SUCCESSFUL MEN MUST BE CROOKED.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 31.—"No successful business man of these times can be honest," asserted Rev. Reginald John Campbell, of the City Temple, London, in a lecture here at the First Baptist Church.

"Conditions in the business world are such," he said, "that a business man must take gross advantage of his competitors or go to the wall. Competition is too keen."

"But it is owing to the system and not to the individual that this bad condition exists. I do not believe business men would be dishonest if they could be otherwise."

"The only hope for the world," Dr. Campbell added, "is Socialism, not the kind that throws bombs and that wrecks homes, but the modern belief that every man has a soul."

VIEW OF C.P.R.

Canadian Pacific was climbing. "Look at Canuck advance!" said one small trader to another.

"Why shouldn't it?" was the answer. "They haven't any fool Sherman-Hepburn laws in that country."

This from the New York Herald.

New York, Oct. 31.—There was much speculation in business circles in this city yesterday as to the extent of the fortune left by Joseph Pulitzer.

Bankers and business friends estimated it to be in the neighborhood of $50,000,000 to $60,000,000.

About ten years ago Mr. Pulitzer's estate was valued at $40,000,000, and since then, as a result of judicious investments, it is believed to have increased greatly.

HAS NO EQUAL

(Montreal Star)

Once more the splendid opportunities which are ever ahead of Canadians are brought vividly before the minds of the thinking public by the encouraging and authoritative words of Mr. John Ferguson, of the London branch of the bank of Scotland.

Mr. Ferguson who is now in New York preparatory to sailing for England, has travelled across the Dominion, and spent altogether about two months in this country. Previous to his visit he had a splendid statistical knowledge of this country, but had never seen in reality the busy and impressive panorama of Canadian industrial and agricultural life before. His expectations were more than realized, and he goes back to England with the avowed intention of advising his British friends to lose no time in working up Canadian investments, as this country presents prospects which, in this opinion, cannot be equalled anywhere.

Speaking of the West, Mr. Ferguson said that he was amazed at the rapidity in which the Canadian railways get their new lines into running shape. He had been on pieces of new road belonging to all three railways. He had heard people talk of rough roads, but he found none.

Having paid a visit to San Francisco and Seattle, this British banker was in a position to testify to the contrast presented by these cities in comparison with the busy and prosperous looking Canadian centres.

ONTARIO GAVE BORDEN BIG MAJORITY

(Toronto Globe)

Statisticians estimate from the election returns already received by the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery that the popular majority for the Conservative candidates in the recent general election will be about 35,000 and that the number of votes cast will total slightly over 1,200,000. This would give a popular majority of scant three per cent. This very small swing in the popular vote has produced a tremendous change in the number of members elected by each of the parties. When the house was dissolved the Liberals had a majority of 43. When Mr. Borden takes his seat as premier he will have a majority of 50. In other words a popular majority of three per cent gives him a majority in the commons of twenty-two per cent. It requires nothing more than the statement of the facts to prove that under the system of small single member constituencies the membership of Parliament has no adequate relationship to the votes actually cast. The dominant party is always greatly over-represented while the minority is far weaker in the House than in the country. This is not a condition peculiar to one party; it applies alike to Liberal and Conservative Administrations and presents a very strong argument for some sort of proportional representation that will prevent the conversion of a very small popular majority into an entirely overwhelmingly Parliamentary one.

Apart from the argument that warrants for readjustment of the basis of representation, the popular majority indicates that there were during the contest two very strong opposing tides of sentiment—one in Ontario, the other in the new Provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta. There is nothing at all phenomenal about the figures in the other Provinces. The Conservatives had popular majorities in Prince Edward Island, Manitoba and British Columbia. The Liberals had popular majorities in Quebec Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. It is when we come to look at the figures for Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta that the tides of sentiment are disclosed. The popular Conservative majority in this Province will not fall far short of 60,000. That is to say the country outside of Ontario gave a very considerable Liberal popular majority as well as a majority of members of Parliament. In Ontario the Conservative popular majority is not confined to any locality, but it is unquestionably strongest in and around Toronto. Two-thirds of Mr. Borden's popular majority throughout the Dominion came from the electors of Toronto.

Against this tremendous concentration of Conservative voting strength Liberals are entitled to set the equally remarkable display of Liberal sentiment in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta. The Regina Leader has been compiling the returns and points out that out of 89,035 ballots cast in the ten Saskatchewan seats the Liberal majority was 18,212, while the majority for reciprocity including the pro-reciprocity independents was 19,631. These are very remarkable figures, more so even than the Ontario returns. They indicate that low tariff sentiment is overwhelmingly strong among the wheat growers of Saskatchewan. In Alberta there are several incomplete returns, but the net Liberal majority will be about 7,426 and the reciprocity majority perhaps a thousand more.

When Mr. Borden's shrewd campaign managers look over the figures of the popular majority in each Province for one party or the other we will hear no more about tariff increases. The verdict against reciprocity is no warrant for three-emergence of the gentlemen who some time ago urged the Tory party to go in for a tariff as high as Hamans gal-lows.

READY TO RACE AT JAMESTOWN

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 1.—The Jamestown Jockey Club will begin its fall season of racing tomorrow, when the gates at the track will be opened for a thirty-day meeting. Many thoroughbreds seen recently at Pimlico, Laurel and elsewhere are now quartered at the Jamestown course, and applications for additional stable room are being received daily.

A number of valuable stakes are to be decided during the meet, the most notable among them being the Monticello handicap at one mile for all ages, the Exchange Handicap, at a mile and a sixteenth, for three year-olds and over; the Lynn Haven Handicap, a three-quarters of a mile dash for two-year-olds; a Thanksgiving selling race of one mile and a furlong for three-year-olds and over and the Merchants selling race, a six and a half-furlong affair for all ages.

THE LIGHT-HOUSE KEEPER'S STORY.

FROM the lighthouse at Lobster Cove Head, Bonne Bay, Newfoundland, Mrs. W. Young sends her experience of Zam-Buk.

She says: "I suffered with eczema for seven years and to my great delight Zam-Buk has cured me. The disease started on my breast, and spread until it extended over my back. The itching and burning—especially when the affected parts were warm—was terrible; and yet when the eruption was scratched or rubbed, it turned to bad sores and caused great pain. I went to a doctor and tried various prescriptions, but seemed to get no benefit, so tried another doctor. Again I got no relief, so tried a third doctor, and then a fourth.

"Seven years is a long time to suffer, and I had got used to the thought that I never would be cured, when I saw a report in the Family Herald, telling how beneficial Zam-Buk was in cases of skin disease.

"I bought some Zam-Buk, and from the use of the very first box I saw it was going to do me good. I persevered with it, and the improvement it worked in my condition was really wonderful.

"It eased the irritation, stopped the pain, and the sores began to dry up and disappear. In short, I found Zam-Buk all that was claimed for it and within a very short time it worked a complete cure in my case.

"Since that time I have recommended it for several other cases, and in each it has proved its wonderful merit.

REUNION OF TELEPHONE PIONEERS

Boston, Nov. 1.—Professor Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor, Theodore M. Vail, president of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company and a number of other men conspicuously identified with the history of the telephone and the development of the telephone business in America are coming to Boston tomorrow for the first reunion of the "Telephone Pioneers of America." This city where Professor Bell lived when he perfected the telephone and where the first practical exchange was established, was appropriately chosen as the first meeting place of the association. The reunion will last three days.
