INVITING SICKNESS

People Whose Blood Supply is Scanty are in Danger of a Breakdown

Thin or impure blood is an invitation to sickness. The blood is at work day and night to maintain the health and any lack of strength or purity in the blood is a weakness in the defence against disease. Anaemia is the doctor's name for lack of blood. Its surest symptom is pallor. Anaemia does not confine itself to age or sex, though it is particularly common to young girls between the age of fourteen and seventeen, when nature makes peculiar demand upon the blood supply. The same lack of blood, however, prevents full recovery after la grippe, fevers, malaria, and operations, and is present in old age and in persons who have been under unusual mental or physical strain. In all cases of bloodlessness Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine known to medical science. They actually make new, pure blood, which brings with it a healthy appetite and new strength and vitality. Mrs. George Roy, Clair, Sask., says: "I have tested the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills time and again when a poor condition of the blood might have led to more serious trouble. I am a woman of forty and as occasion required I have used the Pills off and on since girlhood. I have proved their value in the ailments that afflict my sex, and I have never known them to fail. I also gave them to my son for nerve trouble which we thought would result in St. Vitus Dance, but the use of the Pills prevented this and made him well and strong. I do not know any better investment than to keep half a dozen boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house, as they will save more expensive doctor's bills." You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

EXCHANGED MESSAGES WITH KING GEORGE

Halifax, Aug. 15—The Duke of Connaught was pleased with the proceedings at the dedication of the memorial tower yesterday and today sent the following message to his majesty: "To the King of England: "On the occasion of the dedication of the tower, commemorative of the first overseas legislative assembly, I send you in the name of the representatives of Canada, of its provinces, of Australia, Newfoundland and England their dutiful expressions of loyalty. (Signed) "ARTHUR." The following reply dated Bolton Abbey (Eng.) was received this evening: "To H. R. H. The Duke of Connaught, Halifax: "Will you convey to the representatives my sincere thanks for their messages and assure them that I much appreciate their expressions of loyalty. (Signed) "GEORGE R. I."

His royal highness was kept busy today. In the forenoon he visited the dockyard, where his brother the late king, landed in 1860. In the afternoon he laid the corner stone of a new science building for Dalhousie University, to which Andrew Carnegie has promised $40,000. Then he unveiled a corner stone marking the place where Sir John Moore had his quarters in Halifax. The site is now occupied by the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Tonight he attended a state banquet at Government House. Tomorrow he goes to Windsor.

SECOND TRIAL OF LOEWE CASE

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 16—Attorneys for both sides have completed preparations for the second trial of the case of D. E. Loewe and Company, of Danbury, against officers and members of the United Hatters of North America for damages alleged to have been sustained by reason of a boycott alleged to have been instituted against the produce of the company's factory. The trial will be commenced in the United States court here next Tuesday. Judge James L. Martin of Brattleboro, Vt., will preside and the case will be heard by a jury.

The Loewe case is regarded as the most important legal controversy of its kind that has ever arisen between American capital and organized labor. As originally begun, the dispute was of a local character and apparently of small significance, but before long it had practically resolved itself into a contest between the American Anti-Boycott Association and the American Federation of Labor.

The history of the case dates back to 1901, when the union hatters employed by D. E. Loewe and Company struck. Suit was brought in 1903 against Martin Lawlor and 139 other members of the hatters' union, and damages of $230,000 claimed for alleged boycotting. The case, which was taken up by the American Anti-Boycott Association, was first brought to the United States District Court and the Superior Court of Fairfield County, Conn., but was not tried there. It was taken to the Supreme Court of the United States on the question whether the allegations made constituted a violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust law.

In February, 1908, the Supreme Court handed down a decision to the effect that the allegations constituted a violation of the law and in October, 1909, the case was begun in the United States Circuit Court at Hartford and after a long trial the jury found for the plaintiffs and awarded them damages of $222,000. That the American Federation of Labor was back of the hatters was brought out in the Hartford trial. In April of last year the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in New York reversed the decision of the United States Circuit Court and remanded the case for a new trial.

DETROIT CENTENNIAL

Detroit, Aug. 16—One hundred years ago today the city of Detroit, and with it the entire territory now comprised in the State of Michigan was surrendered by General William Hull to the British army in command of Sir Isaac Brock. The surrender was the first important event in the war of 1812 between the United States and Great Britain.

General Hull was governor of the territory of Michigan when the war began. He was appointed to the command of the army of the Northwest, with directions to invade Canada. This was to be the first important military movement of the war and nobody in the United States doubted that it would be crowned with success. The invasion was to be through the western border on the Detroit River.

General Hull took command of an army of volunteers at Dayton, O., in May 1812. Soon after he received a message from the war department ordering him to march speedily to Detroit and await orders there. When he reached the Maumee River he embarked his baggage and stores on several small vessels. At this time he did not know that war had been declared but the British commander knew it, and when the vessels were captured near Fort Malden they were captured with all their valuable freight.

Early in July General Hull reached Detroit, and found the British on the other side of the river throwing up intrenchments. In a few days the American commander received orders to advance and immediately crossed his troops over to the Canadian side of the river. The army advanced toward Malden successfully but suddenly fell back, and hearing that large British forces were coming General Hull crossed Detroit River again and established himself in the fort.

The British followed and prepared to attack the fort. His troops were ready and anxious to fight, but without offering any resistance General Hull surrendered the fort, the army and the territory of Michigan. The American forces were estimated at about 2,000 men. These with 2,500 stands of arms, 30 pieces of ordnance and 40 barrels of gunpowder was delivered up to the British.

General Hull was later summoned to a court martial, which found him guilty of cowardice and sentenced him to death. The sentence of death was not executed but he was dropped from the army rolls. In the course of time General Hull's conduct met with vindication in the minds of the people, and much of the blame for the surrender was laid upon the war department for its failure to make adequate preparations for carrying on the war.

He could not go from Washington to New York in a few hours.

WILL ACCEPT LOAN FROM GOVERNMENT

Regina, Sask., Aug. 15—At a meeting of the City Council last night, it was decided to accept the offer of the provincial government of a loan of half a million dollars to the city for use of those whose homes were destroyed by the cyclone. It was also reported by the finance committee that there is at least a possibility of securing a loan of a million dollars from the Dominion Government.

MYSTERY CONNECTED WITH NEW C.P.R. ISSUE

Ottawa, Aug. 15—Nothing more can be learned today in government circles in reference to the application of the C.P.R. for authorization of an increase of its capital stock.

That such an application has been received there is no reasonable doubt. At the state department it is definitely stated that no application has been received, and the supposition is that it is in the hands of Acting Premier Perley. He declines, however, to say anything in regard to the matter.

It is pointed out in connection with the application that an authorization of an increase of its capital stock may be made by an order-in-council. The last previous application was referred to parliament. Whether or not this will be done this time is a matter of conjecture.

No official information is available as to when the application will be considered, but it can be safely asserted that if the new issue of stock involves the cutting of a melon for the benefit of the shareholders the application will not be disposed of until after Premier Borden's return to the capital.

He had never seen an electric light or dreamed of an electric car.
