

In the New Home

You want the best when starting in the new home. Above all, you want that home to be snug and warm and comfortable. You are sure of warmth and comfort with a Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater.

The Perfection is the best and most reliable heater made. It is a sort of portable fireplace.

It is ready night and day. Just strike a match and light the wick. The Perfection is all aglow in a minute.

The Perfection Oil Heater does not smell nor smoke—a patent automatic device prevents that. It can be carried easily from room to room and is equally suitable for any room in the house. Handsomely finished, with nickel trimmings; drums of either turquoise-blue enamel or plain steel.

HOKE SMITH GIVES UP GOVERNORSHIP

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 15—Hoke Smith retired from the governorship of Georgia today, preparatory to taking up his duties as United States senator, to which office he was elected by the last legislature. Three aspirants are in the race for governor to fill out the unexpired term. The selection will be determined by the Democratic primary early in December.

SESSION OF PARLIAMENT WILL BE IMPORTANT ONE

(Montreal Witness.)

The twelfth parliament of Canada will be opened this week under conditions that will make the event more noteworthy than any of its predecessors. There will be a new governor-general and there will be a new governor-general, and that governor-general a prince of the blood. Canadians are proud of the fact that there now resides at Ottawa a member of that royal family to which they are so deeply attached—the only surviving son of the beloved Queen Victoria—and when the Duke of Connaught rides forth in state to open the King's Canadian parliament there will be thousands to cheer him and his consort and to witness the pageantry that, even under our democratic form of government, is inseparable from royalty. Though but a few weeks on Canadian soil, their royal highnesses have already established themselves in the hearts of the people with whom they have, so far, come in contact. There was a welcome awaiting the Duke, not only because he is the uncle of our King, but because he is one of the greatest servants of our empire.

Next to the royal pair and their spectacular entourage, interest at the opening will centre around the Hon. Robert Laird Borden, who will for the first time meet the House as prime minister. For fifteen years, the country has been accustomed to see in the prime minister's seat the dignified and picturesque figure of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The fortune of war has dispossessed Sir Wilfrid, but all Canadians are glad that he has seen to victory. He will be in the seat of him who has for a dozen years been his great protagonist on the floor of the House and on the hustings. Whatever may be the weaknesses of either party, it is gratifying that each has its head a man who is personally and politically above suspicion. No country can boast of men in public life of higher type than Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. R. L. Borden.

Around Mr. Borden, on what are called the treasury benches, though they are not benches at all but armchairs with desks in front of them, will be found as members of his government many who for the first time will face a legislative body as ministers of the crown. To Mr. Borden himself that experience falls and it is shared by Messrs. Doherty, Burrell, Monk, Hughes, Nantel, Perley, Crothers, Reid and Kemp. But one has ever before been a member of the federal government, Mr. Foster, who was minister of finance in the government which went down to defeat when Laurier's star was in the ascendant, in 1896. One provincial premier, Mr. Hazen, has left the New Brunswick legislature for the wider field of politics and Mr. Cochrane and Mr. Rogers have relinquished portfolios in provincial governments, Ontario and Manitoba respectively, to take up work national instead of provincial in scope. One minister, Mr. Pelletier, held portfolios in previous governments of the province of Quebec. The only representative that the government will have in the senate, at the opening, will be Senator Loughheed, who, though a member of the upper House for a long time, has had no experience as a cabinet minister. To Mr. White the unique honor belongs of having taken the oath as a minister of the crown before ever having been elected in any legislative capacity. Those members of the government who do not yet hold seats in the House will have no part in its deliberations until the House is properly constituted and the speaker installed.

The House being duly constituted Mr. Speaker will then be competent to open his official letters and the first of these will doubtless be from enough members resigning their seats in safe constituencies to make room for the ministers who are still without any. The self-sacrificing M.P.'s who resign will doubtless be consoled with a lieutenant-governorship or a seat in the senate, where such worries as elections are unknown.

Soon after the opening the House must vote "supply," that is, money enough to pay the ordinary expenses of Miss Canada's establishment, which is now-a-days a pretty extensive one. It was the failure of the last House to pass "supply" that made it necessary for the government to go to the country and since dissolution the necessary expenses have been met by the governor-general's warrant. This is only done in case of emergency and when parliament is in session it must arrange its own financial affairs without the intervention of His Royal Highness.

The debate on the speech from the throne will be the first opportunity for showing the real fighting strength of the House, although it goes without saying that the division, if it ensues, will be on strict party lines and the address will be carried by a majority equal to that already claimed for the government.

The trial of strength during the coming session will really be on the navy question. Will the matter be submitted to the electors? Will the construction of the dozen vessels contemplated by the Laurier government proceed? Will the youthful Canadian navy meet with an untimely end, and will Canada send a money contribution to the British admiralty? These are the great rocks that are ahead of the Borden administration. Containing, as the cabinet does, those who have publicly insisted upon widely divergent views on the matter if Canada's share in imperial defence, it will require all Mr. Borden's statesmanship to prevent a breach. Those who know him best claim to have no fear of the result, although none of them predict with much certainty which course he will pursue. Some of them favor the referendum as being the quickest and surest way of settling a question that is, otherwise, apt to be a thorn in the side of the government for some time to come.

Of course there will be the reviving of some of the alleged scandalous acts of the administration that is no more. There will probably be investigations galore and the country as a whole hopes that the new broom which sweeps clean will be strongly in evidence, for it seems inevitable that, no matter which party is in power, the ship of state must of necessity attach to itself myriads of barnacles that clog its progress. The late government's policy in regard to the National Transcontinental Railway will come in for some criticism, as will the Hon. Mr. Cochrane's attitude in stopping work on some sections as soon as he reached power.

Altogether one of the liveliest sessions for many a day may be anticipated. The west will bulk large in the deliberations of the new House. The borders of Manitoba must be extended and the increase in population in that and the newer provinces will naturally lead to demands that parliament will have to listen to. The Hudson's Bay Railway is one of the things that is not so far off perhaps as most people imagine. Alberta and Saskatchewan will probably want their constitutions amended, giving them wider powers than as baby provinces, they possessed. But what will be the first really big job of the Borden government? There are those who prophesy that it will be the Georgian Bay Canal, which is bound to come sooner or later, and has been talked of for fifteen or twenty years. What ever the "big job" turns out to be it will be preceded by a warm discussion in the House. It will most likely be something to which the late government had given some consideration and of such projects those of the ex-ministers who still have seats in the House may be relied upon for some frank criticism. Some of them will have expert knowledge.

Among other matters which the country expects to see brought before parliament this session will be Civil Service reform; amendments to the Bank Act; legislation to regulate the formation of mergers and watering of stocks; the establishment of a permanent tariff board; measures to encourage co-operation so that consumers may be less at the mercy of the middlemen.

These are a few of the things that the electors anticipate. Just how many will form the subject of debate this session will depend on two things—how far the new government is prepared to go in the matter of constructive legislation, and how many pages of Hansard the gentlemen occupying the back benches in the House will monopolize. Just how much can be done in the latter direction was shown, at enormous expense to the country, during the closing session of the last parliament.

I Am Willing To Prove I Can Cure You To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of this medicine, and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, a gift from me to the Uric Acid sufferers of the world, so I can show them where and how they may be cured. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years—a quarter of a century—I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of stubborn, chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney backache, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is hard to convince people—they try a few things unsuccessfully and give up all hope and refuse to listen to anyone thereafter. Happily, I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers at my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out; I don't ask them to believe me, nor even take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To do this I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I shall know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended, I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will write me I will gladly send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write me about as follows: "Dear Dr., I notice symptoms number"—here put down the numbers, give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 834 Frazer Building, Toronto, Can.

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause, for the package of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From any standpoint you view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering who sent you the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will do that; I am promising to send any sufferer who writes me a box of this medicine and full directions free of charge, and I will do that.

DR. T. FRANK LYNOTT who is giving away $10,000 worth of medicine.

I can say further that this medicine has been vouched for according to law as complying in every detail with all requirements. It will stop rheumatism, it will stop pain and backache, it will stop too frequent desire to urinate; it will heal, soothe and strengthen. You will be better in every way for having taken it. There is not an ingredient that can injure; not one but will benefit. All that I ask is that you use it yourself so that you may be personally convinced.

Owing to the large number of requests, I have had ten thousand more copies of my medical book printed. This book is new and up to date and contains complete descriptions, symptoms, causes, effects and cures of kidney, bladder and rheumatic diseases. All who write for the free medicine will be sent a copy of this grand illustrated medical book—the largest ever written on these diseases for free and general distribution.

If you need medicine such as I have, if you are anxious to be cured and don't want to spend any money LOOKING for cures, write me. Read the symptoms over and let me hear from you today.

These Are the Symptoms:

- 1-Pain in the back.
- 2-Too frequent desire to urinate.
- 3-Burning or obstruction of urine.
- 4-Pain or soreness in the bladder.
- 5-Prostatic trouble.
- 6-Gas or pain in the stomach.
- 7-General debility, weakness, dizziness.
- 8-Pain or soreness under right rib.
- 9-Constipation or liver trouble.
- 10-Pain in the hip joint.
- 11-Pain in the neck or head.
- 12-Pain in the knee joints.
- 13-Pain or swelling of the joints.
- 14-Soreness or aching of the muscles.
- 15-Pain and soreness in nerves.
- 16-Acute or chronic rheumatism.
