ITALIAN TROOPS ARE OCCUPYING TRIPOLI

It is announced from Janina that two Italian warships yesterday bombarded the port of Reschahie, and torpedo boats lying in that harbor, one of which was damaged and landed its crew.

The Italian ships entered the ports and shelled the town, several houses being struck. After taking soundings they left and later entered Port Musto, taking the captain of the port and three boatmen prisoners. The karte has notified the powers of the suspension of the lighthouse services in the Red Sea, the Mediterranean, the Dardanelles, the Aegean and Adriatic. The Italian workmen in the government factories have been diminished. The Italians employed on the construction of railways in Asia Minor have abandoned the work and are leaving the country.

London, Oct. 1—Reports regarding the Turkish fleet are conflicting. A Constantinople despatch to the Reuter Telegram Company timed 5.50 p. m. says that an official telegram had been received stating that the Turkish squadron reached the Dardanelles safely at noon today after an eventful journey thither.

An earlier despatch from Rome says that the ministry of marine announces that the Italian squadron encountered the Turkish squadron, composed of three battleships and several torpedo boats near the entrance of the Dardanelles; that an engagement ensued and that the Turkish battleships were sunk and the torpedo boats damaged.

Malta, Oct. 1—The British battleships Duncan, Cornwallis, Russell, Triumph and Swifsure and the cruisers Bacchante, Aboukir and Lancaster arrived here today.

Rome, Oct. 2—Signor Felici, of the Italian chamber deputies, telegraphs from Syracuse that Turkish squadron bearing troops, is steaming towards Tripoli, pursued by Italian warships.

Belgrade, Serbia, Oct. 2—Serbia commenced to prepare for warfare in the Balkans. King Peter convoked the cabinet today and ordered the mobilization of the army.

Chiasso, Switzerland, Oct. 2—It is reported that on Saturday Admiral Aulrey was suddenly ordered to post-poned the bombardment of Tripoli as there were signs of a possibility of reaching an understanding with Turkey through the intervention of certain powers, thus avoiding a continuation of the war.

Malta, Oct. 2—The Italian flag today flies over Tripoli. The British cruiser Aboukir, arrived in the harbor here today from Tripoli waters and brings word that the Italian expeditionary force had landed from the war feet and taken possession of the city.

Constantinople, Oct. 2—The Italian fleet has bombarded and destroyed the forts at Prevesa, Albania and the city is occupied by 1,600 Italian troops, according to a despatch this afternoon.

London, Oct. 2—A despatch to Lloyds from Corfu this afternoon, states that the Italian flotilla sank two Turkish torpedo boat destroyers and captured a third in an engagement off Gomenitza, Albania.

Berlin, Oct. 2—Revolt against Turkish rule has broken out in Albania. Twenty-two persons are reported killed at Prishtina, in Vilayet, of Kosova, Albania, in a battle between natives and Turkish gendarmes. Fifty others were wounded.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE AT AUSTIN, PENN.

their efforts to mine deeply into the hard hills of debris. Twenty victims including two at Costello, had been placed in a temporary morgue at Oddfellow's Hall, one of the few buildings standing on the ruined district. The identified dead are twelve.

Plans for the funerals were being made today, but the township people, have been so utterly stunned, that it is only through the constant prodding of relief officials and others from the outside, that they are able to exert themselves. The most essential matter in hand here today, aside from the persistent work of clearing away the more accessible ruins, is the completion of a census of the living Austinites. Two such censuses are being worked upon. The results, however, have as yet, supplied insufficient date for the formation of any reliable as to the total death list.

The most careful and well informed investigators, however, are unprepared to learn that more than two hundred have perished. There is a possibility that 150 will be the total.

There is little hope that any of the bodies remaining in the wreckage will be found intact. The general aspect of the debris indicates that hundreds of thousands of javelin-like splinters and shreds of buildings were shot through the first accumulations of ruins by the debris subsequently hurled onward by the continuing flood.

The aspect of Austin Costello and the valley beyond today, is as dreary as it is appalling. The towns look like dead towns. The valley-side hills in which they lie, are still littered by the shattered homes of the people and the remnants of prosperous places of business, and the plants which gave large numbers employment. Their total property is entirely a matter of conjecture. No reliable estimate has been or can be soon made, but it is safe to say it will not be less than $8,000,000. The paper and lumber industries are utterly destroyed. For more than twenty years, they have prospered while stripping the surrounding hills of its virgin timber. The supply was rapidly nearing exhaustion and at the best, it was thought that five years from now the industry would be practically at an end. In fact about 200 families had moved from Austin this fall. Five hundred more would have gone within the next year or two unless some industrial developments came in to hold them.

Questioned as to the cause of the sudden failure of the Bayles Pulp and Paper Company's dams, citizens and others accustomed to visit Austin shake their heads ominously. They recall a year ago last January when a considerable leak was discovered in the immense structure. Although two feet along the rim of the dam were moved to relieve the pressure and a fourteen foot patch was placed where needed, the alignment of the upper edge of the dam gradually became a slight arc instead of a straight line. This bulge caused much worry on the part of the citizens and led to a somewhat recent inspection. Certain prospective measures were determined upon but the delay was fatal. A view from the surrounding hills shows how complete was the setting for the tragedy. Below the dam today, the valley for a mile or more is swept practically clear to bed rock and

HOW THE TORIES PLAYED THE GAME

(To the Editor of the Montreal 'Witness'.)

Sir,—It may interest your readers to know the character of the campaign which obtained more than a thousand of a majority for the Nipissing. There was really no attempt to meet the economic reasoning of those who advocated the endorsing of the reciprocity agreement; the campaign was fought and won on appeal to national, racial and religious prejudices.

(1). The agreement was represented on every side as having for its object the bringing of Canada into political union with the United States.

(2). Everywhere among the Protestant voters Sir Wilfrid Laurier was denounced as a Roman Catholic and as being responsible for the situation created by the Ne Temere Decree. In the Catholic sections, profound silence upon these points was maintained.

(3). Sir Wilfrid was denounced as an enemy of the English people. In this constituency, there are hundreds of English immigrants. It may safely be said that these voted almost to a man for the Conservative candidate. It was pumped into them that Laurier was French, that he hated and despised the English, and that his great object was to strike a blow at England. One day I was in the Conservative committee room here, when an Englishman came in. After some preliminary remarks, the man in charge of the rooms, himself an Englishman, said to the visitor:

'Charley, do you know what old Laurier calls us fellows?'

'No.'

'He calls us (Englishmen) infidels, scum of the earth, blackguards.'

Charley was worked up to a tremendous pitch of hatred, against Laurier. This is the kind of a thing that took the Englishman in this district to the poll like a flock of sheep.

(4). You will scarcely credit it, but while this campaign was going on in some parts of the riding, an entirely different campaign was being waged in other sections where there is a large French-Canadian population. Every care was taken in these parts to magnify the French, and Henri Bourassa with his anti-British prestige was brought out Sudbury to speak on behalf of the Conservative candidate. He was fawned upon by this ward candidate, who, up in the north had talked loyalty so fervently and who had in secret given pledges to the Orangemen of the district that he would take a strong stand upon the question of a uniform Marriage Act for the whole Dominion.

Truly for ways that are dark, and tricks that are vain, the Canadian politician is peculiar.

YORK COUNTY POLITICIANS ON DECK AT OTTAWA

(By Wireless.)

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—Hon. F. McLeod, solicitor general of New Brunswick, and Oswald S. Crockett, M.P. for York, arrived here yesterday. Mr. Crockett is here to push his claims for a portfolio in the Borden cabinet and Mr. McLeod is here to back him up. Interviewed by the correspondent of a London newspaper this morning, Mr. McLeod said:

'I elected Mr. Crockett in York, I elected every other Conservative in New Brunswick and I am going to have some say in the division of the spoils. I am the big noise in New Brunswick. I am entitled to a portfolio, and if I can't have it I will see that it goes to Mr. Crockett. I firmly believe that if I had offered as a candidate in Quebec 'East I would have defeated Laurier.'

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—A portly old gentleman called "the King," said to hail from York, N.B., has arrived here at the depot. He enquired for Mr. Bourassa's residence and started out to make the trip on foot. It is believed that he is after a portfolio or a job of some sort.

TO SHOW HOW NEW YORK IS RUN

New York, Oct. 2.—Visitors to New York's second budget exposition, which opened today and will continue until the end of the month, may learn from the numerous charts and illustrations many interesting things concerning the Metropolis. For instance, the figures show that in New York city there is a birth every four minutes, a death every seven minutes, and a marriage every eleven minutes. Moving pictures illustrate the work of the various city departments and show how is spent the immense sum of $174,000,000 that is required to run the city for one year.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Black returned today from New York where they spent their honeymoon. They leave this evening for their home at Napadogan.

Freemans Run the reservoir feeder swollen by last night's rain, is sweeping through new channels, serried in the rock where the main business portion of the town once stood.
