HON. WILLIAM PUGSLEY

enter into an arrangement which ed by Messrs. Fielding and Paterson that the question of manufactured articles would never be considered, and that the Canadians were prepared only to enter into a discussion which would result in the renewal of the treaty of 1854, taking in but few additions. The speaker next went on to show that Messrs. Fielding and Paterson had not rushed into the matter of rearranging the tariff blindly as had been argued in some quarters, but on the other hand had given it long and earnest study. Before matters were finally arranged, he said, the Canadian commissioners would include manufactured articles as well as natural products. When the United States commissioners came to Ottawa, however, they were informed of the wishes of the different provinces and in this respect he was consulted as to what would be most desired by the people of New Brunswick. That which affected farm products, the fish, lumber and lime industries was his answer in the giving of which he knew that he was voicing the sentiments of his people. (Cheers.) He had received communications from the lumbermen urging a reduction of the duty on lumber. The fact that the repeal of the Fike law, which took place on August 3, would result in a duty of $1.25 being placed on lumber going into the United States was brought to his attention and it was pointed out that the same would have disastrous results.

"I felt that if we could get that duty of $1.25 removed," said Dr. Pugsley, "the lumbermen of the city and province would derive great benefits. I was highly pleased, then, when I learned that by the terms of the reciprocity pact the duty had been entirely removed off sawn lumber, and greatly reduced on planed lumber."

Continuing, he said he was informed that the duty on shingles, which had been increased from thirty to fifty cents, was striking a death blow to that industry. He was earnestly solicited to have this addition removed and he was glad to say that this had been accomplished.

In showing how it was important for the whole of the Dominion of Canada that the remission of the duty on lumber should have been secured, Dr. Pugsley quoted figures showing that during the year ending March 31, 1910, the exports of lumber from Canada to Great Britain amounted to $10,024,960 while the exports to the United States amounted to $23,927,619. Considering that, notwithstanding the fact that the English market was free, the amount of lumber shipped into the United States in the face of a duty was over twice as much as it was to the mother country, the speaker said it was easy to see how the great lumber interests of Canada would be effected by the adoption of the trade agreement.

"As I stated last Monday night, the United States commissioners made a reduction of $1,300,000, whereas Canada made no reduction whatever, because lumber has been coming into Canada free of duty for years. This was allowed because Canada was in need of the American southern pine and also because of the fact that so much lumber was needed for building purposes in western Canada."

THE HAY QUESTION.

Taking up the matter of hay, the speaker next clearly showed how, with a duty of $4 a ton, the farmers had shipped $1,400,000 worth of hay into the United States.

"With this duty removed," he

MR. BRYAN TO SPEAK HERE

Williams Jennings Bryan, three times presidential candidate of the Democratic party in the United States will speak in the City Opera House on September 11th. Mr. Bryan is touring Canada in the interests of the Y. M. C. A.

said, "think of what it will mean to the farmers of not only New Brunswick but of the whole Maritime Provinces."

Referring to the ridiculous and absurd arguments put up by opponents to the reciprocity pact he told how they go into the country and tell the farmers that the adoption of the agreement would spell ruin for them, for the American farmers would glut their local markets, and then how they turn around and come into the city and tell the consumers that with reciprocity the farmers would ship all their produce into the United States, thereby making the cost of living very great. In answer to these statements Dr. Pugsley said that the results were not going to work one way or the other but were going to bring about a steady and larger market, giving hope to the farmers and also an inducement to their children to remain in the country.

"While our opponents will admit that reciprocity will bring about prosperity, at the same time they argue that it ought not to be entered into because it will prove disastrous from an imperial standpoint, and inevitably result in annexation."

WELL ATTENDED RECIPROCITY MEETINGS HELD LAST NIGHT

The sweep of popular feeling in favor of reciprocity continues to sweep over York County. Last night four meetings were held in various parts of the county in the interests of Dr. A. B. Atherton and at all the attendance was large. A very noticeable feature of the reciprocity meetings has been the enthusiasm with which reciprocity has been endorsed by those who have in the past been known as Conservatives. In many cases the names of such electors have been placed on Dr. Atherton's nomination papers.

At Burt's Corner last night there was a crowded hall. The speakers were Dr. Atherton, Senator Thompson and Mr. Elwood Burt. The latter was the chairman and in an address of about twenty minutes in length, made some telling points for reciprocity. The meeting broke up with cheers for Dr. Atherton.

At Myshall Settlement Mr. Geo. F. Burden, Ex-M.P.P., and Mr. P. J. Hughes addressed a large audience on the issues of the campaign. Mr. Henry Myshall was in the chair. Kingsclear Parish is quite evidently solid for reciprocity.

At Penniac another rousing meeting was held, Ex-Coun. C. N. Goodspeed being in the chair and himself delivering a telling speech. Himself a practical farmer, he was in a position to tell facts concerning the benefits the agricultural interests would gain from reciprocity. Mr. J. D. Phinney, N. W. Brown and Mr. Alex. Gibson, Jr., ex-M.P.P., also spoke.

At Royal Road the speakers were Messrs. S. B. Hatheway and R. W. McLellan. The reciprocity agreement from the view point of the lumberman and the farmer was fully discussed. The meeting broke up with hearty cheers for Dr. Atherton and Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Mr. William Grannen was chairman.
