DEERING IDEAL REAPER

The gear drive and the very complete equipment of roller and ball bearings are two of the reasons why the Deering Ideal Reaper is so much lighter draft than others. The high rake head and the great range of tilt enables the operator of an IDEAL to handle all conditions of grain satisfactorily. Ask your neighbor about it.

Recent improvements on the DEERING IDEAL BINDER puts it far ahead of any other.

Give your servants GOLD DUST to clean with, treat them rightly and you will have few occasions to insert a "help wanted" ad

They say a good work man is known by his tools. You cannot expect your maid to keep everything ship-shape unless you give her every modern help. To keep house without GOLD DUST is to do work by hard, old-fashioned methods. For cleaning everything and anything about the house—from cellar to attic—GOLD DUST is worth its weight in gold. It cuts grease and dirt like magic, does away with scouring and scrubbing, and saves time and tempers.

Your servant can do more and better work and keep sweet with the aid of GOLD DUST in all household cleaning.

BELVASIA SOLD TO TOM MURPHY, REPORTED
PRICE IS $12,500

Detroit, Aug. 1.—The most important sale since the racing season opened was made here this afternoon, when Walter Cox acting for the syndicate of New England horsemen who own the sensational trotting mare Belvasia, 2:08½ sold her to Tom Murphy, the New York trainer, the price reported being $12,500. Cox purchased Belvasia at the New York sale last winter for $5,200. She first started for him two weeks ago at Kalamazoo, where she was second to the sensational Gold Dollar in 2:06½ and at Grand Rapids last week in the $10,000 stake she won the third heat

TOOK TWO FROM FREDERICTON

Locals Had an Off Day—Moser Woodstock's New Big League Pitcher Performed

N. B. & MAINE LEAGUE

Marathon,	11	7	.611
Fredrickton,	9	6	.600
Woodstock,	8	10	.444
St. Stephen,	6	10	.375
St. John's,	4	10	.286

Tuesday proved to be Fredericton's Jonah Day for the Woodstock team trimmed the locals yesterday 6 to 3 in the afternoon league contest and 6 to 4 in the six inning evening exhibition game, and the visitors had no trouble doing it either.

The general explanation of the catastrophe was that it was Fredericton's day off, a theory that is supported by the way the team has been playing all season and also by the fact that they put on a brand of ball of which they are not often guilty. Sins of omission were the most frequent in both infield and outfield. Flies that should have been caught dropped between infielders and outfielders and infielders seemed to forget that there were chances of double plays. The throwing from the outfield could also have been better. The reconstruction of the infield was partially responsible for the poor work and will probably improve. Bob Conley replaced Tom Howe at third base and Frank Hughes was shifted from the outfield to second base. P. J. Duggan at first found it difficult to get low throws and that difficulty let more than one Woodstock man reach first safely.

AFTERNOON GAME

Warwick pitched his first league game for Fredericton in the afternoon and Woodstock batted him hard. Moser, the big-league twirler was on the mound for the visitors and showed that he had something that was good enough for the locals. The game began in good style. Woodstock went out in short order in the first inning, the period being enlivened by the canning of Mr. Wilder. Woodstock's left fielder, said canning being done by Umpire Evans who did not like the manner in which Wilder expressed his disapproval of a decision, as a result Wilder warned the bench for almost the whole game. Urquhart playing left field, Fredericton squeezed in one run in the first Maye dropping; Tift's fly and the Fredericton men reaching third on two sacrifice hits. O'Donnell had a passed ball and Tift scored. For three innings the teams played as could be desired. In the second Larry Conley tried to get home when Murray hit to Paquette but was caught at the plate. The decision was close and the crowd thought Conley was safe.

THE DELUGE

In the fifth came the first installment of the deluge. Warwick began it by passing Charlie Allen. Paquette's sacrifice sent him to second. Maye died out to Callahan, but Wessinger hit for two bases. Moser followed with the same and Black singled. Murray caught him at second retiring the side after three runs had been scored. In the sixth Fredericton came near evening the score. Ganley drew a pass and Duggan hit safely. Hughes drove one between first and second which hit Duggan getting him out. Hughes and Ganley worked a double steal and Woodstock put up a howl that Bob was out at third. O'Donnell threw to Keaney to catch Hughes and Ganley tried to score but was caught at the plate. Larry Conley scored Hughes with a two-bagger. Bob Conley drew a pass but Callahan fled out.

The score was 3 to 2 with Woodstock at the long end but Charley Allen's team put the game on ice in the eighth. Keaney was thrown out O'Donnell hit to Callahan who threw low to Duggan. The latter got the ball but dropped it. Then Woodstock found Warwick. Four hits were made and four runs were scored. In the eighth Ganley scored on Hughes sacrifice fly after driving the ball to the pines for three bases. After that there was nothing to it.

CANADIAN HORSES

WON AT DETROIT GRAND CIRCUIT MEET

Vernon McKinney Won from Branham Baughman in Chamber of Commerce

Detroit, July 31.—A large delegation of New England horsemen, present at today's opening of Detroit's annual blue ribbon Grand Circuit meeting, left the fine plant of the Michigan state fair tonight, heads down and pockets lighter by many thousands of dollars.

Walter Cox and Branham Baughman had to content themselves with second money in the Chamber of Commerce pace, the victor's share of the $500 purse, as well as the fourth money in the event going to the California bred stallion, Vernon McKinney, entered by R. J. McKenzie, the Winnipeg millionaire.

But the New Englanders had the satisfaction that their choice which they had so loyally supported had paced a game, magnificent race, had been a contender in every one of the four heats, and had succumbed only to the sensational speed of a pacer which many believe to be the fastest that ever started in Detroit's famous classic.

Vernon McKinney won the second,

EVENING GAME

A slim crowd turned out at 6.30 to see the exhibition game. The crowd soon saw that Fredericton had not pulled together. Some funny things happened in the game on both sides. A triple steal by Tift, Warwick and Ganley was one of them. Tift was batted hard. Charley Allen was also found frequently.

third and fourth heats of the event, losing the first to Peter the Second after what looked like a very ill-timed drive by James. The McKinney horse's slowest heat was in 2:04½. The second and third heats saw him win eased up in the last 100 yards in 2:04 and 2:03½ respectively.

FOUGHT FOR EVERY HEAT

Just how fast he could have gone had he been pushed is a matter of doubt. Certainly there were many horsemen who believe that, had he been driven in any heat from wire to wire, he might have equalled, if not broken the record for the stake set when The Bel and Minor Heir hooked up in their epoch-making duel in 1908. The average for the four heats was only a small fraction slower than 2:04, and the Branham Baughman was the second finisher each time. In every mile he gave the winner battle through the stretch to the very utmost of his ability, piloted by the famous New Englander whose marvelous skill is proverbial throughout the world of harness racing.

SENSATION BY SOPRANO

But, if Vernon McKinney's win was sensational, almost as remarkable was the result of the 2:07 trot in which Soprano, a New England mare, won two brilliant heats from Dudie Archdale reducing her record to 2:05½ in the first heat and coming right back with 2:06 in the second and deciding heat.

The other two winners of the day were Gordon Todd, a discarded "Em and Emm" from the Geers stable, and Hal B. Jr., a Canadian bred pacer, which in his first start on a mile track won impressively from a fast field of pacers.

The Canadians came prepared to make a killing on Hal B. Jr., in the 2:08 pace, but the deeds of that wiggler on the ice and the half-mile rings had scared off the Americans. Though he had never before seen a mile track, Hal B. Jr., was installed a 100-to-35 favorite and won in two straight heats, taking a record of 2:05½ in the second heat, in which he, Sunny Jim and Don finished heads apart.

The Camuck is a hobbler, but seems remarkably good gaited and has a brush of speed and ability to cover the mile without faltering at any stage.
