AN AMERICAN OPINION

There is in the United States no journal with broader horizon or saner judgment than The Outlook of New York, of which Dr. Lyman Abbott is editor-in-chief. Its editorial comment on the recent elections in Canada represents the views of the best and most enlightened classes of Americans.

"The Liberal government had identified itself with the policy of reciprocity with the United States; and it was Sir Wilfrid Laurier's bold espousal of the cause of freer commercial relations between the two countries that led to his political downfall. He is the foremost public man in the history of the Dominion, the one public man of today in Canada who has a world-wide reputation. His breadth of view, his conception of his country's political integrity and its command of its own future, and his broad and statesmanlike grasp of what ought to be and what will be, in spite of temporary setbacks like that of the other week, the free and friendly relations of that country and ours, have made him many enemies. He fought a gallant fight against various commercial, industrial and transportation interests, against old-time prejudices and a recrudescence of antagonism to the United States. Much was made of the matter of annexation, which every sane Canadian who knows anything about the sentiment in this country must have known was the grossest kind of political imposture. Unfortunately, the speaker of our House of Representatives, who, like many other American public men, is not always a responsible statesman, gave occasion for the revival of this old-time cry by what he probably meant to be a humorous remark. The rapidly dying antagonism between the Dominion and the United States was revived; many bitter things were said about Americans, and many ungracious things about President Taft—statements so wide of the mark that to all who know the President they bordered on the burlesque. This ebullition of bad feeling is of only passing importance. It partially explains the Liberal defeat; it does not touch the permanent relations between the two countries. Their destiny is not only to divide the work and development of the continent between them, but to act in peaceful co-operation; and shortsighted politicians on either side of the line can only temporarily defeat that destiny. President Taft has expressed his disappointment at the result; but the campaign in both countries has been educational in an uncommon degree, and the permanent outcome can hardly be doubted. After fifteen years of service as Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier retires with the respect and confidence of all Americans who have been familiar with his broad and statesmanlike course, his high character, and his charming personality. Others who served their country well will retire. Among them none is better known in the United States than the minister of labor, W. L. Mackenzie King, who secured for Canada international distinction in the movement for the rational solution of labor disputes. Commenting on the above, The Toronto Globe says:

"We recommend those words of calmness and prudence to all Liberals in Canada who for the moment were led away by the appeals of those who, as Sir Oliver Mowat warned us twenty years ago, 'had an interest in deceiving' the people of Canada into fearing annexation."

will like the fine flavor of Red Rose Tea. It has the cup goodness that comes only from Red Rose quality—the reason why it holds first place in thousands of Canadian homes. Will you try it.

as an even possible outcome of better trade relations with the United States. As the days go by Liberals and non-party men, and even thoughtful Conservatives, will come to find out that they were deceived, wickedly and shamefully deceived, by men who posed as patriots, but who secretly played with Canada's most sacred imperial trust for the sake of personal or party advantage. When the Canadian nation is fully grown up such appeals will be unavailing. Our hope is that The Outlook may be fully justified in saying that "this ebullition of bad feeling is of only passing importance, and does not touch the permanent relations between the two countries." That "bad feeling" triumphed for even a moment is scarcely to Canada's national credit."

Reports from Chipman, Queens county state that the most flagrant corruption was carried on at that poll in the interests of the Tory candidate at the recent elections. Chipman has always been a strong Liberal parish, but on this occasion, the Tories made a dead set upon it and by employing the most disgraceful methods were able to reduce the Liberal majority to sixty-seven.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, the President Sir Thomas Shaughnessy in his address complained that too much government aid had been granted to other roads. This is probably one reason why the C. P. R. offered such strenuous opposition to the government in the recent election.

If Premier Hazen is taken into the Borden cabinet the Liberals if they follow a Tory precedent will oppose his election to parliament. In 1836 when Hon. A. G. Blair resigned the premiership to become minister of Railway he sought election in Sunbury and Queens and was opposed by Mr. R. D. Wilnot and the present premier of the province was one of the latter's most active supporters.

Tory newspapers are telling us that there is to be an important announcement very soon concerning the St. John Valley Railway. We were told by the same authority three weeks ago that the contract was to be signed within ten days.

It is refreshing to see our old friend the City Clerk again taking an active interest in politics after a respite of fifteen years and four months. At present he is acting as associate counsel for Mr. Shipp in the Sunbury Queens election case.

The latest advices from Ottawa state that Premier Hazen has the inside track over Crockett and Fowler in the race for a portfolio in the Borden cabinet.

Mr. W. T. White of Toronto, a Liberal who broke with his party on the reciprocity issue, is being boomed for the portfolio of finance in the Borden cabinet.

An Ottawa despatch states that Sir Thomas Taft is likely to be appointed head of the I. C. R. Board of management.

It is beginning to look as if Mr. D. S. Crockett will continue to hold down one of the back benches at Ottawa.

DEFENCE IN RUSSELL CASE LAURIER CABINET WILL

ness called was Seifred Bush, Mr. Russell's secretary, who stated that on various trips with Mr. Russell, the latter seemed to have been under the impression that he was being plotted against, and that he was continually talking about plots against him, and taking all sorts of precautions to avoid being poisoned or knocked on the head.

Chief Carpenter was on the stand nearly all day, his evidence occupying almost the entire afternoon session. Mr. Greenshields, whom Mr. Russell suspected of being behind the series of alleged plots against him, was on the stand in the morning and denied all connection with the case.

CHIEF CARPENTER'S STORY.

Chief Carpenter told of his giving a revolver to Mr. Russell when he believed him to be in danger and before hearing it stated that he was mentally deranged. He also told of Mr. Russell telling him of alleged plots against him and of going to New York with Mr. Russell, who was tracing Mr. Patterson, whom he believed to have attempted the badger game against him.

Chief Carpenter further declared that he had never been paid by Russell for any work he had done for him nor had he received money from the Pinkertons. He had gone to New York with Mr. Russell because Mr. Russell had persuaded him that a crime had been committed and attempted against him in Montreal and it was his business to follow up cases originating in Montreal. The testimony of Chief Carpenter and Detective Gorman, who was also on the stand, cleared up somewhat the question of the mysterious telegrams produced at the opening of the trial. The telegrams referring to the revolver and of taking the bullets from the gun addressed to "G" were in reference to the gun given Russell by Carpenter and Rere sent to Detective Gorman, who was sleeping near Russell's room to protect him from alleged conspirators after Chief Carpenter had been brought to believe that Russell was mentally deranged.

LITTLE CHANGE TODAY IN STOCK MARKET

Stock Market, New York, N. Y., Oct. 5.—The Market in the first half hour was inclined to weakness and the only support rendered was that given on a scale down which neither intimidated bear selling or induced buying from any source. U. S. Steel broke through the support rendered to it at 58½ and traders were inclined to take pessimistic view of conditions in the trade. Wednesday's little boom in Brooklyn Rapid Transit ended by leaving a thin market for that issue after opening at 74½ the stock fell to 73½ on next sale which amounted to only 100 shares.

CREATOR OF "LADY AUDLEY'S SECRET"

London, Oct. 4.—Receiving congratulations from several generations of women and girls who have wept over the sorrows of the misguided heroine of "Lady Audley's Secret," the famous novelist, Miss Baddon (Mrs. John Maxwell), today observed her seventy-fifth birthday anniversary at her home at Richmond, one of the loveliest spots on the River Thames. Since she first began writing in 1850 a total of seventy novels, besides a large number of short stories and several dramas, have come from Miss Braddon's pen. The table on which she writes is the one on which Wellington wrote his dispatch describing the battle of Waterloo.

1744—British man-of-war Victory wrecked off the Isle of Alderney, with loss of 1160 lives.
1787—Gen. Arthur St. Clair was made first governor of the Northwest Territory.
