TWO RECORDS BROKEN AT THE ANNUAL U. N. B. ATHLETIC MEET

Binney of Moncton Does 220 Yards in 24 1-2 Seconds---Johnson of Grand Manan Covers 440 Yards in 55 1-4 Seconds---Prospects for Intercollegiate Meet are Good.

Two new records in the 220 yards dash and the 440 yards dash, are the outstanding results of the annual sports of the University of New Brunswick held yesterday afternoon. Binney clipped one tenth of a second off Bridges' record for the 220 yards dash, covering the distance in 24 1/2 seconds. In the 440 yards dash Johnson made the new record of 55 1/4 seconds taking three quarters of a second off the record made by Ed. Ryan eight years ago. In the other events some good work was done. Brooks won both broad and high jumps. In the high jump he tried to better the record of 5 feet 6 inches, but failed. Willis in the mile came within three seconds of trying Landry's record of 5 minutes and would have bettered or equalled it had he been pressed. In the pole vault, Kuhring got up as high as 9 feet 7 inches, several inches short of Weyman's record. Binney ran an excellent 100 yards and was given the time of 10 3-5 seconds, a little short of the record.

The result of the meet has shown that the U. N. B. is fairly strong in sprinters. In the weight throwing events a poor showing was made. Deedes failed to get the hammer out as far as he has in practise and Lank was off color in the shot-put. In view of the result the general opinion is that the U. N. B. should make a pretty good showing at St. Stephen when the Intercollegiate meet is to be run off on Friday. A big delegation of rooters will go to the Border Town to cheer on the Red and Black.

The pole vault was the first event Kuhring won with little difficulty. Height 9 feet, 7 inches. Spicer was second with 9 feet 4 inches. Joe Dever got third place with 8 feet 10 inches.

In the 100 yards dash Binney ran and won easily, taking his heat in 11 seconds and the final in 10 3-5 seconds. Dever in the final was a good second. Binney also ran in great style in the 220. Brooks was his only competitor, Dever dropping out, and ran a good race, pressing Binney to the finish. The 440 yards dash was the event of the day. Johnson and Willis furnishing all the competition that could be desired. Johnson led for the first part of the quarter. On the back stretch Willis passed him, but on the last turn Johnson came up into the lead. Some of the spectators thought the men fouled one another at this stage of the race.

The high jump was also an interesting event. Brooks won with Robinson a good second. It is said that both men have done better in practise than they did in this event.

The high school 220 yards dash went to Burns of Fredericton High school in 26 2-5 seconds. McGibbon also of Fredericton ran a great race, but fell just at the finish and failed to cross the line. Teed of Rothesay was given second place. He also won the broad jump, there being no competition.

DAN McDONALD KNOCKED ST. CLAIR OUT

Wrestler Takes Turn in Ring and is Victorious---Opponent Says he Will Retire.

Moncton, N. B., May 24.—Billy St. Clair, who has been doing stunts in one of the local theatres here, and hails as a champion from Kansas, and Dan McDonald, champion wrestler of Nova Scotia, fought six fierce rounds in Victoria rink here, tonight before a small crowd.

The bout was scheduled to go ten rounds, but only lasted six, as in that round McDonald knocked St. Clair out with a blow on the jaw. There was considerable feeling between the men, and this lent a fierceness to the fight.

St. Clair's defeat was simply a case of age going up against youth and endurance. St. Clair showed science, but McDonald had endurance and was too many for his opponent. In one or two rounds previous to the sixth only the bell saved St. Clair, who was badly winded. Near the close of the sixth round, after a fierce exchange, in which McDonald was the aggressor, St. Clair went down to a right to the jaw and was unable to rise. He had previously taken the count in the same round. St. Clair was revived in a few minutes and announced he had fought his last fight.

McDonald announced he was prepared to wrestle any man in America of his weight, and while not pretending to be a boxer, would be willing to enter the ring again.

ROOT CROPS HIGHLY BENEFICIAL TO THE FARM

There is a growing demand for root crops of various kinds on the farm, both for the family and live stock. The American farmers are not disposed to get down on hands and knees to pull weeds, which is often necessary to secure a good crop of roots. However, a large part of this back work may be eliminated where modern methods of growing root crops are employed and strictly up to date implements are used in the field for sowing the seed and cultivating the soil.

The growers of sugar beets have taught farmers many practical lessons concerning the economical production of root crops, because of necessity they have used machinery in lieu of hand work, in sowing the seed and tilling the crop. The machinery is somewhat expensive; hence it is loaned to farmers who will contract to grow a generous acreage of beets for the sugar factory at an agreed price per ton. The seeders and cultivators will manage four rows of beets each trip across the field.

When the horse power seeders and cultivators are not obtainable and the acreage is small, a combined garden drill and cultivator is the next best implement in use where roots are to be grown. The modern garden seeder has a hill drop which can be adjusted to deposit seed at regular intervals from four to twenty-four inches in the rows. This is a saving of seed and time in weeding, especially where mangold wurtzels, turnips, etc., are grown. These should be so thinned that the plants will have ample room to develop roots of a maximum size which are as quickly and cheaply handled as smaller ones.

A large proportion of the weed seeds in the soil should be germinated and destroyed by frequent tillage before the root crop is planted which will greatly reduce the expense of managing the same. In some instances growers will put up a summer fallow where roots are to be grown which if properly managed, will destroy a very large proportion of the weeds on the field. A continued spring fallow will produce results that are as nearly as satisfactory as the summer fallow in killing weed seeds as they germinate. A large proportion of the expense in growing any root crop is that of destroying weeds in the field which, if not given timely attention, will surely occupy the land and thus ruin the crop of roots. A light hand weeder or harrow, made by driving long slim nails through a board, will aid very much in destroying weeds as they come up through the surface. This must be used with good judgment and when the soil is in proper condition. It sometimes happens that a crust will form on the surface which the tiny seedlings can scarcely penetrate except it is broken with such an implement as we have described.

The cultivators and hand weeders must be kept busy when the plants are small to stimulate their growth and insure a clean field. Thin the rows with a hoe and afterward to a single plant with the fingers. Do not allow weeds to grow any time during the summer in the field with a root crop. Farmers will find it to their advantage to grow root crops not only in variety, but also in abundance.

AERIAL LIGHTHOUSES

The experience of the aeronauts in the London to Manchester race shows clearly that there will be need of a very elaborate system of lighthouses to mark the main routes for aerial night travel. The cities, perhaps give a sufficient plain beacon, but there will have to be well differentiated lighthouses to guide the air skipper from town to town. It is an annoying enough for an automobilist to have to stop and ask the way; for the aeronautist the case is far worse, for his way is as the crow flies, and if he came down he might not find himself in a highway or with in miles of a habitation. But, of course, if air navigation prospers, a system of beacons will be but a matter of time.

The natural falling of the hair cannot be avoided, but the waste through various causes of a more or less unhealthy nature should be attended to as soon as possible. Physical condition has much to do with the appearance of one's hair. Excessive fatigue, poor circulation, worry, or dyspepsia will quickly make itself visible in the hair. If it does not fall badly it grows dull and lustreless, or so brittle that it is hard to arrange.
