"The Little Millionaire," George Cohan's latest musical play has more than fulfilled expectations as to its success. Josephine Whittell the prima donna of the cast is a young California girl.

The curate had fallen on the performance of the amateur theatrical company, and compliments, wise and otherwise, were flying freely. The well-meaning young man approached his hostess.

Suffered With Nerve Trouble For Two Years.

IT WAS IMPOSSIBLE FOR HIM TO SLEEP.

Diseases of the nervous system are very common. All the organs of the body may be sound while the nervous system alone may be diseased, therefore it is necessary for anyone suffering from any nervous trouble to procure a remedy which will at once quieten the nerves and build up the system.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will do this for you, providing you give them a fair trial.

Mr. Chas. W. Wood, Montreal, Que., writes:—"For two years I had suffered with nerve trouble, and it was impossible for me to sleep. It did not matter what time I went to bed, in the morning I was even worse than the night before. I consulted a doctor, and he gave me a tonic to take a half hour before going to bed. It was all right for a time, but the old trouble returned with greater force than before. One of the boys, who works with me, gave me half a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I took them and I got such satisfaction that I got another box, and before I finished it I could enjoy sleep from 10 p.m. until 6 a.m., and now feel good."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PARALYSIS PREVENTS RILEY FROM WRITING

(Canadian Press)

Indianapolis, Nov. 29.—James Whitcombe Riley has written his last line. The paralytic stroke which has crept down his arm has at last reached his right hand and made it impossible for him to use a pen. He was asked to write a Christmas poem this week, but declined.

St. Thomas, Nov. 29.—Fire late last night did $2,000 damage to the plant of the St. Thomas Pocking Company here. The blaze is thought to have originated from sparks thrown by a witch engine.

GERMAN PRESS COMMENT IS RATHER PESSIMISTIC

DEBATE IN LORDS

Berlin, Nov. 28.—The afternoon newspapers which published the full text of the speeches delivered yesterday in the house of commons by Sir Edward Grey and Mr. Asquith are rather pessimistic as to the chances that they will improve Anglo-German relations, although they consider that it is not necessary that they will make them worse.

According to the Lokal Anzeiger the speeches of the British cabinet minister show that "English policy continues to follow the same old course. Sir Edward Grey does not make any further attack on Germany, but he has not diminished the unfriendly effect of the actions which occurred in the summer."

The Tageblatt says: "Sir Edward Grey and Mr. Bonar Law were right in saying that an Anglo-German war would be so terrible that it should never be considered avoidable. All reasonable people are sure that it is avoidable, but peace depends on the spirit not only of German but of English policy."

The Verssische Zeitung says: "As for the past Sir Edward Grey confirms rather than denies Captain Walter V. Fabre's assertion made in the house of commons on Nov. 17, that England had planned to land 150,000 troops on the continent against Germany. In regard to the future, actions must speak louder than words."

Another newspaper advises that the world should wait and see whether Sir Edward's phrases as to England's desiring to hamper Germany will be repeated should Germany seek to acquire a coaling station or a naval base on the coast of East Africa.

The Koelsche Zeitung, in a leading article says: "It cannot be said that the measures and forms chosen by English ministers during the summer tended to bring the relations of the two countries on to a better footing. Even this shows rather how deeply rooted are the opposing views of the two countries. English leaders in their blind partisanship adopted the French side. Let us forget the past and hope for the fulfillment of British assurances that German affairs will now be judged more justly in England."

London, Nov. 23.—The House of Lords tonight discussed Anglo-German affairs, without arriving at any fresh revelations. Lord Courtney, Liberal, attacked the government, and Lord Morley, of Blackburn, and Lord Lansdowne, defended it.

Lord Courtney desired to know why Great Britain could not come to an arrangement with Germany as she did with France, Russia and the United States. He declared that Chancellor Lloyd George had made an outburst of which no Englishman could be proud. That, naturally promoted ill-feeling in Germany and brought the country into real peril of war.

Viscount Morley said that the contents of 1904 was an agreement that Great Britain should have a free hand in Egypt, and France a free hand in Morocco. Great Britain had had her share of the profits, and it would be intolerable if they refused France hers.

"The whole nation," continued Lord Morley, "immensely desires friendship with Germany. There is no reason why the German naval programme should diminish the desire, but we must consider all the circumstances."

He declared that Sir Edward Grey had said everything possible to encourage better feeling. No cabinet ever met with more intent of not drifting into a single unnecessary antagonism.

The Marquis of Lansdowne, leader of the opposition, said that the contents would remain a dominant factor in Great Britain's foreign policy.

"You played the heroine's part magnificently," Mrs. Portleigh, he said gushingly as he bowed before her. "You're too kind, Mr. Rasleigh," replied the good lady, who would never see 40 again. "But I'm afraid you're only flattering. A young and pretty woman should really have taken the part."

The Rayo Lamp

It Never Flickers

The long winter evenings give a woman a splendid chance for sewing or embroidery; but her eyes suffer from the strain unless she has a good light.

The Rayo is the best lamp made.

It gives a strong, diffused light that is remarkably easy to the eyes. There is no glare to it; no flicker. It lights up a whole room.

The Rayo is an economical lamp, too.

You get the most possible light-value for the oil burned; and the Rayo itself is a low-priced lamp. Yet it is a handsome lamp—an ornament to any room in the house.

The Rayo Lamp is easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and rewick. Made of solid brass, nickel-plated; also in numerous other styles and finishes.

Ask your dealer to show you his line of Rayo lamps; or write for descriptive circular to any agency of

KINGSTON PRELATE CONSECRATED

Kingston, Nov. 30.—In the presence of a great gathering of prelates and priests from various points in Canada and the United States and of the Catholic laity of this city the Most Rev. M. J. Spratt, formerly of Belleville was today consecrated as head of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Kingston, succeeding Archbishop Gauthier. The consecration took place in St. Mary's Cathedral and was one of the most brilliant ceremonies of its kind ever witnessed here. The consecrating prelate was the apostolic delegate to Canada, Mgr. Stagni of Ottawa, who was assisted by several archbishops and bishops of Ontario and Quebec.

THANKSGIVING IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30.—Thanksgiving Day was observed in accordance with time-honored custom, religious services and deeds of charity having their usual prominent place in the quiet routine of events. The dinner at the White House was purely a family affair. Several notable dinner parties marked the day within the cabinet circles and open house was kept by many of the senators and representatives who have arrived in town in anticipation of the opening of the congressional session.

EDUCATORS MEET IN HOUSTON

Houston, Texas, Nov. 30.—Noted educators from sixteen States, among them numerous university heads and State superintendents, were on hand today at the opening of the annual convention of the Southern Educational Association. Following the exchange of greetings which marked the opening of the general sessions the association listened to addresses by Dr. A. E. Winship of Boston, President H. H. Cherry of the Western State State Normal School of Kentucky, President H. L. Whitfield of the Mississippi Industrial Institute, and Dr. John W. Abercrombie, former president of the University of Alabama.

ALBERTA TO DEVELOP RAILWAYS

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 30.—The legislative assembly of Alberta was opened this afternoon by the Lieutenant-Governor, the event being attended by the customary ceremonies. The session promises to be one of more than ordinary importance. The leading feature of the legislative programme will be Premier Sifton's policy of northern railway development. The plan proposes to provide to the fullest extent the opening up of the undeveloped resources of the northern country.
