REV. DR. FLANDERS HEARD BY LARGE AUDIENCE LAST NIGHT

Banquet in Connection with Laymen's Missionary Movement at Methodist Church Great Success---Over One Hundred in Attendance.

About one hundred men attended the banquet given at the Methodist church last night in connection with the Laymen's Missionary Movement, at which the principal speaker was Rev. Dr. Flanders, pastor of Cretenay Methodist Church, St. Cohn. Dr. Flanders' address was listened to with great attention, and was heartily applauded. It contained numerous truths in connection with missionary work, which were received with pleasure by all.

Mayor Thomas acted as chairman. Among the clergymen of the city and vicinity who were present were: Rev. Dean Schofield, Rev. J. J. Colter, Rev. Dr. Smith, Rev. J. H. McDonald, Rev. J. C. Berrie, Rev. Thos. Stebbings, Rev. S. A. Baker. The banquet began at 6.30 o'clock, and was of such excellence that the ladies of the church, by whom it was prepared, were complimented by all the speakers.

The addresses began at about 7.15. Immediately after Dr. Flanders' address, a resolution to the effect that greater effort should be put into missionary work was passed unanimously.

MAYOR THOMAS

His Worship Mayor Thomas, introducing the speaker of the evening, complimented the ladies of the church on the manner in which the banquet had been carried off. The attendance was large and augured well for the success of the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

DR. C. F. FLANDERS

Dr. Flanders was received with hearty applause when he arose to deliver his address. He also complimented the ladies on the excellence of the banquet. He had also been pleased to meet at the railway station his former confere, Rev. Mr. McLaughlin. Frederickton evidently treated her pastor well as Mr. McLaughlin was fast assuming aldermanic proportions. (Laughter)

Banquets were great aids to missionary effort as they tended to put men in good humor. In addition however, the results already achieved in the mission field were such as to make every worker cheerful. He would deal mainly with the foreign missionary work of the church. The stranger was at our gates and he should receive due consideration for the spirit in which the immigrant was received would affect greatly the destiny of the nation. He was delighted to find that such thought was being given the Canadian immigration problem.

That problem, however, was a mere incident in the campaign for the evangelization of the world. He had the impression that if effort in the foreign mission field was pushed far enough the immigration problem to a certain extent would be solved. The Japanese immigration had been referred to as a problem yet the spectacle had been seen of Japanese Christianized in their own country, coming to this country to complete their education.

A DYING PHURCH

The church not interested in foreign missions was a very weak if not a dying organization. It was the duty of the church militant to go forward and evangelize the church for Christ. There was the fact of the kinship of the human race which should prompt the Christian church to missionary effort. The tendency of modern times was to aid the bringing about of closer relationships between the nations of the world. To bring that about it was necessary that Christians should be willing to go out and lay down their lives to carry the gospel to others. Christ's marching orders to the church had been "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel." That command, however, contained a note of love, rather than one of compulsion.

Carey, before he had gone out to India as a missionary, had said that his business was to carry the story of the gospel to his fellow men and he followed his earthly business merely to pay expenses. "God speed the day," said Dr. Flanders in conclusion, "when the gospel will be carried to all parts of the earth."

RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Rev. J. J. Colter followed Dr. Flanders and moved the adoption of a resolution favoring the increased support of the church to missionary endeavor. Speaking to the resolution, he made a plea for membership in the church, instead of mere adherence to it.

Ald. J. J. Weddall seconded the resolution, which was carried unanimously.

DEAN SCHOFIELD

Rev. Dean Schofield, addressing the gathering, said that he had gathered some interesting facts to take back to his own church on what the Methodist church was doing for missions. That church no doubt had a larger membership throughout Canada than had the Church of England, but he knew of no reason why the Church of England should not do as much as the Methodists. (Applause) Responsibility was one of the greatest boons humanity had and what was missionary effort but the greatest responsibility of the church?

OTHER SPEAKERS

Other speakers were Rev. J. C. Berrie, Rev. J. C. Wilson, Rev. Thos. Stebbings, Judge Wilson and Mr. Chas. A. Sampson.

CANADA IS ONLY DOING HER DUTY

Montreal, Can. 25.—That the Canadian government will, in the very near future, ask for tenders for the building of ships for the navy, and will do all in her power to encourage the building of these ships in Canada, was the announcement made by Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Marine, at the annual banquet of the Builders' Exchange, held in the Windsor Hotel last Friday night.

Some two hundred guests sat down in the Green Room, under the presidency of Mr. Jos. E. Arcand. Among those at the table of honor were: the Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Marine; Mr. J. L. Perron, K.C., M.P.; Mayor Guerin, Mayor Rutherford, of Westmount; Ald. J. H. Sherford, Mr. F. Bourbonniere, K.C., representing Mr. O. S. Perrault, president of the Chambre de Commerce; Mr. Geo. R. Smith, M.P.P.; Mr. J. Roslin Gardiner (president Architects Association); Mr. Jas. Bennett (chief inspector Underwriters' Association); Mr. Cecil Doute (Manufacturers' Association); Mr. N. T. Gagnon and Mr. Q. H. Lauer (Secretary Builders' Exchange).

Mr. Brodeur briefly reviewed the progress of the negotiations with the United States during the past years. Canada went to Washington, but disappointment followed disappointment until Canada tired of the promises that were never kept and the disappointments. Developments followed, and now Canada is sought by the United States as a most important market. As a result of the high cost of living in the republic, the people forced the government to seek Canada.

"But," said the speaker, "the present negotiations will never result in any sacrifice or any industrial advantage over Canada."

The speaker paid a tribute to Britain and what she had done for stating that in return Canada would do no less than aid her in the heavy work of defence, and that any man who did not believe Canada should contribute in some way, did not appreciate the aid Britain has given during the past years. He stated that Canada should defend her coasts, her commerce, and in time of danger help Britain assert her supremacy of the seas. He said the St. Lawrence route would soon be deepened to accommodate the largest of ships.

"We have our little share in the building up of this great country," said Mr. James Ballantyne, vice-president of the Exchange, in response to the toast "Our Country." He stated that solidity and architectural beauties were the features of the structural work in Canada.

THE HAZEN GOVERNMENT'S WRONG TOWARDS MONCTON

(Moncton Transcript)

Those who expected that the Hon. Mr. Hazen would last night defend his iniquitous gerrymander of Westmorland County, merely for the purpose of a possible provincial bye-election and not to serve any equitable principle of redistribution of seats will be disappointed.

Mr. Hazen owed to the people of Moncton a special explanation as to why his Government introduced and adopted an act of the Legislature whereby the electors of the city of Moncton for two bye-elections are disfranchised. Had a bye-election taken place in this County since the last general election or should one take place before the next general election the several thousand electors of the City of Moncton are by an act introduced by Mr. Hazen's Government, deprived of their franchise. Such an instance is almost without parallel if it has a parallel in the history of even such legislation. At the last general elections the four representatives for the County of Westmorland were elected by the votes of the entire electorate of this constituency, but Mr. Hazen having no confidence in his ability to convince the electors of Moncton City that his policy is a commendable one sought to snatch, if possible, a victory at a bye-election by depriving the electors of Moncton of the right to exercise their franchise in voting for a successor in their bye-election to two of the present representatives partially elected by them whose seats might become vacant.

Such an act by Mr. Hazen was an outrage upon the electoral rights of a free people. It was so devoid of the most elementary sense of fair play that when even a Conservative member of Parliament, who heard of the circumstances, expressed censure. Mr. Hazen's act was revolutionary. It was despotic. It was one of those acts which setting aside the right of the people to register their voice by ballot, has in more countries than one induced them to use force. So far as Moncton City is concerned, its wholesale disfranchisement by legislation for two bye-elections had was an indefensible outrage.

If Mr. Hazen had confidence in the voice of the people, why did he by an act of legislation disfranchise the electors of this city from voting in two bye-elections should they be held? So far as this city is concerned there is no issue so important as that, and if the local gentlemen who were responsible for advising Mr. Hazen to take this step, think it has been forgotten or will not be used against them at the proper hour, they mistake the situation.

The act was one which disgraced the Premier of this province, which stamps him as a political charlatan rather than a statesman.

To the people of Moncton last night he owed an explanation of the act, but he evidently on second thought was so ashamed of it that he entirely ignored the issue. It will however not be forgotten.

SCOTTIE H. MONEY COMING TO CANADA

A trust company has just been created in Scotland which will devote its energies very largely to the investment of funds in Canada.

It is the Scottish & Canadian General Investment Co., with head office in Edinburgh, and a cable to The Star states that the issue of 150,000 preferred and 100,000 ordinary shares of £1 each has been largely oversubscribed.

It is stated upon excellent authority that the Royal Securities Corporation, of which Mr. W. M. Aitken, M. P., is president, took 20,000 ordinary shares of the issue, and that Mr. Aitken's company will act as agents and advisers in Canada to the Scottish enterprise.

While the new company has power to make investments in the United States, it is said, that Canada will be the chief field for its activities, for, as the prospectus aptly points out, "the prospects of expansion in Canada at present may be fairly compared to those existing in the United States sixty years ago."

Application will be made to list the shares of the new company on the Stock Exchange of Edinburgh, Glasgow and Dundee.

Several well-known Scotch financiers are on the directorate.
