIN MUST KEEP CANADA IN FOLD

Declares if Mother Country Pursues Present Policy Ties Which Bind the Dominion to Her Will be Loosened.

London, Aug. 26—Premier Whitney of Ontario, interviewed by the Standard, said in regard to imperial preference: 'We want something done and something has got to be done or the empire will be but a recollection. Conditions surrounding the British empire today are very different from those which existed thirty years ago. If nothing is done during the next ten years something serious will happen.'

'The dominion is practically independent now. The United States government recently did what they never have done before. They came to Ottawa and requested reciprocity. We make our own treaties, so can you ask what will happen. The British people have set up a golden calf to worship and they worship it, forbidding anybody discuss its omnipotence or its right to be worshipped. 'If Britain goes on with this policy the ties which bind the dominion to her will be loosened. We want a remedy. If protection is a remedy, then let us have it. We do not care what we have so long as we are fairly treated. Give us this and the ends that are so strong now will become every stronger.'

Colin Campbell says the idea of a free trade party in Canada is the invention of the alleged free trade league and is practically a myth.

The Chronicle says Premier Whitney's statement is wholly inconsistent with the utterances of other Canadian statesmen and does gross wrong to the Canadian sentiment and loyalty to the empire.

The Telegraph says imperial alike in its immediate significance and its widespread influence the arrival of Canada's crack regiment ought to profoundly stir the imagination of two continents. 'We feel like the honor and importance of an occasion like this and are proud to welcome Col. Pellatt and his gallant men as representatives of the well tried loyalty and unflinching devotion of Canada.'
