Could Not Sweep Floor

Three Boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills Cured Her

It is hard to do housework with a weak and aching back.

Backache comes from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered if they get out of order.

Weak back is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney trouble.

Mrs. N. Larmour, Smith's Falls, Ont., writes:—"I take pleasure in writing you, stating the benefit I have received by using Doan's Kidney Pills. About a year ago I was terribly afflicted with lame back and was so bad I could not even sweep my own floor. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, which I did, and with the greatest benefit. I only used three boxes and I am as well as ever. I highly recommend these pills to any sufferer from lame back or kidney trouble."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

above the estimates and the reason for the increase was the fact that the list handled by the vendor making the large increase in the purchase necessary.

For Public Works there had been expended $63,443.26 above the estimates. The estimated expenditure for stumping collection was $20,000 which proved $7,909.62 below the actual expenditure. The cost of collection of the stumpage must necessarily increase with the expansion of the receipts from stumpage due. The government had been pleased to put the scalers on a basis whereby they would get a fair day's pay for an honest day's work. The amount paid the scalers had been increased from five to seven cents per thousand. Under the old system the scalers were out on too large a district in order that, at the amount paid, they might receive good wages.

Summing up, he was glad to say that with an actual revenue for the year of $1,324,440.05 there had been an actual expenditure of $1,317,876.42 and this left a nice tidy surplus of $6,563.63.

Mr. Copp—Aren't you borrowing the surplus instead of the phrase?

Hon. Mr. Flemming—If my hon. friend is open to conviction I think I have a very good chance of showing him that he is wrong. Continuing Mr. Flemming said he had the utmost confidence in saying that the surplus was real. The other morning he had found in the St. John Telegraph a statement that there was a fake surplus, and that it had been exposed and who made the exposure? The Auditor General's report in the minutes of a meeting of the Treasury Board held Oct. 26th, when it was said that a number of accounts were considered, some were ordered paid and some were ordered to stand, and then a later entry showed that the latter were paid on November 8th. Fearing that the item in the news column would not be seen, the Telegraph yesterday had it put in its editorial column. He was sorry for the Telegraph. If it had gone to

OPENING OF CANAL MAY BE DELAYED

London, March 13.—Sir Horace Plunkett, who has just returned after an inspection of the Panama Canal, believes it is possible to finish the cutting of the canal by the end of next year, but he says that while January 1, 1915, is the official date for the opening, it probably will be a year later than that.

There had been some harsh criticism from hon. gentlemen opposite of the financial statement for the past fiscal year as it appeared in the Royal Gazette as provided by law. He could imagine the earnestness with which the long-distance telephone had been brought into use from St. John to Westmorland county with the request "Give us something good and strong. We must have it to use tomorrow." The hon. gentlemen on that occasion had fallen into the error of stating that the revenue received by this government was $500,000 greater than formerly and (Flemming) felt he should tell them that they ought to make their statements at least fairly correct.

The hon. leader of the Opposition had gone farther astray than Mr. Copp and he was quoted in the Telegraph as follows:—"A new item of considerable proportion seems to have crept into the last year's expenditure under the heading 'Contingencies' departments and legislative, amounting to $17,626.98. The amount voted for the legislative contingencies are all well established, was $7,000. The balance of $10,626.98 is apparently for contingencies of departments. It is rather a large amount and is open to suspicion." Mr. Flemming said that the total amount of $17,626.98 was voted by the Legislature. And yet, after having voted for this amount, the hon. leader of the Opposition seems to have forgotten. Mr. Robinson was in the Legislature during many years when contingencies were voted and yet he characterizes contingencies as a new item. In 1907, when Mr. Robinson was Provincial Secretary, over $19,000 was paid for contingencies and now Mr. Robinson says that it is a new item and open to suspicion. Mr. Robinson had also talked about suspense accounts. On Jan. 3rd Mr. Robinson was quoted as follows:—"As to suspense accounts, it is fair to assume that they are not a thing to be proud of, though in former years they occurred by the reason of the poverty of the government's income. The present government pledged themselves to do away with them, and their resources are so great that they have very little, if any, excuse for them but they still exist in another form. Under the old plan bills were paid by a loan from the bank and the bank was in suspense until parliament voted the money. Now these bills are not paid until the close of the financial year." This government did give the assurance that no system of accounting would be allowed so as to permit of suspense accounts. They have carried it out. There are no suspense accounts and there will be none as long as this administration remains in power. He wanted to point out the absurd position of Mr. Robinson. The condition that existed under the old government was that the legislature had met and had voted the money which had been squandered and then hid away, the bills for four or five months until the fiscal year closed when they were paid before the Legislature met again. There was a suspense account started in 1901. It lived for seven years. It would be still living if the same gentleman so warmly supported by the hon. members opposite were still in power.

"Where Has the Money Gone?" is one of the oft-repeated queries of the hon. gentlemen opposite and of the press supporting them. If the hon. members say the present government has spent too much money they should point out the items of expenditure which in their opinion ought not to have been made. Had they done so? They have never moved to reduce appropriations by a single dollar. In many instances members of the opposition asked for larger appropriations than the government proposed. When the School Teachers' Pension Bill was brought down they urged that the bill be larger and more general in their application, which would have involved greater expenditure than that proposed by the administration. Referring to the records he would name the larger items of expenditure in comparison with former years and would ask the hon. members opposite to name the services or items in which there should not have increases.

Taking the last year of the old administration and the last year of the new government the figures for Education, Interest and Public Works, called for $216,411 more in 1910 than in 1907. Do they say or do their papers say that too much money is being expended on education? Every dollar this province had expended and could expend on education is absolutely justified, and his only regret was that the appropriation could not be larger. The amount expended in this province last year on the common schools, including the amounts voted at the annual school meetings, was $829,709. The province is providing more generously at the present time.

The interest charge was a large one, and upon the face of it appeared to show considerable increase under the present government. But the increase is only apparent. While the old government showed $178,569 as being the interest payments in 1907 the interest charges were actually $71,000 more than that. In 1907 the then Provincial Secretary borrowed a large sum and paid about $70,000 interest on that loan; but that item did not appear as interest at all, and was put into capital account and it became a charge upon the province for all time. Had the item appeared in the interest column the interest paid in 1907 would have been about the same as was paid last year. On public works a very largely increased expenditure was shown, $98,000. Some criticisms have been made that the government does not pay any attention to the legislative appropriations for road and bridge services, but goes on incurring expense when the appropriation is exhausted. This is nothing new. The Public Works report for 1907 showed that over $70,000 was spent that year on these services without legislative authority and, moreover, without passing under the eye of a Treasury Board, or an Auditor General, or any person except the officials of the Board of Works. The same system had prevailed for many years in different departments. When the appropriations were exhausted for these services the old government went right on over-expending year after year, and that without any proper check or audit. Last year the government had the actual money and the government was justified in spending it on urgent public works. The difference between the old government and the new is that the former overexpended year after year and hid away the expenditure in suspense accounts while now every dollar is accounted for in the reports of the Auditor General.

The $328,000 spent on public works last year represented money actually expended for work performed. If members opposite object to that expenditure let them name the items to which they object. The amount set down as having been expended on Public Works in 1907 was not all spent for those services.

The many new bridges built in the last three years and improved roads showed the result of the expenditure. Hundreds of bridges all over the province were left by the old government in a wretched condition. Thousands of dollars were spent every year for their repair but that money was largely wasted and went for other purposes than that for which it was appropriated.

Mr. Fleming then read a statement intended to show that in 19
