MONTREAL MAN SUICIDES AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, Ont. Nov. 13—As a direct result of taking an overdose of a sedative containing a mixture of chloral and potassium, Alex Sinclair Craig of Montreal who has been spending the last couple of months in the city died here last night. Mr. Craig took nearly the whole prescription a little less than two ounces instead of a teaspoonful as directed and which he was taking for fits of nervousness.

LOWER PRINCE WILLIAM

Lower Prince William, Nov. 10—The Ladies' Missionary Circle met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. J. A. Lawrence.

Miss Fraser who has charge of the Burden School spent last Saturday with Mrs. E. W. Hoyt.

Mrs. W. W. Boddy entertained a few of her young friends last Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seges of Canterbury visited Mrs. Cook Jones the first of the week.

Miss Olive Carson of Hawkeshaw who is in the Mail Contest, was calling on her in this locality last Friday.

Miss Edna Miller visited Miss Bertie Lawrence of Dumfries on Saturday last.

Mrs. E. H. Lawrence is spending a few weeks with friends in Boston and vicinity.

A number of our young people attended the Presbyterian Church at Prince William Sunday evening.

Miss Minnie Sawyer very nicely entertained a number of her friends last evening.

Combination of furs is a salient feature of the season's modes in both the small furs and the coats and it is rather exceptional to find a handsome coat all in one kind of fur, certain ermine evening coats and the rare sable coats, to whose beauty no other fur could add, being the most noteworthy exceptions.

POSTUM

"There's a Reason"

WAS TERRIBLY NERVOUS.

WOULD START AT THE LEAST NOISE.

Wherever there are people who are troubled with deranged nerves they will find that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will restore the equilibrium of these deranged centres, and bring back the shattered nervous system to a perfect condition.

Miss Emma Read, Laskay, Ont., writes:—"I have great pleasure in writing to tell you about the great benefit I have received by using your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. About a year ago I was very badly run down and could hardly do my work. I tried different medicines but none of them did me any good. I was terribly nervous, and would start at the least noise, and even start in my sleep, which made me very weak. I used two boxes of your pills and I am now well and strong again."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25. For sale at all dealers, or will be mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

INSANE MAN COMMITS MURDER AND SUICIDE

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Nov. 13—His mind unbalanced, it is believed, by the sudden death of his favorite daughter, and by financial difficulties, Nathan C. Butterfield of Milford, N. H. yesterday shot and killed G. Cuthbert Williams of York, Pa. Butterfield then turned the revolver upon himself and accomplished his suicide. He leaves a wife and one daughter.

COLD WEATHER IN STATE OF TEXAS

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 13—The Norther which swept over Oklahoma and Texas Saturday afternoon and night is declared to have brought the coldest weather for this date in 20 years. At Amillroa in the Texas panhandle, the thermometer showed above zero yesterday breaking all previous records. Much cotton in the fields was blown from the bolls and lost.

THE DOUBLE CROSS

My sudden uprising, indeed, stirred up so much commotion among the Aztecs, that the judge's clerk, with many cries of "Silence!" had a hard time restoring decorum.

"Have I permission to speak, señor the judge?" I asked.

De la Torre motioned me to go ahead.

"The bad news," I said, speaking in a loud voice, so all could hear, "brought by Hefonso to the Don, was of me, as has been stated. It has been further said here that only Don Justino and Hefonso knew the nature of that bad news, and that both soon thereafter met death. One other however, knew of that bad news and she still lives. I ask, as if my right, señor the judge, that you call the Senorita Felipa as a witness."

And I sat down.

I had resorted to this trick to try to gain news of Felipa. She had learned nothing, on the night of the danza, of the nature of that "bad news," of course, but here was my chance to make use of the authority of the court to get information concerning her mysterious disappearance.

"The prisoner," said the judge, "is the right to call for any witness whatsoever. I call for the Senorita Felipa."

Dead silence.

"The senorita," cried the clerk, as if his words settled this point, "is not present."

Here the judge stood up for the first time since my hearing began.

"If any one in this assemblage knows anything of the whereabouts of the Senorita Dona Felipa de Gasteneda," he said, "I charge that person now to rise and speak."

Yo my astonishment—and joy—I saw Swastika get to her feet and I could plainly see that Joaquin was urging her to such action.

"Senor the judge," she said, "my senorita disappeared two nights ago from the Hotel Jardin—under circumstances most peculiar."

She looked at Joaquin. Was it in fear?

"Go on!" commanded the judge.

"Your story."

"My senorita was sitting in an arbor in the garden of the hotel. A man came and spoke with her there. He wore a black cloak and a mask."

"Ah, the Senor Estreñero who was here at the danza," said the judge.

"No, señor the judge, not the stranger. The prisoner."

"The prisoner!" exclaimed a number of the "gentry" in surprise.

"How do you know that the masked man was the prisoner?" asked the judge.

"Because, señor the judge, when pistol shots were heard in the hotel, the man who had entered the arbor to talk with my senorita now stepped out—and he had taken off the mask. I recognized the prisoner. Then he stepped back again into the arbor, and when I went to the arbor, a little later, to take my senorita a mantle—she was not there. She had disappeared. Nor have I seen her since. My poor senorita."

"Did any other person see the prisoner enter the arbor?" the judge asked.

"Si, señor. The Senor el Capitán Ruiz saw what I saw."

The judge then called upon Joaquin to make a statement, which he promptly did, corroborating all that Swastika had told the court.

Here the all-powerful Inlian Alcalde, who sat beside the judge, for the first time took part in the proceedings. He whispered in the ear of de la Torre; the two forthwith consulted awhile and then:

"Prisoner, stand up," the judge commanded, himself getting to his feet.

I stood up.

"Prisoner," the judge went on, "you have heard the testimony. I require and charge you now, as you will

Ladies of Culture and Refinement Use Salvia Hair Tonic. It makes the Hair Beautiful

At last a remedy has been discovered that will positively destroy this pest.

That Dandruff is caused by germs is accepted by every sensible person. Dandruff is the root of all hair evils.

SALVIA will kill the Dandruff germs and remove Dandruff in ten days, or money back.

Ryan guarantees it. It will grow hair, stop itching scalp, falling hair, and make the hair thick and abundant. It prevents hair from turning gray, and adds life and lustre.

SALVIA is a hair dressing that has become the favorite with women of taste and culture, who know the social value of beautiful hair. A large generous bottle costs only 50c. at leading druggists everywhere, and in Fredericton by Ryan. The word "SALVIA" (Latin for sage) is on every bottle.

"Did any other person see the prisoner enter the arbor?" the judge asked.

"Si, señor. The Senor el Capitán Ruiz saw what I saw."

The judge then called upon Joaquin to make a statement, which he promptly did, corroborating all that Swastika had told the court.

Here the all-powerful Inlian Alcalde, who sat beside the judge, for the first time took part in the proceedings. He whispered in the ear of de la Torre; the two forthwith consulted awhile and then:

"Prisoner, stand up," the judge commanded, himself getting to his feet.

I stood up.

"Prisoner," the judge went on, "you have heard the testimony. I require and charge you now, as you will answer at the dreadful day of the last judgment—to tell what you know of the disposition of the body of Don Justino, and of the person of his daughter, the Senorita Felipa."

"Senor the judge," I said, "given time I will produce Don Justino—alive. And at the same time I will produce his daughter."

Joaquin sprang to his feet, then as
