THE PRESENT CHAMPION

JOHNSON READY FOR A RIGHT JUPPERCUT.

CORBETT SAYS WORRY MADE JIM JEFFRIES LOSE TO JOHNSON

Jeff was all in Before July 4—Governor Gillett's Decision Caused Ex-Champion to Fret.

New York, July 12.—Jim Corbett threw some interesting sidelights on the Jeffries-Johnson fight. He declared that Jeffries could have beaten a dozen Johnsons before July 4, but that worry over several things caused his defeat. Corbett said that Jeffries worried over the criticism of the fight by Governor Gillett, that he fretted constantly over the news that his friends were betting all their money on him and also the fact that Billy Delaney his old manager was going to aid Johnson.

ALL IN BEFORE FIGHT

Corbett speaking of the final rub-down before the fight said:

"I've seen many a fellow who was all in before a fight, but never on to compare with Jeffries. We found our room all right and the big fellow stripped for a rubdown. Roger Cornell, the greatest rubber in the world and one of the best judges of condition started to work over Jeffries. Jim was lying on his stomach. Suddenly I heard a low sob from where I stood to one side. It was Cornell. He realized that Jeffries was all in and as he looked up I shook my head and frowned at him. The tears were streaming down his cheeks and the muscles of his face were convulsively working, poor Roger—but Jim did not heed anything and I doubt greatly that he would have realized even if he looked around at the rubber."

JOHNSON SAYS GOTCH MUST PUT UP MONEY

Jack Johnson arrived in New York Monday and he arose to explain several things in connection with the big fight. He talked of moving pictures and their troubles and other matters. "Ah licked Jeff with mah left uppercut," continued the champion. "Jeff expected er right. That where ah double-crossed him. Har, har! In th' seventh round I knew I had him. Then ah felt him give. Then ah tell yuh th' glove weighed pounds, pounds, kid, not ounces."

"How much did you really get out of the fight?"

"$168,000," answered Jack frankly, "an hit's all in gov'ment bonds, too. No moe craps for Jack. Nussir."

Johnson said he would fight Langford for a $50,000 purse and a $20,000 side bet.

"But ah think I'd draw no money," he added. "Anyway, Reno's th' only place left for two gem'men to fight. But ah think Kaufman's th' best of the heavyweights now. Ah think he could lick any man in th' world in a finish fight—always exceptin' of course, Lill Artha."

When told that Frank Gotch, the wrestler, would seek a match with him, Johnson said that if Gotch wanted to do business with him he would have to put up some money, as he did not purpose to let anybody get any free advertising."

"Are you going to fight again soon?"

Again the grin. "Naw," answered Johnson, simulating a yawn. "Ah guess ah'll draw th' color line. Th' only kinder strength ah'll show th' next year'll be a-balancing chickens on ee fork."

FRANK ARELLANES IS INDEFINITELY SUSPENDED

After the games at the American league park at Boston on Tuesday, in the second of which Frank Arellanes worked against Cleveland, Pres. John I. Taylor announced that Arellanes was indefinitely suspended, for the reason that he is not in condition, nor has he been this season for his best work.

"I don't know just what we may do with the player," said the Boston man, "but he has failed to get in shape and we cannot afford to carry players along who will not give their best efforts."

Gamar, 2,12½, who was a crack trotter on the twice-arounds last year, should take some beating on the mile tracks, as he recently showed a half in 1:00½.

HAMAR GREENWOOD'S SCOOP

Regarding stories of great newspaper beats, which have recently appeared in the Canadian papers, another Canadian, who is entitled to rank in the honor-roll, is a former Toronto man, Hamar Greenwood, of whose reverse at the polls in York during the late British elections many Canadians learned with sincere regret. In his early campaigning tours in England, he had done considerable journalistic work. Three or four years ago he was one of a party of English M. P.'s who, under the direction of Sir Alfred Jones, visited Jamaica to study conditions on the island. During their sojourn a large portion of Kingston, the capital city, was destroyed by an earthquake. Mr. Greenwood had left his hotel for a short walk from which he was returning, when the cataclysm occurred and the building shattered. So destructive was the shock that many lives were lost and property damaged to the extent of millions of dollars. It did not take Hamar Greenwood long to size up the news value of the terrible catastrophe, but the perplexing problem was how to forward a despatch. Every telegraph and cable line connecting Jamaica with the outside world had been shattered by the earthquake. Resource and tact must be resorted to. He had covered important assignments for The London Daily Mail, and, if he could only get the news through exclusively to that paper, it would mean many shillings and pence to him. Correspondents of all the leading American and European dailies were on the island, but to scoop them was the all-important question, especially as communication of all kinds had been cut off. Greenwood, however, kept a cool head and knew how to be diplomatic. In the harbor was a U. S. warship and near by a swift cutter. The M. P. for York hastily pencilled a three hundred word report of the disaster, and going aboard the man-of-war he addressed the commander in official tones, declaring that he was a representative of the Imperial government, and must get an important despatch through to Mr. Winston Churchill, who was then Under-Secretary of State.

"Have this conveyed to the nearest cable station at once," requested the smart, stalwart and soldierly appearing British visitor. The officer offered no serious objection, and soon the despatch was being conveyed to Cuba, the nearest cable station, by the speedy cutter. Here, the message was sent to the Home Office, and, by private instruction, found its way to The London Daily Mail, which thus secured the first story of the calamity—hours ahead of any of its contemporaries. Mr. Greenwood, who was not in regular newspaper work, being a full-fledged barrister, did not suffer financially from his stroke of enterprise. On his return to London he found a Harmsworth check awaiting him for the "scoop." Well, never mind how much, but it was generous enough to meet his board bill for a week or two.

Hon. John Strange, the present Lieutenant governor of Wisconsin, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor at the coming primaries in that state, is an enthusiastic horseman. He formerly owned the trotting stallion American Jay, 2,21, and now owns the pacer gelding, Taylor H., 2,21½.
