Gurney-Oxford Stoves and Ranges

now on display at our store—a demonstration that marks the 20th Century achievement in stove-making. Come and examine the special points of excellence—

The Oxford Economizer

a marvelous device for the control of the heat. It gives a saving of 20% in fuel, besides economy of time and labor. A patent authorized only on this line.

The Divided Oven Flue Strip is a great economy of food. All danger of failure in baking is minimized with this clever arrangement for even distribution of heat. There is no better test of practical stove-work than this perfect oven control.

Another advantage lies in the Reversible Grate equipped with strong interlocking teeth that save waste, maximum heat with less fuel.

The Broiler Top—the strong oven door, are excellent features—and these all combine with attractive designs in wide variety of size and price.

You are earnestly invited to come and inspect the Gurney-Oxford line—for the good of your purse, your health, and "all the comforts of home."

GIGANTIC MOOSE IS SAID TO BEAR CHARMED LIFE

Bangor, Mr., Nov. 13.—For twenty years the guides and lumbermen of Maine have been telling of a wonderful moose supposed to inhabit the northern wilds, the habitat of the animal being variously stated as Lobster Lake, the headwaters of the east branch of the Penobscot, and the region beyond Dead River. The moose has always been described as of immense size and of a dirty white color, from which latter characteristic it became known as the "spectre moose."

As often as the stories have been told they have been denied and set down as the fabric of an excited imagination or the result of too much whiskey. One sceptic declared that it was not a moose at all, but an old gray woods horse that had been turned out to run at large.
Still, the story of the "spectre moose," be it fact or fiction, survives and only this week it was related by an Indian guide who has been piloting a party of hunters around Lobster Lake.

The big moose was first reported in 1891, so it is likely that the monster reported by the guide, who is named Joe Gabriel, is a son or maybe a grandson of the original monster.
But, according to the story, the giant of 1911 is of the same dirty white color and a most terrifying object for any man to meet.

SAID TO WEIGH 2,500 POUNDS

The original moose, the "spectre" of 1891, was described as weighing not less than 2,500 pounds, although the largest bull of which there is any record in Maine weighed only about 1,300. He was first seen in October of that year above Lobster Lake, twenty miles northeast of Moosehead Lake, by the famous guide "Joe" Francis and his brother, "Charlie" Francis. These men were famous shoots, but they could not hit the big moose, and this so worked upon their superstitious natures that they fled from the region and would not return.

The Francis brothers and all the other Indians and French Canadians who saw or heard about this moose declared that the animal led a charmed life and that only a silver bullet could lay it low.

"Joe" Francis swore by the great sachem of the Tarratines that the monster of Lobster Lake stood fifteen feet high to the point of the shoulder and that its antlers spread ten feet. Everybody laughed at the Indian's story.

However the Indian tales may have been discounted, the sceptics all began to pay attention when a New York city sportsman, Howard Van Ness, since deceased, not only saw the big moose, but had several shots at him. It was in 1892, that Mr. Van Ness, who was accompanied by three other New York men, got his first sight of the "spectre moose." He was separated from his companions and was passing a dead-fall when the presence of the monster was made known by a tremendous crashing in the brush on the opposite side of the deadfall. Peering through he saw a sight that made his heart stand still. There was a moose that certainly must have weighed a ton, and as tall as a camel, with magnificent head and antlers.

MOOSE HUNTS FOR HIS FOE

Mr. Van Ness fired, and the .44 slug struck the moose just above the shoulder, eliciting a deep bellow and a grunt. The moose paused a moment, sniffing the air, and then began racing around the deadfall in quest of his foe. Mr. Van Ness lost no time in crawling under the logs of the deadfall, and he declared that, notwithstanding his wound, the monster circled the deadfall twice at tremendous speed and once jumped clear over it. When the moose finally gave up the hunt Mr. Van Ness got back to camp in a hurry.

In 1894 another New York hunter saw the big moose near Soudanunk Lake, and fired .38 mushroom slugs into him without the least apparent effect. Then the moose charged, and there being no tree handy that was small enough to climb the hunter took refuge in a bear cave under a ledge, remaining there for an hour or more until the moose had business elsewhere. This hunter said at the time that the animal seemed to be fifteen feet to the shoulder points.

EX-PRESIDENT CASTRO MET WITH DEFEAT

London, Nov. 18.—The Venezuelan consul here received advices today from Caracas, informing him that Ex-President Castro, at the head of a considerable body of revolutionists, had met with a disastrous defeat near San Cristobal. Castro's whereabouts had been a matter of considerable uncertainty for several months. The Venezuelan censors have allowed little news of him or of the present revolutionary movement to sift through.
President Gomez has had 23,000 mobilized near the border, ready to fall on Castro, as soon as opportunity offered.

LAURA BIGGER SING AGAIN

Jersey City, N.J., Nov. 20.—A suit brought by Laura Biggar, the former actress, for an accounting of the estate of Henry Bennett, was called today before Vice Chancellor Garrison. Bennett, who was a prominent theatrical manager in Pittsburgh, died several years ago, leaving an estate estimated at $1,000,000. His will left Miss Biggar, who claims to be his widow, a 60 per cent interest in the estate. The death of Bennett was followed by much litigation which was supposed to be ended when the former actress settled her claim against the estate for $100,000. She now declares she was under duress when she made the settlement.

EDITOR CHARGED WITH MURDER

Dobson, N.B., Nov. 20.—Thomas W.
Kallam, charged with the murder of H. G. Whitaker, is to be tried at the November term of the Surrey County Court, which convened here today.
The killing occurred on the main street in Pilot Mountain, on October 12th last. Both men were prominent residents of Pilot Mountain. Whitaker was an attorney, while Kallam is an attorney and also editor of the local newspaper. Ill feeling is said to have existed between the two men for some time previous to the tragedy. It is understood that Kallam will make a plea of self defence, declaring that he shot Whitaker only after the latter had threatened him with a knife.
