Mrs. Dykeman testified that she was married in St. John in 1885 and that her married life was happy until last July, when she became satisfied that there were adequate grounds for her present action.

CANNOT FIX ON WHO SHALL REFEREE

Disappointment Felt Because of Failure to Agree on Referee for Jeffries-Johnson Mill-- Authorities Seem not to Heed Ministers.

San Francisco, May 5.—Local enthusiasts expressed much disappointment today over the failure of the fight promoters and principals to agree on the referee for the Jeffries-Johnson battle. Whether an agreement will be reached by May 16, to which date further formal consideration of the vexing problem was postponed, remains to be seen. The conference was a wrangle throughout, but there was one rift in the clouds that caused a good laugh. Sam Berger told Promoter Jack Gleason that he would not hold the club down to a choice from only two candidates on each side as stipulated in the articles of agreement. It looks now as if Californians were out of the running in the referee race and as if there is a good chance for an easterner to be selected. Eddie Smith and Charley Eytan who were preferred by the Jeffries contingent are persona non grata to the Johnson faction and the latter's choice, Jack Welch or Eddie Graney are in equal disfavor with the opposing camp. Ben Lombard, May 5.—Jim Jeffries, was up early this morning, eager to plunge into his training work. The break occasioned by his visit to Oakland to fetch his wife is regretted by the fighter and he says he is anxious to make up for lost time. San Francisco, Calif., May 5.—Jas. W. Goffroth, the fight promoter, has been granted a permit by the board of supervisors to hold the Billy Papke-Joe Thomas contest at his Colma arena May 14. EX PRES. ROOSEVELT BOMBARDS NORWAY

Delivers Powerful Address on Subject of International Peace before the Nobel Prize Committee--His Voice is Giving Out.

Christiana, May 5.—Former President Roosevelt discussed the subject of "international peace" before the Nobel Prize Committee, members of royalty and of personages distinguished in the political, educational, commercial and social life of Norway today. The occasion was the feature of Mr. Roosevelt's visit to Norway and one of the most notable of his European tours. The address was received cordially, and at the conclusion John Lund, vice-president of the Nobel Prize Committee, paid tribute to the speaker and to the country from which he came. The former president of the United States entered upon the most difficult field of European politics and in the conclusion of carefully worked thesis, advocated an international agreement that would serve to check the growth of armaments, especially naval, and the formation by these great powers honestly bent on peace, of a league of peace, "not only to keep the peace among themselves, but to prevent by force if necessary, its being broken by others." What Mr. Roosevelt had to say today before the King and Queen of Norway and other representative personages constituted the basis of the private conversations which he is having with the statesmen of Europe as occasion arises, concerning the practical possibilities of a collective action by the various governments for the enforcement of universal peace. As he proceeded, Mr. Roosevelt's voice plainly showed the effect of the strain to which his vocal organs had been subjected by the daily speech-making since March 1st. Today it failed him several times and toward the close of his address, which was delivered with unusual emphasis, he had difficulty in making himself heard. This morning he consulted a throat specialist, who suggested a rest from speaking as the best remedy. Nevertheless, the former president continued his set speech to its end today.
