"TRAVELLER" DISCUSSES ST. JOHN POLITICIANS

Well Informed St. John Correspondent Writes of Political Affairs--Baxter and His Only Methods--John E. Wilson May Resign--What St. John Politicians are Doing.

St. John, July 6.
To the Editor of The Daily Mail:

Dear Sir:—
There was a rumor in the city early this week that John E. Wilson, M. P., had resigned his seat in the Legislature. Of course it was only a rumor and nobody had any attack of heart failure when it began to circulate. Mr. Wilson has threatened to resign so often that the story is old. It is said of Premier Hazen that his week would be incomplete without some threat of this sort from "Johnnie." Ever since Mr. Maxwell was chosen an "honorable" instead of Mr. Wilson, the word "resignation" has been the most attractive one in the dictionary for the metal worker. John E. works with tin a good deal and, while one of the best of good fellows, is much inclined to be a tin horn politician. His toots in Hazen's ears have been so monotonous that they are without effect. That gentleman has no fear of Mr. Wilson's resignation. He knows him now and sleeps easily when he hears that his popular city member is again in the air over some of President "Bob's" arrogance. "Familiarity breeds contempt" is very true of Wilson, M. P. P.'s threats. He will never resign, no matter what Maxwell does. He loves the sound and sight of M. P. P. too well.

While that is my opinion, there is no doubt that if the Hazen party possesses any strength in the city of St. John, Mr. Wilson is the one man who has it. And this is not because of his politics, but rather because he has no politics. He resembles Dr. Pugsley in this one respect, that all men are very close to him and he finds it difficult to refuse anyone. Neither he nor Maxwell will ever set the world on fire, but Wilson would have been stronger than his Orange colleague in the Hazen government. More than that he had every right to be chosen. He was the choice of the people, and the popular vote should always be taken into consideration by the leader of a government when there is not much to choose from in point of ability. As I said before, in spite of all this slight, Wilson will not resign.

(While speaking of St. John politicians, let us see what they are doing, anyway. Dr. McInerney is back from his trip and I regret to say his friends are not pleased with the report he brings of his health. He is not fond of the political game and it has frequently been said, and so far as I can gather never been denied, that he will refuse to be a candidate again. He will make room for Miles E. Agar, no doubt, though there are those who doubt the vote getting powers of the same Mr. Agar. If he happens to have our petticoat friend from the wharf at his elbow, what a pair they would make! How the electors would bear them upon their backs—out of sight.

The liquor commission in St. John is now wholly composed of Tories, ex-aldermen and ex-grand worthy Templar W. D. Baskin having replaced Commissioner Linton. How the licensed victuallers' association must have been cheered up by the appointment of Mr. Baskin. They have so much to thank Mr. Hazen's government for, after all the generous support they gave him, Mr. Maxwell and Mr. Hatheway. Wilson and his colleague, the Doctor, would have carried out the promises that won the support of the liquor interests for the Hazen party, but for Maxwell and Hatheway. 'Tis well to pull both ways but this string is sure to fray in the middle and when it parts some one will get a dump. Florence McCarty was the first appointment under the Hazen regime. A very decent Conservative is this same McCarty, but in spite of this fact, another compatriot of his claws are always out—is Tom Kickham, and he is after McCarty's commission. There is plenty of time for him to canvas for the appointment is not made until next year and yet I'm thinking that Thomas will need even more time than that before he lands the job.

In the meantime, a Tory commission means Tory lawyers. If a saloon man wants to protect his rights, like "Billy" O'Keefe had to this spring, he flies to the industrious and suave Mr. Baxter, who is so smooth that the sidewalks slip under him. His reputation stands by him with the license board, where the influence of politics and temperance prevail and justice has but little show.

I am not one of those who stand up for saloons, in fact I think St. John would be better off with far fewer of them, but while the sale is legalized, while large sums of money are paid for licenses, then fair play demands more equity in the treatment of the liquor men. I think my friend, Mr. Baxter, would agree with me. I'm sure he would in the presence of his clients, more particularly if he had as he did a year or so ago, an aldermanic election to run.

How things are changing. Kelly is out of the Council and rumor rattles that Baxter would not object to follow suit provided the veteran recorder would pick out his shoff. That is Mr. Baxter's present ambition—the recordership of St. John—and a fair, flat job it is, without much worry, pleasant work and a deal of influence. The fees have always been satisfactory and besides that, there is a precedent of a recorder of the city of St. John arriving at a supreme court judgeship, and later to be chief justice of the Province. No one, of course, would be better pleased with such a prospect in the dim future as that particular chum of Mr. Baxter's, George Vincent, the late county secretary, took his courage in his hand and went to the hospital and the operating table, he had no idea that the news flashed over the telephones to aspirants for his job and that even before his physicians sewed up his gaping wound, his hopeless case was known and councillors were pledged to support some one or other of the applicants. But that is the fact and had Mr. Sinclair's supporters stood firm, Kelly had no show for the position he holds. In a fair fight "Jack" Sinclair had no cause to fear King Kelly, but when the local government whip cracked and such government friends of his as Alderman John Willett, (who, by the way, is also clerk of the supreme court), was forced to vote for his own protection, what chance for even so good a Conservative politician as "Jack" Sinclair—the partner and friend of the late federal candidate, A. W. MacRae? That fact alone should have sufficed to ensure him the support of all the Tories in the county council, but Kelly was the choice of the machine. Kelly was favored by Maxwell and Hazen, and Sinclair had the good will of Wilson. Poor Johnnie! Poor Jack! The fighting heroes of Wellington Ward, who again and again have made victory certain for their candidates, turned down for King Kelly!

Surely times have changed!
TRAVELLER.

SHREWD AND FORCEFUL IS KAISERS SECRETARY

Berlin, July 6.—Germany's foreign policy is likely to experience a vigorous change through the retirement of Baron Von Schon as Foreign Secretary and the appointment in his stead of Herr Von Kiderlen-Wachter.

The new minister ranks as one of the most shrewd and forceful men in German politics. He was acting Foreign Secretary during the Balkan crisis in the spring of 1909, and is understood to have been personally responsible for the policy which resulted in Russia's recognition of the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria under direct coercion from Germany. Von Kiderlen-Wachter, who is popularly known as "the Dumpling," owing to his fondness for that famous South German specialty, has been stationed at Bucharest, as the German minister, for the last ten years, but had many special assignments in the meantime.

The new secretary ranks as an expert on affairs of the near east, and German interests in that region of conflict are certain to be actively looked after under his regime.

Von Kiderlen-Wachter's pugnacious individuality was manifested a few years ago, when he challenged the editor of The Kladderadatsch, the comic weekly, to a duel. The editor was left bleeding on the field of honor, from a bullet wound in the shoulder.

Von Kiderlen-Wachter, who enjoys the special friendship of the Kaiser, is 58 years old, a native of Wurtemberg, and a bachelor.

SUSSEX SOLDIER SHOOT HIS CHUM

Bugler Foley Found a Revolver, and it Discharged Wounding Bugler Sutherland in the Arm.

Sussex, N. B., July 6.—Another tragedy came near being recorded last night in the annals of Camp Sussex, arising from an accidental shot from a revolver in the hands of Bugler Foley of the 12th Field Battery. Fortunately his chum, Bugler Mark Sutherland, who was sitting with his arms crossed in front of him and 'tis, it is thought, saved his life. As the bullet only entered his upper arm and lodged there.

The accident was due to one of the men in the bugler's tent having a revolver in his suit case with one chamber loaded; Foley, who is almost 14 years old, was asked to get some cigarettes out of the suit case. When he opened it he was surprised to see a revolver lying within and picking it up turned to Sutherland and inquired who owned it. The trigger of the weapon was pulled as he made the motion and the revolver discharged.

license when called upon to do so. He could not say that he had left it at home. If he failed to produce it he would be liable to a fine of $5.

Councillor Reynolds told of accounting a peddler and asking him if he had a license. In reply he produced a letter from a St. John lawyer authorizing him to go ahead and peddle, and he (the lawyer) would see him through.

After some further discussion participated in by councillors, Reynolds, C. Pond, Fred Pond, Grant and others, it was decided to allow the law to remain as it is until the January session.

Councillor Patterson submitted the report of the public accounts committee which was adopted. The following accounts were ordered to be paid:

PRINTING BUREAU CHANGES EXPECTED

Ottawa, July 6.—Hon. Charles Murphy had another round-up of officials and employees of the Printing Bureau before him this morning, but secrecy is preserved as to what was elicited and it is said that no official statement is likely to be made until the inquiry is concluded.

With the finding of the body of Frank Gouldthrite, local gossip about the case and its possible development has diminished. Some question has arisen as to whether, in view of what has been established, the property of Gouldthrite will be seized by the government, but it is regarded as wholly improbable that this will be done. Friends of the official insist that his wrong doing has been very much exaggerated.

The enquiry is to extend also to the mechanical department, wherein there have been heavy purchases of machines, presses and type. So far however, there have been no charges of graft in that branch of the service. The Bureau employees are expecting a complete re-organization of the staff, involving the replacing of certain officials, as well as a change in its methods of conducting business.
