LOYALTY AND SELF-INTEREST

It would delight the hearts of lots of city people if the beautiful stories told in some mail order catalogues were true; that is, if they could obtain the wonderful prices we people in the smaller places are supposed to get, and at the same time get style and quality. The mail order houses would not need to spend money on catalogues or advertising. They could sell the goods right at home.

Did it ever occur to you that with style and quality lacking, it would not be wise for these firms to show the catalogued goods in the city? Their customers would have an opportunity to examine before purchasing. Is it not possible that some of the low-priced goods have been offered to city buyers—that they have been weighed in the balance and found wanting; but that a cleverly-worded description and possibly an enticing picture may be expected to get rid of these otherwise unsaleable goods to out-of-town buyers?

We do not mean to insinuate that it is impossible to get good merchandise from mail order houses. That would not be true. But we do say that the better grades will cost you just as much and sometimes more than the same quality would cost you right here in Fredericton.

Suppose, for the sake of argument, that notwithstanding city expenses, taxes, rents, etc., the mail order house could sell as cheaply as your local merchant? Even in that case would it not be better to buy here, where you can see the goods, know exactly what you are getting, and pay after, instead of before you see them? If you take an article to your home after purchasing it from a merchant in Fredericton, and find that it is not the exact shade, or shape or size you desired, it is very easy to return and exchange it for something suitable. If it comes by mail you would probably prefer to put up with some imperfection rather than go to the trouble of repacking and expressing, and then waiting for days until it goes through the dismal round of red tapism in the mail order house, through claims departments and checking departments, perhaps necessitating considerable correspondence, in addition to the certainty of additional mail and express charges.

Have you ever considered how many times you have used your local merchant as an accommodation? How often he has extended credit to you or has helped you to obtain perfect satisfaction? He helps to make your property valuable, to support the bazaars and missions, and generally contributes to social events. Are these things not worth anything? Is it not true that unless there is a very decided advantage in dealing away from home, it is your duty to spend your money in Fredericton?

We certainly believe that we have shown not only that there is no advantage in dealing away from home, but that there are many disadvantages. We, therefore, ask you to be fair to the town as well as to yourself. Co-operate with the other good people in Fredericton in making this a better place to live and do business in. Be loyal to Fredericton. Buy at home.

Edmonton Bulletin:—Whatever else the Premier's trip has accomplished, it has brought the advocates of high tariff promptly into the lists wearing their rightful colors and championing the cause of the old-time allies as valiantly as ever. The low tariff pennant no longer flutters from their lances. While there was no prospect of a straight challenge on the tariff question it was well enough to court the favor of the consumer by occasionally showing his colors on the field. But when the proposal to reduce the tariff was put before the country as something to be done, and done in the near future, this flirting became more dangerous than profitable. To continue it was to risk the allegiance of the industrial and commercial interests, whose champion the party has always been and without whose help it has no chance of success.

It is pleasing to note that the City Council has decided to grant the prayer of the petition of residents of Government Lane and extend the water works to Bailey's Bridge. In adopting this course the council has shown a progressive spirit and its action cannot fail to meet with the cordial approval of all citizens who have the welfare of the city at heart. The proposed extension may not be a great revenue producer, at the outset, but the day will surely come when it will be. Had the City Council of ten years ago extended the water system on Government Lane, Fredericton would in all probability have retained a very important industry which has since been lost to the community. There is no reason why the council should not seriously consider the advisability of also extending the water works to the Victoria Mill in the near future.

Springfield Republican—Officials of the Government forest service in Washington estimate that six billion board feet of lumber, valued at about $15,000,000, were destroyed in the recent forest fires which swept the national forests in Montana and Northern Idaho. It is believed that the season's fires either burned up or killed between one and two per cent. of the total stand of national forest timber. It is further stated that, at the present rate of cutting from the equal to twelve years' supply, but it national forests, 6,000,000,000 feet is less than one-sixth of a single year's cut in the entire country, or enough to keep all lumber mills busy for something less than two months.

Edmonton Journal:—Every move that Crippen has made since the night of the murder, every meal he ate, every place he slept and every hour of his waking days were known to the police before the case went to trial, until even Crippen himself could not have added an item to the details. The story shows, as probably it has never been shown before, that in this day of enlightenment modern methods of communication and transmission of intelligence have made it practically impossible for any man to hide himself away or disappear so completely as to defy search.

Oppositionists are getting ready to tumble easy. They are solemnly asserting that the normal Liberal majority in Drummond and Arthabaska is 2,500. The truth is that the majority has never reached those figures. Twice only since Confederation has it exceeded 1,000, and during that period it has been as small as 24, while on one occasion Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself was defeated. The majority at the last election was 834.

Tomorrow is election day in the constituency of Drummond-Arthabaska, and every indication points to a Liberal victory. The candidates are Mr. J. E. Perrault, Liberal, and Mr. M. A. Gilbert, Nationalist.

SMELT FISHING ON LARGER SCALE

Fishermen on The Miramichi Preparing For Their Winter's Operations—Equipment Lower in Price.

(Chatham Commercial)

The smelt fishermen are already making preparations and plans for the expected harvest of the little fish. It is stated by those directly interested that there will be more nets set this year than ever before on the Miramichi. These will include many new nets, orders for a considerable number having already been placed.

Smelts are very plentiful in the river just now, several line fishermen having made good hauls during the past week. If such conditions continue to exist until after the ice makes, the fishermen expect to reap bountiful returns.

Dealers state that the price of nets and twine are slightly lower than was the case last year, although the change is not so great as to make any material difference more than a slight saving to the purchaser.

Speaking of prices a dealer said today that it was impossible to make any forecast although the trade in fresh in New York, Boston and Chicago and other points where large sales are made is in a flourishing condition. Conditions change so quickly however, that it is impossible to make any estimate of what condition may be by the time local people have smelts to ship.

It is said by smelt fishermen that fishing conditions have changed. The best hauls are made nowadays when the ice is forming and when the setting and hauling of nets is a hazardous business. As soon as the ice forms so that it will bear men and horses the greater part of the fish leave this section of the river and the fishermen must follow them toward the bay in order to get really "big hauls." This migration, it is said, is due to the extreme timidity of the fish which become frightened by the noise of traffic on the ice above.

AUTO SPEED CARNIVAL AT ATLANTIC, GA.

Speedway Race Track, Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 3.—With the two mile track in the best of condition and the 43 different cars tuned to the highest efficiency, the three day automobile speed carnival opened today at 11 o'clock.

The prizes aggregate $12,000 in addition to many trophies and silver cups. Only Johnny Aitken and Howard Wilcox, of the National Team, will be missing, the manufacturers of this car having withdrawn because of the tragic death on the track Tuesday of Al. Livingstone. The cars entered represent 24 different makes. Just before racing began the match event between Ty Cobb and Napoleon Rucker, the baseball players was declared off. It was announced that Cobb had received a telegram from President Navi of the Detroit Baseball Club, advising him not to race. Orders were given the gate keepers not to allow Barney Oldfield to enter the paddock enclosure in his Blitzen Benz car. The purpose was to prevent him from getting upon the racing course and giving an exhibition spin in defiance of the American Automobile Association against him.

PRAIRIES ABLAZE IN SASKATCHEWAN

Winnipeg, Oct. 31.—Several districts in Saskatchewan suffered severely from prairie fires on Saturday, when heavy windstorm passed over the whole Province. At Indian Head a strip of country seven miles wide was burned over and 9,000 bushels of wheat were destroyed. W. H. Ford and James Jackson lost their granaries, with the season's crop, and S. O. Holden and several others lost considerable quantities of oats. In the Yulon district the fires raged in all directions. Levi Beck lost his granaries and 4,000 bushels of wheat and A. Waterfield lost all his stables two valuable horses, granary and 6,000 bushels of grain. The loss will total $10,000.

FIRES STILL RAGING

The fires are still raging in Orkney White and Wallace districts. At Theo dore the wind was very high and grass fires threatened several farms. D. Reese lost four valuable horses, which he had to abandon while trying to plough a fireguard around his haystack. Two horses burned to death with the stack, while the other two were so severely burned by grass that they had to be destroyed.

At Fort Qu'Appelle fire started from the Indian reservation and burned swiftly through Springbrook to near the town. Several farmers lost granaries and stacks, one man losing 4,000 bushels of wheat. The fire is supposed to have been started from the threshing outfit working on the reservation, and operated by one of the Indian Department employees. It is expected that the farmers who suffered loss will take action against the department. At Kamsak, Sask., fire swept the Fort Pelly district. R. B. Dundas lost forty tons of hay and 2,000 bushels of grain.

IN TURTLE MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

On Saturday last during the heavy wind a fire swept through Turtle Mountain, south of Desford Man., travelling furiously through the bush and scrub, destroying much standing timber and fencing, also houses and outbuildings. The damage is estimated at $8,000 outside of the standing timber. W. Turner Turner lost his house, stables ninety tons of hay fifty cords of wood and all his grain. His wife and family barely escaped with their lives, running to a ploughed field, where they remained until the fire passed. Turner saved nothing but a fur coat, with which he covered his children to save them from the intense heat; Jesse Robins lost his house, barns, three head of cattle and the whole season's crop of grain, hay and vegetables. Mr. Robins was severely burned about the hands and face. Mr. Robins son lost his barns and hay, also all his implements, but managed to save his house.

WELL KNOWN PROFESSOR DIED EARLY TODAY

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 2.—Wm. Henry Brewer, professor emeritus of Agriculture in the Yale Sheffield Scientific School, died at his home here early today from infirmities due to old age. He was born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 14, 1828.

Professor Brewer had held several positions and for a number of years was present of the Arctic Club of America. He visited the frozen north going well within the Arctic Circle, and also ascended several of the highest peaks of the Rocky Mountains. During the recent Peary-Cook controversy, he held that it was quite possible that both explorers reached the pole. Among his books was a botany of California.
