

An English Chemist Has Discovered How to Grow Hair

In England the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing hats, which is due entirely to this new discovery. It has been proven that Henna leaves contain the ingredients that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long-sought-for article is proven every day.

The Americans are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from Henna leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale.

This preparation is called SALVIA and is being sold with a guarantee to cure Dandruff and to grow hair in abundance. Being daintily perfumed, SALVIA makes a most pleasant hair dressing. Ryan, your druggist is the first to import this preparation into Fredericton and a large, generous bottle can be purchased for 50c.

DR. McDONALD TALKS ON ARBITRATION TREATY

New York, Dec. 14.—Stating that war was unsettling to business interests and led to an adverse effect on the physical well being of future generations, Dr. J. A. Macdonald, managing editor of The Toronto, Ont., Globe, urged those present at the fifth annual convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents here today to use their influence towards the enactment of the proposed Anglo-American Arbitration Treaty.

"On this continent two nations of the English-speaking family live now and have lived for a hundred years in a fraternity which is the model and the inspiration for all other nations of the world," said Dr. Macdonald. "On neither side of an international boundary of nearly four thousand miles is there a fort or battleship. Because of this freedom from menace there has been freedom from war. What now needs to be done is to abolish not only the fact but the fear of war. To do that is the purpose of the treaty of arbitration, now pending before the Senate at Washington."

"In the war councils of the nations money speaks with final authority. Was it not one of the chief New York financiers who said that twenty-four hours of the Venezuela war scare meant a loss of two billion dollars? What happened only the other day when war talk waxed high and hot between Germany and Britain? Who called a halt? Sir Edward Grey, or Lloyd George, or the German Chancellor? No! It was the omnipotent House of Finance."

"Be that as it may, certain it is that for you who hold in trust the vast funds of life insurance companies peace means prosperity, and even the rumor of war means disturbance and loss. War anywhere endangers the securities everywhere. I speak not with the authority of your first-hand knowledge and experience, but do I not speak the unquestioned truth when I say that, of all men, you who are responsible for the earnings and savings of millions of trusting people are bound to be pledged and unfaltering advocates of international peace. The full power of your personal influence and of your associated efforts must be behind the proposed arbitration treaty under which independent judicial processes and not war shall determine international disputes. In your judgment no lofty notions of senatorial function and dignity shall interfere or block the way to the fraternity of the nations. Not only for the honor and the civilization of America, but for the sake of your own great trust—the insurance investments of your millions of policy-holders—international arbitration claims your vote."

"But to you an argument other and more appealing than the financial must come home. You and all your companies are deeply interested in the physical and moral improvement of all the people. Every influence making for the deterioration of the race is inimical to life insurance business. The spread of disease, the multiplication of the unfit, and whatsoever lowers the vitality or tends to physical and more degeneration are forces working against the very interests which you are banded together to conserve and to promote."

"Have you seriously considered the reflex influence of war on the physical life and moral progress of the nation? Estimate the inevitable results of killing off in battle or by disease your men of high courage and devotion, or of segregating in military camps tens of thousands of the fit specimens of your young manhood. Judge what it means to breed a new generation from less than the best of the generation that went before."

President W. A. Day of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, said that one hundred million dollars is annually wasted in the business of life insurance in this country and that the policy-holders themselves are directly responsible for a large proportion of this waste. He urged that all representative companies unite in a campaign of education to overcome this loss.

"In European countries the people are slow to insure, but when once insured they hold fast to their policies," said Mr. Day. In America the people take insurance lightly and give it up lightly.

LISTEN TO US

"We are only little ones, but we know Zam-Buk eased our pain and cured our sores. Perhaps it would cure you, too, if you tried it?"

Isn't this sound advice from "babes and sucklings?" Take it! The speakers are the children of Mrs. L. Webster, of Seymour St., Montreal, and the mother adds weight to their appeal. She says: "My little girl contracted scalp disease at school. Bad germs formed all over her head, and not only caused the child acute pain but made her very ill. The sores discharged, and occurring on the scalp we feared she would lose all her hair. She was in a pitiable plight when we tried Zam-Buk, but a few days' treatment with this balm gave her ease. Then the sores began to heal, and we continued the Zam-Buk treatment. In a short time she was quite healed. "My little boy sustained a serious scald on the neck. It set up a bad sore, and quite a few things we tried failed to heal it or give him ease. Once more we turned to Zam-Buk, and we were not disappointed. It acted like a charm in drawing away the pain, and soon healed the wound."

Zam-Buk is "something different" in the way of balms. It contains powerful healing herbs, which, as soon as applied to skin diseases, kill off the germs and end the painful smarting. Other essences contained there stimulate the cells that new healthy tissue is specially formed. Eczema, itch, ulcers, cold sores, abscesses, festering sores, blood poisoning, chronic wounds, cold cracks, etc., are healed and cured in this way. Use it for all skin injuries and diseases. It is also of great service for piles. All druggists and stores at 50 cents box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

WARRINER WANTS OUT

Columbus, O., Dec. 14.—The State pardon board at its meeting tomorrow is expected to consider and act upon an application for the parole of Charles L. Warriner, who was sentenced to six years in the penitentiary following his confession to having misappropriated $643,000 of the funds of the Big Four railroad. Warriner was for many years local treasurer of the Big Four at Cincinnati. His arrest and trial, in which evidence was introduced to show that Warriner had given alleged "hush money" in large amounts to Mrs. Jeannette Stewart Ford, attracted country-wide attention. With the usual allowance of time off for good behavior Warriner would complete his sentence in three years nine months and eighteen days. He has now been in the penitentiary two years. During the whole of that time he has occupied one of the best clerical positions in the main office of the prison.

There are some people who would not mind paying 10c for a box of sanitary cotton and send them to a man in a diamond jeweller's box.
