JOE TINKER REINSTATED

"JOE" TINKER.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Joe Tinker has been reinstated.

Prior to the game with Brooklyn yesterday Manager Frank Chance and the great shortstop had a long conference in President Murphy's office, and when the door opened they were shaking hands, the past had been forgotten, the future was then the thing most interesting to both men and they were all smiles. Then came the announcement, "President Murphy makes it."

"Tinker has been reinstated," he said. "His fine has been remitted, and he will be in the game tomorrow against New York."

"We have come to an understanding," said Chance. "Both Tinker and I were hasty yesterday and after a night's sleep I view the situation differently. Jimmie Sheppard declares that he should have taken the first pop fly and that it was no fault of Tinker. As to the second fly, the confusion was explainable after thinking over the existing circumstances."

The New York Giants drilled out to the park before the game and seemed interested in Tinker's troubles.

"Too bad about Tinker," declared Arlie Latham to President Murphy. "Yes, that is unfortunate," added Muggsy McGraw. "It will weaken your team," added Big Chief Meyers.

"Yes, that's so," replied the little president. "But you see the whole matter has been fixed up, and he will play against you tomorrow."

Then the assembled Giants wondered ed away to their seats, saying nothing, but thinking a lot. They didn't believe abreach in the Cub line could be fixed up so quickly.

Give your servants GOLD DUST to clean with, treat them rightly and you will have few occasions to insert a "help wanted" ad

They say a good workman is known by his tools. You cannot expect your maid to keep everything ship-shape unless you give her every modern help. To keep house without GOLD DUST is to do work by hard, old-fashioned methods. For cleaning everything and anything about the house—from cellar to attic—GOLD DUST is worth its weight in gold. It cuts grease and dirt like magic, does away with scouring and scrubbing, and saves time and tempers.

Your servant can do more and better work and keep sweet with the aid of GOLD DUST in all household cleaning.
