EAGER FOR VICTORY

The Liberals are awaiting the dissolution of the Commons with impatience. They are eager, for the chance to meet their opponents at the polls.

With confidence that the record of the government will again be approved by the people just as it was approved in 1900, 1904 and 1908, and equally confident that the vast majority of the electors are favorable to reciprocity the Liberal party welcomes the battle which Conservative blocking of public business is bringing on. A short sharp struggle will stir the fighting blood of the Liberal forces and polling day will give the administration five years more in which to work for the advancement of the country's prosperity.

If the situation in the several provinces is reviewed the chances of an overwhelming Liberal victory are seen to be such as to bring confidence to every friend of progressive administration. British Columbia is probably least friendly to the Liberal party. There Premier McBride dominates the situation and, undeniably, he is a politician of ability. But even in the Pacific province the Liberal government stands to make some gains.

Reciprocity will sweep the fields for the Liberals in Alberta and Saskatchewan. Opposing the trade pact because of the pressure of the interests, the Conservatives have taken upon themselves an alliance which has completely wiped away what little hope they had of gaining the votes of the western men. Even the Conservative leader in Saskatchewan is out flat-footed in favor of the trade agreement and indignantly refutes the assertions of the "Eastern Gamaliels" that because of this he is less loyal than they are.

In Manitoba the Liberal candidates will have opposed to them all the energies of a Conservative government which has ever employed "machine" methods. But with the Liberals will be the powerful Grain Growers Association whose members stand steadfastly for reciprocity. Hon. "Bob" Rogers, the master mechanic of the "machine" is this time fighting a losing battle. Even the thousands and thousands of dollars subscribed by the "interests" will not avail. The Liberals are certain to make material gains in this the last of the western provinces.

In Ontario the government will hold its own. In some agricultural sections the ministry will gain but elsewhere the influence of the "interests" and the flag-waving and disloyalty rant of unscrupulous—or weak-minded—persons will quite probably nearly offset these gains. Ontario, however, has not been a Liberal province and because of certain specious cries now being raised by the Conservatives the government will not do much more than hold its own there.

In Quebec the government will have to fight both the Conservatives and their allies the Nationalists. Just as in Ontario and some other provinces the Conservatives will shout that Laurier is disloyal so in Quebec the Conservatives will join with the Nationalists and cry that Laurier is trying to sell French-Canadians to the Empire. No doubt Mr. Bourassa will tell his compatriots his old, old story that Laurier wishes to send their sons to be murdered in fighting the battles of the Empire. Mr. Gilbert, the Nationalist M. P. who votes steadily with the Conservatives, and Dr. Paquet, the Conservative M. P. who publicly stated the other day that he would follow Mr. Bourassa and Mr. Monk, will probably paint gruesome pictures of French-Canadians being torn from their families by force to serve in the Canadian navy to help Britain. These and kindred tactics will be used to help swing Quebec in favor of the Conservatives to whom, apparently, if we are to believe their own story, Providence has given a monopoly of Canadian loyalty. But Laurier and Lemieux and other Liberals will have little difficulty in nullifying the effect of such guerilla methods of warfare. From well-informed circles the word comes that Quebec will do even better for the Liberals than it has hitherto done. There, as everywhere, the Liberal record and reciprocity will gain votes for the Liberal candidates.

In the Maritime Provinces reciprocity is proving no less popular than in the prairie parts of the Dominion. Reciprocity sentiment has long been strong in these eastern provinces though many people had almost given up hope that freer trade with the United States would ever be gained. Farmers, lumbermen, fishermen—all for reciprocity first and party afterwards but because they are so intensely loyal to the British Empire the cry is being energetically raised by anti-reciprocity campaigners that the trade pact is disloyal to Britain. By such a cry the campaigners hope to deceive the people and to lead them to vote against their own best interests and the best interests of the Dominion and the Empire because of a false belief that support of reciprocity would in some way injure our common imperial cause. But just as they are intensely loyal to the people of the Maritime Provinces are sensible, and the loyalty cry is for that reason gaining no converts to the Conservative "interests" cause.

In Prince Edward Island the Liberals will probably carry all before them. It is thought that in Nova Scotia the Conservatives will lose several seats and that perhaps the Liberals will repeat the sweep of 1904 when their opponents failed to capture a single constituency.

In New Brunswick the question is whether the Liberals will carry York and St. John city. And the chances of doing so are encouraging. Political predictions are often exaggerated and are always easily upset but there is every good reason for saying that there is not a single seat now held by the Liberals in this province which is in danger of Conservative capture. St. John city ought to prove very satisfactory ground for Liberals at present. With the evidences of what Liberalism has done for that city already before their eyes and with the magnificent prospects of the future bright before them the people of the commercial capital may be expected to rally to the support of the Liberal standard as never before. York is admittedly hard ground for Liberals, but here too, reciprocity has gained a remarkable popularity. This coupled with the fact that Mr. Crockett has utterly failed to accomplish anything for the constituency is having a most gratifying effect in wiping out the work of the unscrupulous personal machine which for some years has been dominating this country for the benefit of two or three self and family seekers. A Liberal sweep of New Brunswick is quite within probability.

So, let the fight come on. Reciprocity and Continued Progress is the cry of victory. The voice of the people not the voice of the millionaires who would be dictators of Canada's policy will determine the course of events in the Dominion. The alliance of the Conservatives and the Nationalists and the "interests" is wakening the Liberal party together as it has never been bound together before; and just as surely is damping the future of the Conservative party.

The Chatham World is authority for statement that at the Conservative convention in Chatham everything was done decently and in order. Why this announcement? Had it been expected that the convention would be marked by some happenings that would not be decent or in order? We hate to think that there would be danger of such happenings at a convention presided over by the editor of the World. It is perhaps rather unfortunate, though, that just after the quoted words the World printed other words saying that a gentleman stood over the scrutineers, when a candidate was being balloted for, and scrutinized every ballot. That's rather a new idea—having a scrutineer to watch
