DEBATE ON ADDRESS FINISHED LAST EVENING

bonds. The Opposition members had supported the Valley Railway, but they had strenuously objected to the third section of last year's bill—the section regarding the electric trolley-line. The only way in which the Opposition could make their objections felt was by moving amendments and now members on the government side are trying to make it appear that the Opposition was against the entire proposition. That was not fair and it certainly was not true. Personally he heartily supported the proposition that the government guarantee the bonds and secure the construction of the railway and its operation by the federal government on the 40 per cent. basis.

He was glad to hear the premier make the statement that the matter of the federal representation of the province was receiving his earnest consideration. The matter is certainly of great importance to the people of the Maritime Province. The eastern provinces have made tremendous sacrifices for the welfare of the west and he believed that had the farmers of the Confederation agreement foreseen the rapid development of the west of Winnipeg, a different basis of representation than that which has Quebec, as the pivotal province, would have resulted. He looked to the premier of the province to press for justice and that our representation be not reduced.

The question of combating tuberculosis is receiving a large degree of attention in every civilized country and it touches us vitally on all sides. The gift by Mrs. Jordan of her beautiful property as a foundation for an institution for sufferers from tuberculosis is one that deeply touched the gratitude of the people of this province. He was glad to know that it is the intention to place the sanitarium under the control of a commission and he had the hope that no party politics would be allowed to enter into the appointment of such commission.

He was convinced that the future prosperity of our province lay along the lines of agricultural progress. He felt that the principal source of revenue of the province is being depleted and for that reason the interests of agriculture should receive earnest consideration and be encouraged in every possible way. The fruit show at St. John was very creditable, but we are not producing in New Brunswick all the agricultural products we should produce and we have a magnificent agricultural country, but for some reason production has fallen off. Mixed farming is receiving less attention with the result that we have to go to Ontario for beef and other products. What is the reason so few agricultural products are grown in this province? Because the market in the past has been curtailed. It seems to him that the question now agitating the people of the whole Dominion that of reciprocity, offered an enlarged market for the agricultural products of this province. The farmers would be sure of a good market at all times under reciprocity. The farmer or beef raiser or apple grower must produce in large quantities now-a-days to induce the buyer to come in, because the latter will only come when he can secure a large quantity of a similar variety of products and he thought the farmers would go in for raising on a large scale if the New England market was opened up for them. It is an insult to the intelligence of the people to say that they could not trade with the people south of the border, without our loyalty being affected. The farmers of Maine are much more prosperous than those in the adjoining counties of New Brunswick and a farm worth $20,000 over there could be bought for one fifth that sum on this side the line. That is because they have access to a market of 90,000,000 people.

He believed the common school system is wrong inasmuch as it has a tendency to educate our young people away from the land and into the professions. It should be possible to introduce into many of our agricultural districts, some system in the elementary schools that will turn the attention of the young to the cultivation of the soil.

Mr. Bentley gave the Surveyor General credit for the manner in which he has administered his department but he feared that the greater revenue is due to a larger cut upon the Crown Land and he believed it is in the interests of the province that our forest wealth should be preserved. He believed we are cutting from our forest faster than the natural growth. He was glad that the Surveyor General had stopped issuing permits to cut below minimum size. He had known parties to go upon land and sweep everything clean. He thought the government should soon announce its policy regarding the Crown Land leases which would expire in a few years because until such policy is known, the lumber operators are desirous of cutting every possible log from the Crown Lands and they would soon deplete them. The large export of pulp wood and wood pulp is responsible for the rapid depletion of our forests. The government should collect information and submit the figures showing what quantity of pulp wood is being taken off the Crown Lands.

Mr. Hatheway forewore in an extended address touching on very many subjects and traveling back a good many years in an attempt to discredit the Opposition.

MR. UPHAM, M. P. P.

Mr. Upham said that the situation in Carleton County at present was somewhat unusual as the government had two representatives in the county and he was left alone to represent the people. He congratulated the hon. member for St. John upon his address and also the member for Kings who had preceded him, but in place of the latter, the government might just as well have got a gramophone and had it repeat the utterances of the St. John Standard, The Fredericton Gleaner and the Woodstock Press. The representative of Kings had been in the bad graces of his party and after two years during which time he didn't look after his legislative duties very well he was now endeavoring to get back in the good graces of the government. The great trouble with his speech was that many of his statements were not true.

Regarding the government's agricultural policy he declared that Carleton County had been ignored and he read a communication from his hon. colleagues mouth-piece The Woodstock Press which was signed "Justice" which claimed that the Provincial Horticulturalist had ignored Carleton County in pointing out the lower portion of the St. John River as the best apple growing section.

CARLETON COUNTY IGNORED

On account of the way Carleton County had been ignored, men of both political parties had formed a Fruit Growers Association which passed a resolution condemning the action of the Horticulturalist. This resolution had been forwarded to Hon. Dr. Landry by the secretary, Tappan Adney, with a lengthy letter which was read, also the reply of the Commissioner of Agriculture. The people of Carleton County were not well pleased with the summary manner in which this matter was dealt with. He said that the then hon. Provincial Secretary took a hand and wrote a letter to Mr. Adney to smooth things out. This letter was read also that written in reply by Mr. Adney.

Mr. Upham claimed that the public moneys were being used to boom the lower end of the St. John River Valley and to help along the company formed by the member for Queens, Mr. Hubbard and Mr. Wilnot, the immigration agent and other friends of the government. He read several other communications from the officers of the association and referring to the statement that the apple growing industry had only come to the front since this government took charge of the department of agriculture. He stated in one year 18,000 barrels had been exported from Carleton County.

Continuing he declared that the present government had done nothing to make agricultural conditions in the province any better than they used to be.

There had been no good effects from the government's immigration policy so far. One man had been victimized by a hater for his hon. friends opposite who was appointed special immigration agent.

Mr. Munro asked if the immigrant did not give a sworn statement in which he acknowledged he bought the land on his own judgment and exonerated the agent and others connected with the transaction and that the statement was published in the public press.

Mr. Upham said that to his knowledge it had not been done. His hon. friends wrote half an article, which was published and the unfortunate man wrote the other half.

Continuing, Mr. Upham claimed that only four out of twenty-four bridges had been built by public tender and this was an illustration of the way the government was breaking its pledge to have all public works put up at public tender.

Discussing the building of bridges in Carleton County, he declared that it had been publicly stated that in order to smooth over a situation, the provincial secretary had told a commissioner to give a man named Richardson a bridge to build at his own price.

Hon. Mr. Flemming denied absolutely having made any such statement or to have interfered in any way with the building of bridges or roads in the County of Carleton.

Referring to the St. John Valley Railway bill, Mr. Upham said there had been no bill before the House that was any warmer in his heart than this one. He had used his every effort to help along the movement for a St. John Valley Railway, but his hon. friends opposite, at a meeting held in Carleton County, had taken an unfair advantage of him and one of his colleagues (Mr. Munro) had said that he (Upham) had voted against the bill.

Mr. Munro declared that he had done nothing of the sort. What he had done was to read the votes from the Journal and if the hon. gentleman desired, he would read the votes to the House. The people of Carleton had drawn their own conclusions on Mr. Upham's course after the votes had been read to them.

Mr. Upham said he had no particular criticism to make of the government's handling of the crown lands. They were carrying on the same system the old government had in the collection of the stumpage. The

ROYAL Baking Powder Economy

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have always declined to produce a cheap baking powder at the sacrifice of quality.

Royal Baking Powder is made from pure grape cream of tartar, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price, and is more economical at its price than any other leavening agent, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.

Mixtures made in imitation of baking powders, but containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or given away in grocery stores. Such mixtures are dangerous to use in food. In England, France, Germany and some sections of the United States their sale is prohibited by law. Alum is a dangerous mineral acid, and all physicians condemn baking powders containing it.

The label of alum baking powders must show the ingredients.
