MOTHERS! DO YOU KNOW

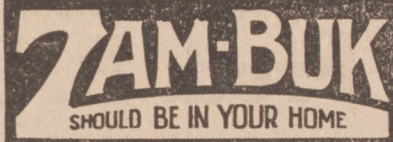

That when you put a salve onto your child's skin, it passes through the pores and enters the blood, just as surely as if you put it into the child's stomach?

You would not put a coarse mass of animal fat, colored by various mineral poisons (such as many crude salves are) into your child's blood by way of the stomach? Then why do so by way of the pores?

Take no risk. Use always the pure herbal essences provided in Zam-Buk. Zam-Buk contains no trace of any animal oil or fat, and no poisonous mineral coloring matter. From start to finish it is purely herbal.

It will heal sores, ulcers, abscesses, eruptions, varicose ulcers, cuts, burns and bruises more quickly than any other known preparation. It is a tincture, quickly stops the smarting of a sore or cut, cures piles, inflamed sores and blood-poisoning. It is a combination of healing power and scientific purity. Ask those who have provided it.

All druggists and stores 50c box or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

AMERICAN ROAD CONGRESS

Richmond, Va., Nov. 20.—If the good roads cause is to be advanced by the intelligent discussion of the subject by able men representing all sections of the country it is certain to receive a decided impetus from the American Road Congress, which met here today under the auspices of the American Association for Highway Improvement. The gathering will continue four days and will be addressed by many men of wide prominence.

LONGSHOREMEN ON STRIKE IN MONTREAL

Montreal, Nov. 17.—The Longshoremen of Montreal went on strike in a body today, demanding 50 cents an hour instead of the present 30 cent rate.

The final rush to clear the port is on and the situation is serious as indications are that winter will set in hard unusually early and insurance contracts expire Nov. 25.

The companies are endeavoring to take on cargoes and get the vessels away by setting sailors and stewards to work.

All the longshoremen to the number of nearly a thousand stopped work on the seventeen vessels now in port this afternoon and left the steamers to shift for themselves as best they might in unloading and getting cargo aboard in an effort to make a quick getaway before the official closed of navigation a week hence when insurance policies lapse.

STOKES CASE READY FOR TRIAL

New York, Nov. 20.—Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, the "show girls" who are charged with attempting to murder W. E. D. Stokes, the millionaire owner of the Ansonia Hotel, will be placed on trial this week in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court. The case already has claimed widespread attention and the trial doubtless will be followed with much interest. The shooting of Stokes occurred on June 6th last in the rooms occupied by the two young women in an uptown apartment house. The millionaire was shot three times and as a result was confined in the hospital for several weeks. The accused girls declared at the time that Stokes was endeavoring to recover a number of letters he had written to Miss Graham and that the shooting followed his attempt to take these by force. Stokes, on the other hand, maintained that Miss Graham and her friend endeavored to make him the victim of a blackmail plot and that he was deliberately shot when he refused to sign a check for $25,000.

THE DOUBLE CROSS

CHAPTER LIV.

TEN GENDARMES WITH LAN-TERNS.

I was glad, of course; yet I could not help feeling some chagrin at finding that the stranger had got ahead of me.

I covered my face with the cloak, inhaling its perfume, a certain perfume with which I was familiar. "Why!" I said to myself, "it is the perfume that always emanates from Felipa's own dear self."

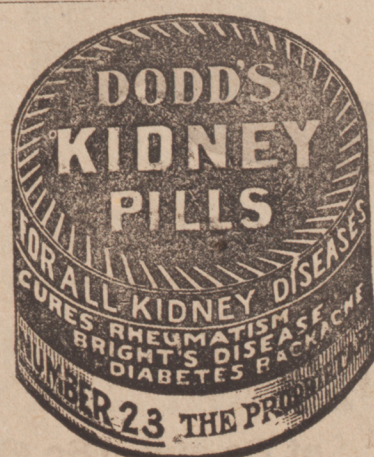

Whereupon I threw the cloak over my arm, determined to take it with me. And the mask? I folded it and put it in my pocket.

I could not account to myself for wishing to take these things away with me—perhaps it was an instinctive desire to shield the stranger, somehow, I knew not how; or perhaps it was because of the perfume of the cloak.

Joaquin moaned again. I rushed downstairs and found Yagui still holding Bartolome's wife helpless in his arms. Motioning to him to take his hand away from her mouth, I cried:

"Let her speak!" "I would have saved time for you, senor," she said, "had you permitted me to—tell you that the lady, the captain's wife, left here some minutes ago."

"Joaquin's wife!" I exclaimed, aghast. "Holy Virgin!" she cried. "Were they not married? The senor el capitán swore that she was his bride—" and that he wanted to hide her here for a day or two."

"Do you know?" I asked, "that the senor el capitán is upstairs—would he? No? Where is the senorita? Did she say where she would go? But she was not alone—a man was with her. Did you see his face?"

"I have seen no man but the senor el capitán," she asserted. "And the senorita said she would take a walk as far as the street of Jesus del Monte."

"The stranger's house!" I muttered.

Then to Yagui I said: "Run to the hospital and tell them to send here at once for the captain. Then make all haste up to Jesus del Monte Street—the second house from the Alameda—a fountain in front."

Without further word with Bartolome's wife I ran out and through the streets towards the stranger's bungalow.

Once there, I rushed in. Lights burned in every room and Romero came from his kitchen saying:

"To the hacienda, senor! The master took horse to the hacienda!"

"And the senorita? Did she seem ill, or excited? Was she hurt?"

"I did not see any senorita, senor." I ran into the room in which Felipa had slept that night when I too, slept in the bungalow. She was not there. I ran through the connecting door into the stranger's room. Something gleaming, on the dresser, caught my eye. I looked at it, fascinated. It was a stiletto—a beautiful weapon, with a handle of gold. Its blade was covered with blood.

I recognized that weapon as the one the stranger had flashed suddenly into sight the day I threatened to tear the mask from his face.

And now—again I could not account for my action—I put the stiletto in my pocket.

Then, with the cloak still over my arm and the mask and stiletto in my pocket, I stepped out of the sitting-room to learn that Romero had been watching my every movement, for he said:

"The master will thank you for bringing that knife to him, senor, for never before has he stepped out of the door with it. The car is ready, senor. Shall I take you to the hacienda, or to San Luis Felipe?"

FOLKS PAST FIFTY MUST USE CASCARETS

What glasses are to weak eyes Cascarets are to weak bowels—a 10 cent box will truly amaze you

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

ARREST IN QUEBEC ELECTION CASE

Quebec, Nov. 17.—Hon. L. P. Robitaille, of L'Evenement, who laid the charges of attempted bribery against Mr. Letourneau, M. L. A., and Mr. Depeyre, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of perjury, made by the above mentioned parties, in connection with their own arrest.

Mr. Robitaille was admitted to bail. His lawyer has obtained permission to lay an indictment against Messrs. Letourneau and Depeyre, before the grand jury, in consequence of the dismissal of the previous charges made against them, by the Judge of Sessions.

Kansas City's board of public welfare had $125,000 to spend during its first year of 1910, and this year has over $200,000. It has a free local aid bureau, logging house bureau and employment bureau.

Good conduct takes years to make an impression; but when it's bad it makes it right away.

The Ladies of Fredericton May Now Have Beautiful Hair. Ryan has the Article and Guarantees it to Grow Hair or Refund Your Money

Ryan, the Druggist, backed up by the manufacturers of SALVIA, the great Hair Grower, guarantees it to grow hair.

SALVIA destroys dandruff in ten days.

The roots of the hair are so nourished and fed that a new crop of hair springs up, to the amazement and delight of the user. The hair is made soft and fluffy. Like all American preparations SALVIA is daintily perfumed. It is hard to find an actress who does not use SALVIA continually.

Ladies of society and influence use no other.

SALVIA is a non-sticky preparation, and is the ladies' favorite. A large, generous bottle, 50c. The Seabell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Canadian distributors.

WANT ABROGATION OF PULPWOOD CLAUSE

(Canadian Press.)

Watertown, N. Y., Nov. 17.—Lumbermen and papermen, of New York State Forest Products Association, met here yesterday, when a resolution was adopted protesting against government entering into any further arrangements with any foreign country, whereby paper, pulpwood, and forest products should enter this country free of duty, and further requesting that the arrangements already made with Canada be abrogated at once, inasmuch as that country has failed to ratify the reciprocity agreement.

Other resolutions approved the policy of the state towards obtaining terminals for its waterways and the policy of Governor Dix in appointing a conservation commission.

HUMOR OF THE HOUR

He walked up to the counter of the great universal emporium facing the well-known and largely patronized A—hotel and stammered something about lace to the man behind the counter.

"Lace, sir," said the salesman. "Certainly, sir. We have the largest stock in the city. Will Valenciennes do you? Jones! Valenciennes forward!"

"But I only"—began the shopper. "Or perhaps some point lace? Our lace trade revolves very largely in the variety. Smith! Lace forward!"

"Well—er." "We have every variety, sir, don't you worry. We shall be able to suit you."

"I know, but"— "Here is the Valenciennes. Not what you require? Then what lace would you like sir?"

"I want a bootlace please!"—Till-Bits.

They stood on the curb at the busiest corner on Chestnut street. He wore a wrinkled low linen affair that generally advertised a traveller in a day coach, and on his hat was the thick dust of another country. Add ragged grey whiskers and you have the fellow whose picture in the comic papers is labelled "Si". His wife was with him, very much so, for they held each other hand in hand with a tight clutch. They were waiting for the tide of the traffic to thin out enough to let them across. But every time they attempted it a trolley car seemed to bear down on them. Several times they were stamped back to the curb, and they became convinced that the "motomen" were trying to mangle them under the wheels.

Suddenly the hawklike eye of the "farmer" discerned a chance. Tugging at his wife he said:

"Come on Sairy; here's a motomen ain't lookin'!"—Philadelphia Star.

What other Christmas present costs so little and means so much as a subscription to The Youth's Companion—52 weeks to any Canadian subscriber for $2.00? It is a gift which benefits not only the one who receives it, but every member of the household.

With many Christmas presents the sense of novelty wears off by the week's end, but The Youth's Companion is as new and sought after the fifty-second week of the year as the first. It is elastic in its adaptability, too; for it does not matter whether the present is for a boy or a girl, young married people, sedate couples, grand-parents—there never was one yet who did not set store by The Youth's Companion. You cannot make a mistake if you give The Companion—and it is only $2.00 a year now to Canadian subscribers. On January 1, 1912, the price will be advanced to $2.25.

The one to whom you give the subscription will receive free The Companion's Calendar for 1912, lithographed in ten colors and gold, and you, too, as giver of the subscription will receive a copy of the Calendar.

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

Use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and Your Gray Hair will Quickly Vanish.

Gray hair is a mark of age, and nothing that can be said as to its beauty will offset the disadvantages of this mark of age set upon your brow.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy darkens the hair and restores it to its youthful beauty. Our grandmothers and their grandmothers before them used sage and sulphur for darkening their hair. Nothing has ever been found more effective for this purpose than these two time-honored remedies, but Wyeth, a modern chemist, has combined the two with other ingredients, which makes a delightful dressing for the hair, and which not only removes every trace of dandruff but promotes the growth of the hair. It also stops the hair from falling out, and makes it beautiful.

All druggists are authorized to refund the money if it fails to do its exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair and don't resort to old time hair dyes. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

For Sale and Recommended by GEORGE Y. DIBBLEE, Druggist, Opposite City Hall, Special Agent.
