Give your servants GOLD DUST to clean with, treat them rightly and you will have few occasions to insert a "help wanted" ad

They say a good workman is known by his tools. You cannot expect your maid to keep everything ship-shape unless you give her every modern help. To keep house without GOLD DUST is to do work by hard, old-fashioned methods. For cleaning everything and anything about the house—from cellar to attic—GOLD DUST is worth its weight in gold. It cuts grease and dirt like magic, does away with scouring and scrubbing, and saves time and tempers.

Your servant can do more and better work and keep sweet with the aid of GOLD DUST in all household cleaning.

AMERICAN MANUFACTURES DISCUSS CANADIAN TRADE

And Advocate the Cultivation of Better Relations Between the Two Countries to the Mutual Advantage of the Trade of Both Countries.

New York, May 21.—A general condemnation of most of the provisions of President Taft's railway bill was one of the chief points of the first day's session of the annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers, held this afternoon in the Waldorf-Astoria. An interesting proposal was also made for closer trade relations with Canada, including an agreement for the construction of a new through water route from the great lakes to New York. The latter proposal was found in the report of the committee on inter-state commerce. It stated among other things:

Politically, our attitude toward the Canadian has varied through the whole range from the most effusive professions of kinship to the most pronounced hostility. Now the remedy for that, if we care for a remedy, is in our hands. If, along with a large and we believe growing number of our citizens, we heartily favor a more liberal policy and a more courteous attitude toward our neighbors across the border, because we thus advance our interests as much as theirs, there are several things that can be done in pursuance of such a policy. In the first place we must bother our heads no more with that oft-repeated but wretched fallacy that, because our population is twelve times theirs, any reciprocal concessions, such as free admission of field and forest products, must be twelve times as advantageous to them as to us, and that we must, therefore doing a profoundly shrewd thing to refuse it. We might better argue that if their cheaper lumber and ores and grains are a benefit to all, they are twelve times the benefit to twelve times the number who have to purchase them; but after all, even this better argument is somewhat childish. It is enough to consider that our people would be helped rather than hurt by reciprocity to make it desirable for us, and that Canada finds a similar balance on the favorable side makes it similarly desirable for her. To the great majority on both sides of the line, reciprocity is unmixed good, obtained at no cost.

It is not, however, the general question of reciprocity with Canada that we have here to consider; it is reciprocity in channels of continental commerce. The Welland Canal, which has recently been deepened, saves nothing in distance over the Erie Canal route; but another ship canal is contemplated by the Canadians to connect Lake Ontario by way of Lake Simcoe, with the head of Georgian Bay, thus saving some three hundred miles of distance from the Hudson and Mohawk to the entrance to Lake Michigan or Superior. They are discussing yet another deep water channel, we learn—those most enterprising neighbors of our—along the Ottawa and French rivers, through Lake Nipissing which would be easier to construct and would give a still shorter way to Montreal and points further down the St. Lawrence or beyond.

Coming to the practical consideration how these Canadian projects ought to affect our country and our manufacturers' association, we recognize that the Minnesota region stands in a line of cheap and direct communication between it and the Atlantic seaboard. The entire world is more or less interested. The question, then, is well worth considering whether the United States would not gain far more than the outlay by contributing liberally for the construction of a deep water canal through this most suitable part of the Province of Ontario and by admitting the Canadians to unrestricted use of the deep water route through New York State in return for the equally free use of the Canadian canal by our merchant marine.

Besides leading to a better feeling between us and removing opportunities for misunderstandings, these activities in common would be sure to enlarge our commerce. As the most convenient source of supply for so much that Canada must have, we ought surely to have the great bulk of the Canadian trade and the way to have it is by showing that we think it something worth having and trying for. Simply treat them as we have always wished that other nations should treat us, and the Canadians will gladly be our allies and helpers. Show them unworthy treatment and they will reflect it on a mirror. The most important truth we know is that commerce is mutual service. Only by remembering that, in the fullest sense of the words, do we realize that a noble work commercial business may do for humanity.

The report of the committee was adopted, and resolutions based on its recommendation will later be submitted to the association.

JEFFRIES AND JOHNSON TO MEET IN 'FRISCO

San Francisco Calif., May 19.—There is much rejoicing among fight enthusiasts over the announcement of Tex Rickard that Jeffries and Johnson will meet in this city to battle for the world's heavy weight championship, July 4.

It has been many years since a 45 round fight was held in San Francisco owing to the city ordinance which provides for boxing matches of "limited duration" herebefore "limited duration" has been construed as 20 rounds but it is understood a barrier will be raised against an extension of the established fight period.

Governor Gillet's widely published view of the situation has been received with much satisfaction by all interested in the big battle and the statements coming from district attorney Pickett are likewise regarded as re-assuring.

The district attorney is quoted thus:

"I have not been apprised that the contest is to be held in this city and I have not considered the matter. The board of supervisors has not granted the promoters a permit yet, but there is a law allowing boxing matches and I cannot see the difference between Jeffries and Johnson fighting and other professional fighters, who have been boxing here. However, I will look up the law and abide strictly by the statutes." Speculation is concerning itself strictly today with the probable location to be selected for the big contest. Several locations are available. The present fight plans of the promoters have not caused any apparent worry on Johnson's part. The negro champion is proceeding with his training without interruption.

FOREIGN VISITORS ARE NOW RETURNING HOME

London, May 21.—Most of the members of royalty, special envoys and deputations come to attend the funeral of King Edward have left or are leaving today for their homes. King Alfonso of Spain, is hurrying his departure as a consequence of the disappointing news from Madrid of Queen Victoria's premature announcement.

Emperor William will remain two days more at Buckingham Palace. This morning Queen Alexandra received in farewell audience in the throne room of Buckingham Palace the deputations to the funeral, the officers of the German and other visiting regiments and foreign civic bodies, thanking them for their presence.

Mr. D. S. Archibald, of Musquodoboit, N. S., is registered at the Queen.

Mr. R. D. Wilmet, of Belmont, was in the city today.

SIR T. SHAUGHNESSY CHAIRMAN OF C. P. R.

Montreal, May 11.—The acceptance of Sir William Van Horne's resignation of the Chairmanship of the Canadian Pacific Board was immediately followed by the abolition of the office and the selection of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy as Chairman of the Company, at the meeting of the Board of Directors at the C. P. R. head offices.

Sir Thomas now enjoys the unique distinction of being the only high railway official who combines in himself the dual offices of chairman and president of the great railway corporation.

Sir William Van Horne occupied the chair at yesterday's meeting for the last time. He remains, however, a director of the company. When his resignation was accepted, Sir Thomas took the chair. That he is well endowed with the more ornate gifts that the higher positions are held to imply is well known, as well as a vigorous and capable administrator he has demonstrated on various important occasions. Like Sir William Van Horne, he has risen to the highest position that can be aspired to in the railway service of any country. The brilliance of his success is the highest tribute that could be paid to industry and capacity.

Another important matter of business that came up at yesterday's meeting was the appointment of a successor to Sir George Drummond, on the Board of Directors. The choice of the directors was Mr. A. R. Creelman, K. C., who has been chief solicitor and general counsel of the company for the past nine years.

BOILS AND CARBUNCLES

Among inflammatory conditions of the skin there is none more painful or more debilitating than that of which the usual signs are the abscesses known as boils. The patient is in a poor state of health, due possibly to lack of exercise or unhealthy surroundings in his work. Then comes local inoculation with the germs of the disease, by means of friction and chafing from the clothes. Next there appears a raised painful spot on the skin that soon becomes tense, shining and swollen, giving severe pain until the matter or pus within is afforded an outlet by lancing. The difference between a boil and a carbuncle is that the former develops round a hair-bulb, and discharges by a single orifice, while a carbuncle involves definite sloughing of connective tissues, and discharges through several openings. The carbuncle is much more serious and tedious, and in the case of elderly people who are not in good health it is sometimes fatal. The pus from a boil will infect the skin near if allowed to touch it, especially where ordinary poultices are used for the purpose of bringing the boil to a head, and in trying to treat one abscess it is quite common to cause a number of smaller ones to spring up. Any poultices used, therefore, should be dusted on the surface with boracic acid, and they should be only just as large as is required. A better method than poulticing, however, is fomenting. Take a wad of lint and wring it out of hot carbolic lotion (a dessertspoonful to half a pint of hot water), lay it on the boil and cover with oiled silk. Such fomentations, frequently exchanged as they lose their heat, afford great relief in the early stages of the abscess, but when once the pus has formed the patient should apply to a surgeon for the only treatment which will do him good. The pain caused by the incision is very trifling, and and no one need be afraid of the operation.

As soon as the discharge has ceased, or the slough comes away, boracic lint applied dry should be used for healing. Internal treatment in the case of a boil is very simple; a brisk purgative should be taken while the abscess is tense and painful, and during the whole course of the disease care must be taken to avoid constipation. A light, wholesome, nourishing diet, and moderate exercise will be beneficial; a simply iron and quinine tonic is also useful, say three drams of citrate of iron and quinine in eight ounces of water—one tablespoonful to be taken three times a day after meals.

WILL BLACKBOARDS CHANGE?

Will blueboards succeed black boards in the public school? This is a question soon to come before the Toronto trustees. Inspector Hughes has always claimed the former are much easier for the eyes than the latter, and lately numerous complaints have been received by the trustees from parents that the sight of their children is impaired. This is substantiated to a large extent by the number of children who wear glasses. Some time ago slates came under the ban of the inspector, owing to the bad effects of the eyes from the striking contrast of white on black. White scribbling books were also changed to grey to avoid the same trouble, while numerous minor alterations were made to ease the eyes. So it now appears it is up to the blackboard to vacate in favor of blue.
