THE SMARTEST SHAPES FOR SPRING AND SUMMER

The preferred shapes for the present season, still show the flat and medium-flat set brims. In soft hats the style differences are rather more in evidence.

Of course good form and taste dictate the avoidance of extremes, in hats as in clothes. Individuality is of course desirable, and it is this attribute combined with Style, Quality, Superior Workmanship, Finish and Fit, that has placed HAWES, VON GAL HATS first in the favour of smartly dressed men.

NAVAL BILL PASSED BY THE CANADIAN COMMONS

Hon. Mr. Fielding Arraigns Conservatives for Their Many Changes of Base on the Question---Shows How Liberals Have Aided Britain---Crocket Declines to Accept Dr. Pugsley's Challenge.

Ottawa, April 20.—The commons today gave its final word in favor of the construction of a Canadian navy by giving the naval bill its third reading by forty-one majority with forty absentees.

When this was finished Mr. Crocket launched an attack on the minister of public works based on the purchase of the Richibucto wharf, which will be replied to tomorrow by Mr. Carvell.

Mr. Crocket did not accept Dr. Pugsley's challenge to make a charge against him but contented himself with the safer plan of condemning the transaction.

On the third reading of the naval bill Mr. Borden attacked the government's naval policy and again urged that Canada make a cash contribution for the present time to aid Britain in the way of defence, and that the question of constructing the Canadian navy be submitted to the people.

Hon. Mr. Fielding made a ringing speech on the naval bill.

OPPOSITION WOBBLING

Canada had for years, continued Mr. Fielding, been on record against the policy of contribution and no protest has been made until the remarkable change of policy of the opposition this session. The Liberals had stuck to their guns, but the opposition had run away.

Mr. Fielding laid much emphasis upon the circumstances that the admiralty proposed the creation of a fleet-unit on the Pacific, and he pressed the point that such a fleet-unit must be followed by a fleet-unit on the Atlantic and that the cost of two such fleet-units would have been enormous.

BORDEN'S MANY CHANGES.

Then the finance minister turned his attention to the inconsistencies of the leader of the opposition. On March 29 last he had declared for a navy of our own and had stated his opposition to the policy of contribution. Now he was opposing the creation of a Canadian navy and was advocating a contribution. Again, at Halifax, in October last, he had supported the naval policy of the government because it would revive the shipbuilding industry of Nova Scotia. How could the shipbuilding industry of Nova Scotia be revived by the sending of $20,000,000 to England? asked Mr. Fielding amid ringing cheers. He hoped that it would be found possible to build the ships of the navy in Canada. He believed they could be so built, but it was a question of cost and economy.

COMPARES PARTIES' RECORDS.

Mr. Fielding went on to compare the records of the two parties towards the empire. Much had been heard about the South African war, but that was not the only war in which the Empire had been engaged. In 1885, when the news came that the heroic Gordon had been martyred and Khartoum had fallen, a wave of indignation went through the empire. Australia felt the impulse to action but did Canada act? It was not a Liberal government which was then in power, but a Conservative one, but not a hand was stirred for the benefit of the Empire.

It was true that General Laurie, Colonel Williams and others offered to raise troops for service in the Sudan but their offers were refused. When Lord Derby cabled to Lord Landsdowne asking what should be done with the offers of Laurie and Williams, the governor general cabled back that his ministers had no objection to their offers being accepted, but it must be understood that "the entire cost must fall on the imperial exchequer." (Great Liberal cheers) He (Mr. Fielding), would have liked T. W. Crothers to be present and have heard his opinion of this "miserable, narrow, picayune provincialism." What did he think of this doctrine of not a penny out of the pockets of Canada?

MORE LIBERAL AID TO BRITAIN

But there were other things, beside the army and the navy, in which aid could be given to the Empire. There was the question of trade. On that issue he was not afraid to challenge comparison. It was the good and loyal Conservative party which introduced the high tariff policy into this country, and when somebody objected that it might injure British connection, the reply from the organ of the party, the Toronto Mail, "So much the worse for British connection."

Proceeding he proved by the record that not only had the Conservatives kept up a guerilla warfare against the British preference, but when a Liberal member moved a resolution affirming its benefits they all voted against it, including the present leader of the opposition.

The record showed that when it came to relations with the empire the Liberal government did not lag behind. It certainly did not lag when it sent the troops to South Africa, (Cheers) and only those who know all the facts know how much the empire owes to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. (Cheers.)

Canada has not asked that the Imperial government should pay the cost of the contingents to South Africa, as the Conservatives did in 1885. That war cost Canada two or three million dollars. They might have sent those millions over to be dumped in the Imperial exchequer, but if they had the glorious story of Paardeburg would never have been written.

The minister was rewarded with long continued cheers on closing.

The vote was taken just before the house rose at 6 o'clock. The announcement of a government majority of 41, with forty members of the house absent, was greeted with long and continued cheers from the Liberal benches.

The division was a strictly party one, Mr. Verville, the Labor member for Maisonneuve, voted for the bill. CROCKET DECLINES PUGSLEY'S CHALLENGE.

The purchase of the Richibucto wharf was brought up in the Commons tonight on motion to go into supply, by Mr. Crocket. This case engaged the attention of the public accounts committee, under Mr. Crocket's direction, most of the session to the exclusion of everything else.

Mr. Crocket spoke for four hours for the purpose of getting a large amount of the committee's evidence on Hansard. Mr. Crocket insinuated that the transaction was an improper one, and that it had been inspired by Dr. Pugsley. Mr. Murray had started to buy a sewer right through the property, but, after having seen the minister of public works, he wanted to buy the whole wharf property. Mr. Crocket declared that to his mind this was a corrupt transaction and there was much evidence given the committee to indicate that the minister of public works was cognizant of the whole transaction from the beginning.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley—I challenge the member for York to make a formal charge to that effect.

Mr. Crocket said that he did not intend to do so.

In conclusion, Mr. Crocket moved an amendment, declaring that the evidence given before the public accounts committee indicated that the purchase of the Richibucto wharf from Thomas Murray for $5,000 was a corrupt and fraudulent transaction which deserves the severest condemnation of the house.

Mr. Carvell moved the adjournment of the debate, and the house adjourned at midnight.

DOWIE'S SUCCESSOR AGAIN IN FAVOR

Chicago, Ill., April 20.—At Zion City, Wilbur Glenn Voliva, successor to the late John Alexander Dowie, has won back most of the power he lost at the election a year ago. The election was the second test of strength between the Theocratic party represented by Voliva and the independents headed by Mayor Ritchie. At a close election last year the independents won every city office. Voliva has now elected three aldermen, and a policeman, all the offices voted on.
