Wall Paper

Some of the most artistic effects in wall paper are simple in character and moderate in price.

The accompanying illustration is an example of one of the many new ideas in "Home Decoration" for 1911.

The fact that we are making a special feature of Alfred Peas "Prize" Wall Papers is sufficient assurance that the styles are the latest and quality the best.

Samples and estimates cheerfully submitted upon request.

NEW COMMERCE COURT IN SESSION

FIRST MEETING OF THE NEW COMMERCE COURT.

Washington, D.C., March 18.—Members of the new Commerce Court, the last of the new courts created by Congress, met in the rooms of the Customs Court of Appeals for organization.

Regular sessions of the court will be held in Washington, but the powers of its judges may be exercised in any part of the United States.

Members of the Court are Judge Martin A. Knapp of New York, Judge Robert W. Archibald of Pennsylvania, Judge Julian W. Mack of Illinois, and Judge John W. Hunt of Montana.

SUFFRAGISTS HOPE
DESPITE REVERSE

New York, March 25.—Despite the defeat of two bills striking the word "male" from the suffrage clause of the State constitution by the Judiciary Committee of the Senate on Tuesday, leading woman suffragists of this city refused to admit yesterday that the suffrage cause was lost for this year. They insisted that their hopes that the remaining suffrage bill will be reported to the Legislature by the Judiciary Committee are as bright as ever.

At the headquarters of the woman suffrage party, in the Metropolitan Building there was agitation yesterday morning among the women, who, not realizing at first that there is still another bill to be passed upon, were convinced that the cause was without hope for the present session at Albany. Leaders of the movement soon explained that the Newcomb resolutions which were defeated were not really expected to be passed, but the Stillwell bill, which is a compromise of the two, will be reported to the Legislature.

"We have enough pledges from the members of those committees to assure the reporting of the bill," said Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, chairman of the woman suffrage party for Manhattan. "There was a good deal of opposition to the Newcomb bills for various reasons, but the woman suffrage party endorsed all the bills. The Stillwell bill, which is yet to be passed upon, alters the suffrage clause in the constitution as it now is only by striking the word 'male' from the constitution and adding 'except that a citizen by marriage only must have resided in the United States for five years.' It was the question of giving the alien women the vote which made many persons oppose the Newcomb bill."

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, head of the woman suffrage party in this city, said that she had not expected the Newcomb bills to pass, but that she had every expectation that the Stillwell bill will be reported.

Miss Harriet May Mills, president of the State Association for Woman Suffrage, who has been in Albany in the interest of the bills, also said yesterday that the Stillwell bill is the one on which the suffragists have chiefly centred their hopes and she believed it would pass.

"It doesn't matter which bill passes," said Miss Mary Garrett Hay, "so long as one does, and we believe it will. There were objections to the Newcomb bills because of the emigration clauses. Personally I approve of the old kind of woman suffrage bill, whose only provision was that the word 'male' be stricken from the constitution, but any suffrage bill is satisfactory."

Miss Hay was asked if the women believe that the Judiciary Committee of the Assembly might pass the Stillwell bill out of compliment to the women and with the understanding that the Senate committee would defeat it. This possibility she and all the rest of the suffragists interviewed refused to consider.

Besides the possibility that the Stillwell bill may be lost after a complimentary endorsement by one committee, there was a rumor yesterday emanating from the camp of Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, the active agent of the Equal Franchise Society and the political Equality Union in the presentation of the Newcomb bill, that the Stillwell bill will be defeated on the ground that it is unconstitutional because of its alien clause. Mrs. Blatch is still in Albany.

SANDYVILLE

Mar. 27.—The death of Mrs. William Collings occurred at her residence, Penniac Bridge, Saturday evening last. Mrs. Collings was a most estimable lady and her death will be regretted by a large circle of friends. She leaves three sons and two daughters to mourn their loss. Interment will be made at the Baptist cemetery.

The funeral of the late John Hatch took place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of his mother. Much sympathy is felt for his parents.
