TERRIBLE STRUGGLE WITH A WILD CAT

The Boston Post prints the following interesting account of a struggle which a Boston sportsman had with a wild cat in the forests of New Brunswick:

A wild cat attacked Frank W. Lord, a Boston sportsman, and was clawing his face and tearing off his clothing when his life was saved by two Indian guides, who, to their own injury, overpowered the catamount with knives and stones in the forests of New Brunswick August 16, Lord's Boston friends learned yesterday.

Lord is at Glenwood, N. B., nursing cuts and bruises he sustained in the encounter.

Lord left Boston August 1 to fish and hunt in the vicinity of Trivet Lake, some twenty miles out of Glenwood. Being alone, he secured the services of Jack Solomon and Chief Noel Sacobi, Indians. The party left Glenwood August 13, well supplied with ammunition, tackle and provisions, and plunged into the dense woods. They were not heard from again until the two Indians struggled into town, hauling the badly injured Lord along after them on an improvised sledge.

The story patched out from the three of them rivals any tale of James Fenimore Cooper. While they were camped, August 16, on the edge of a trout stream, Lord decided on a walk in the dusk. He started from the camp unarmed and had been gone some time when the Indians became uneasy and started after him down the stream.

They shouted to Lord and received regular responses from him for some time. They had proceeded a mile and a half in the dark when Lord's answers to their calls ceased, although now and then in the stillness of the forest night they could hear the twigs snapping.

INDIANS RUSH TO AID.

The Indians, realizing that something had happened to the white man, hastened their steps. From a bend in the river they had just gained a view of Lord wading in the middle of the shallow stream, when the piercing howl of a catamount shattered all the stillness.

They saw Lord borne to the ground under the weight of the huge panther that had leaped at him from a rock on the bank. Lord managed to shake off the beast and made for the shore, crying aloud all the time for his companions, who arrived at his side just as the animal made a second leap at him.

The cat bore Lord to the ground a second time, but as it was alighting Chief Sacobi managed to grip one of its legs with both hands, and with almost superhuman strength dragged the snarling, tiger-like beast from the back of its victim.

Solomon, who had drawn his hunting knife, made a stab at its throat. In the excitement he stumbled and the blow did not go true.

BITES INDIAN'S SHOULDER.

The wild cat, leaping on Sacobi, sank its teeth deep into his shoulder, threw him, then turned again to Lord, who was raising himself. As the howling, bleeding, yellow mass of fury came at him a third time, Lord swung at it blindly, with his bare fists, so that it missed him and crashed to the ground on its back.

Before the agile animal had a chance to regain its feet, both Indians were upon it with their knives, slashing and stabbing at its throat and sides. For a minute the cat and men fought like demons.

Then it got a last grip on Lord's back, and, though dying, was trying to haul him out of the clearing in the underbrush made by its struggles when Sacobi, straddling it, brought his blade down at the base of its skull. He did with such force that the beast's backbone was completely severed.

Stopping only long enough to suspend the animal from a branch of a tree so that its pelt might be recovered, the Indians immediately set out to bring Lord, who had lost consciousness and was almost completely stripped of his clothing, back to civilization and medical assistance.

JOURNEY THROUGH WOODS.

For thirty-six hours, through the night and day, they bore him, arriving at Glenwood on the morning of August 18.

Lord's wounds were found to be nothing more than painful lacerations of the back, arms, legs and shoulders, though the shock of the attack and the loss of blood had left him weak and exhausted. He is now rapidly recovering, while the Indians show hardly any sign of the encounter, except for the scars on their faces.

The Indians explain that the animal, the skin of which has been sent to a taxidermist in Fredericton, probably became infuriated at Lord's hallooing, and attributed the saving of his life, not to themselves, but to the fact that he stopped his calls.

CASCARETS WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Salts, Calomel and Cathartic Pills are Violent—They act on Bowels as Pepper Acts in Nostrils

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Remember a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A 10 cent box from your druggist means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

"Laugh? Of course we laughed. And when we have given way to unrestrained hilarity we looked around to our neighbors and they, too, were laughing in their seats at 'Baby Mine.'"—Times.

Can you imagine our old friend Mr. Pinder wearing a bib and tucker?

THIS WEEK'S MEETINGS.

The following Reciprocity meetings are billed in York County:

FRIDAY, SEPT. 1.

Smithfield, Marysville, Campbell Settlement, Dauglas, Nashwaak Village, Pokioik.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 2.

Stanley, New Maryland, Covered Bridge, Temperance Vale, Taymouth.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier at three score ten is certainly a wonder. He has been addressing meetings nearly every day since the campaign opened, and is today as fit as he ever was. Hon. Mr. Fielding, Mr. Borden, Hon. Mr. Lemieux and other younger men are suffering from hoarseness.

THE LIBERALS ARE GOOD ORGANIZERS

Montreal, Aug. 22.—The mere fact that the Conservatives have still twenty-two seats in Quebec for which they have not been able to decide upon the candidates, while the Liberals only have eight, speaks volumes as to the organization of the two parties in the Province. The Liberals, by the way in which their campaign is being conducted, show a far better grip of the local situation.

The fact that fifty-nine sitting members have given such satisfaction at Ottawa that they have been unanimously requested to stand again has also given the Liberal an enormous advantage in the present campaign, as the great majority of the members were Liberal. Ten out of the eleven Conservative members have been nominated and forty-nine out of the fifty-three Liberal members. Of the four extra members not nominated one has died, and two have been elevated to the bench.

J. S. WOOD ENDORSED

Winnipeg, August 22.—Mr. J. S. Wood, Independent farmers' candidate in the constituency of Macdonald nominated at Carman on August 11, has been endorsed by the Liberals of the constituency. The Independent convention which chose Mr. Wood was a unit on the reciprocity issue, and the formal Liberal convention held in Winnipeg on Saturday for the purpose of naming the government candidate was likewise a unit in the decision that there should be but one reciprocity candidate in the field in opposition to Mr. W. D. Staples, the late member, and again the Borden nominee.

ROY W. SMITH.

The Queen Hotel livery man, of the Capital City, certainly is getting there in a hurry. His auto is one that the people like to ride in to and from the depot, boats and any place that you want to go. Mr. Smith is the first livery man who added a public convenience like this for the public's use at such a small price. Just think, 25c. is all he charges you to get there on time by his auto to all parts of the city. Did you ever stop and think how much comfort you can get over the roads in Roy Smith's auto, than setting behind an old broken-down horse and that old rig grandfather used to ride in 75 years ago. While today you can get there in a few minutes over ten times the distance that don't cost you one-quarter the price you pay for that slow getting there by that delivery wagon.
