DEBATE ON RECIPROCITY DRAGGING WEARILY ALONG

Ottawa, July 21.—The first week of parliament has closed with a record of obstruction of reciprocity by the opposition.

There have been solid hours of time killing from the Conservative side and almost continual silence from the government benches.

There has been some heat but with the passage of the reciprocity agreement by the American Senate on Saturday and Monday sittings of the Canadian house, beginning Wednesday next week the fight will really begin.

Mr. Fielding's resolution to resume the reciprocity debate was presented today ten minutes after the house met but the obstructionists fought it off with oratory all afternoon and all evening. All is not harmony to the left of the speaker however and at least two Conservatives have openly condemned the obstructive practice.

Today's obstruction incidentally gave the postmaster-general opportunity to make a brief and important announcement.

Mr. MacLean precipitated the all-afternoon discussion on the general subject of state ownership in which reference was made to the need of establishing a system of parcel postage.

In reference to this point Hon. Mr. Lemieux spoke briefly. Some time ago, he stated he had made the announcement that it was the intention of the department to prepare a system of parcel postage, in view of the fact that he had ascertained that cost more to send a parcel from one Canadian town to another than it did to send the same parcel across the Atlantic. He had investigated the parcel post system of Britain, France and Germany. His announcement at that time however, had been followed by scores of petitions from farmers in the country claiming that the departmental stores would reap all the benefit from the system. There was one peculiar feature. All the petitions emanating from every province were couched in the same terms. It has been suggested that his agitation was organized by express companies or other interests likely to be affected. The minister had nothing to say upon that point. In his judgement cheap parcel postage would greatly benefit the farmers.

A GOOD PRELIMINARY

Hon. Mr. Lemieux stated that a good preliminary to parcel postage was the rural mail delivery, which made its full benefit possible to the farmers. At the present time there were being constructed in Toronto over 100,000 boxes for the rural mail system, and the system was being expanded daily, the department expending freely and intelligently in that direction.

The minister added that the department had the whole machinery for starting a parcel postage system in a short time, but feared the first step would be opposed by the railways with the demand for higher rates for postal service. "I have, however," added Mr. Lemieux, "recently given Mr. Ross, of Toronto, authority to travel around and consult with the people, especially in the province of Ontario, whence most of the opposition emanated. I am now awaiting his report and upon its arrival I anticipate being in a position to make a further announcement."

GOT MR. BORDEN AFTER ALL

The preliminaries were brief. Hon. Mr. Fisher assured Mr. Borden that his name had been included by the census enumerators, despite his complaint. When the enumerator called he found Mr. and Mrs. Borden away from home, and reported according to his instructions on an absentee card which insured the case being dealt with.

A. H. Clarke, chairman of the special committee to investigate the charges of Dan MacGillchuddy against Hon. Mr. Oliver, that it would resume as soon as its members all reached the capital.

It was 8.20 o'clock tonight when the house finally went into committee on Mr. Fielding's reciprocity resolutions. In the meantime Messrs. Sproule, Taylor and others had utilized the time in discussing what Dr. Schnaffner aesthetically termed the government's "rotten legislation" generally, or as Mr. Henderson more frankly put it later, "we have spent the afternoon airing our grievances."

A. Claude McDonnell resumed the reciprocity debate. Mr. MacDonnell is the first Toronto member to contribute to this discussion. He stated his opposition to tariff relief "on economic, political and national grounds." He believed it to be at variance with the underlying principles of confederation. He was followed by W. R. Smythe, and the house adjourned at 11.30.

RECIPROCITY PROGRESSES AT WASHINGTON

Washington, July 21.—They are finding some difficulty in keeping the debate on reciprocity going in the Senate. With two days more before the final vote on Saturday the discussion today ran to marble palaces on Fifth Avenue, New York, and swollen fortunes, to keep the issue alive. Senator Kenyon of Iowa, an insurgent, attacked the measure, and Senator Brown of Nebraska, also an insurgent, surprised the Senate with a loyal defence of President Taft, the extra session and the bill.

Senator Stone of Missouri, added his humorous touch to the debate. It is part of the agreement to vote that there shall be no speeches on Saturday, when the vote is taken. There will be plenty of amendments to be voted upon then if the insurgents keep to their present plan. Those offered by Senator La Follett remain to be voted down, and before this is done he will, if he follows the usual custom, make a speech.

Since President Taft plans to go to Beverly to stay over Sunday and Monday with Mrs. Taft, the bill must be passed early on Saturday to get his signature before next week. The enrollment of the bill is already practically completed under the assurance that there will be no amendments. It is possible that it may be passed and signed before he leaves the city at five o'clock.

ANOTHER COLD STRIKE IN PORCUPINE DISTRICT

Toronto, Ont., July 21.—Another rich strike has been made on the properties of the Pike Lake Gold Mining Company in the Swastika district. A wire from the manager at the mine yesterday reported that in trenching west of the point where they obtained two distinct showings of ore gold, they uncovered one of the most spectacular showings in the Swastika camp. The gold was in grains half the size of peas. The quartz is literally plastered with gold.

A BIG ROW AT CAMORRIST TRIAL

Captain of Carbin-eers in Sharp Clash
With Camorra
Lawyer

A Big Uproar Was Created and the Judge had to Clear the Court Room

Viterbo, Italy, July 21.—The most violent scene of the Camorrist trial to date was provided today by a personal dispute between Captain Fabroni and lawyer Lioy. In the tumult created all the other lawyers fled from the room. Enrico Alfano and Gennaro Abbatemaggio, the informer were thrown out boldly by the carabinieri, Giovanni Bartolozzi fell in a fit and President Bianchi helpless to maintain order declared the session adjourned. Throughout the hubbub, Fabroni stood pale but impassive. As the court room was being cleared, he said: "The Camorra in or out of court can't intimidate me."

Fabroni, captain of the Neapolitan carabinieri was assigned by the ministry of justice to uproot the Camorra.

When court opened today Captain Fabroni was asked by Cavalier Santoro, the crown prosecutor, whether the assertion that Zanilla Marshal Capizzuti had tried to influence him to swear falsely against his fellow prisoners, Fabroni replied: "Zanilla is the sum of criminality. Instead it was Lioy who through Zanilla attempted to buy witnesses for the defence. This selection on the lawyer raised the first storm. Lioy screamed like a mad man. Abbatemaggio notwithstanding the caution of the president joined the row in support of Captain Fabroni. Alfano the alleged head of the Camorra led others in a chorus of invectives declared against Fabroni and Abbatemaggio. So the storm grew greater the president vainly striving to head it off. He ordered Alfano and Alfano removed from the room. They were not disposed to go quietly and continued their cries and curses, until seized by Carabinieri and dragged from the place. For a little time there was a calm and taking advantage of the opportunity the judge admonished all who took part in the disturbance.

With much feeling Fabroni replied: "For years I have stood the insults of this man Lioy without trying him before the courts because I considered him not a criminal but a person whose mental faculties were unbalanced."

Other words than those he used would fail to describe the fury of Lioy's retort to the selection upon his sanity. The language was not polite. The lawyer concluded by calling the witness a hypocrite. Fabroni answered promptly: "A greater hypocrite than yourself does not exist. The exchange had again stirred the prisoners and opposing counsel and if the first disturbance was a storm what now followed was a hurricane that fairly shook the court of the assizes. All of the lawyers of the defence except Lioy shouting their indignation stalked out of the room. Lioy jumped about gesticulating and yelling like a fanatic. No one had supposed that the Neapolitan vocabulary contained such epithets as hurled at the crown's witnesses.
