BEST STORIES OF THE WAR

Correspondents at the front or marooned in obscure places while the great European conflict rages, manage daily to get through the wary censors some little grimly humorous or tragic side-lights of the war. Here are the best that have come over the cables or by mail today:

"BLOOD ON THE SKYLINE!"

The effect of the passing of the Home Rule Bill upon the Irish soldiers in France is described in a letter Corporal J. J. Cunningham of the 1st Irish Guards to a friend in Loughlin, Essex, in which he says:

"We are all doing very well, and you will be glad to learn that the 'Micks' are slaughtering the Germans left, right and centre.

"We are now entrenched in the thick of the fray, and the only complaint among the officers here is that it is giving them hell and the devil to hold those 'mad' Irish back. When they fix bayonets and sing 'God Save Ireland' there is always blood on the skyline.

You will, I know, be sorry to learn, that poor old McEnroy, our champion boxer, is among the wounded. We all had some narrow escapes, but any German our fellows met did not get the chance of even a narrow escape.

"The boys are in great spirits, as they learned on the battlefield that the Home Rule bill had been placed on the statue book. I need not tell you that when the news came there was a terrific cheer for 'Gen.' John Redmond.

"We are all very well treated out here and receive plenty of tobacco and rum."

DUEL IN THE CLOUDS.

The Paris Intransigent prints an account of an air duel from the lips of a wounded artilleryman. He says:

"My battery was crossing an open plain when the humming of an aeroplane motor, like the noise of a huge fly, was heard above. Instantly every one stiffened and was silent. Some one whispered:

"I recognize the Boche motor. It is certainly a German biplane."

"All crouch near the ground for the purpose of remaining unnoticed.

"Suddenly another aeroplane appears.

"That's a French mono," whispers my well informed comrade. We can see the tricolor emblem.

"They are going to fight. Both mount. Suddenly the rattle of a quick-firer bursts from the Germans. The monoplane dives sharply sideways. 'My God, he's hit!' cries an officer near me.

"No, it's only a manoeuvre. The Frenchman dodging the fusillade mounts to deliver a broadside. His big adversary seeks vainly to escape. The more agile monoplane outmanoeuvres, diving under him and delivering the broadside.

"The enemy veers upwards as if trying to escape but dense smoke spouts from the steel carcass. He dips down-

HAD DYSPEPSIA

So Bad Could Not Take a Drink of Water Without Suffering.

Dyspepsia is one of the most difficult diseases of the stomach there is to cure. You eat too much. Drink too much. Use too much tobacco. You make the stomach work overtime. You make it perform more than it should be called on to do. The natural result is that it is going to rebel against the amount of work put on it. It is only a matter of a short time before dyspepsia follows.

That old, forty year old remedy, Burdock Blood Bitters, will cure the dyspepsia and will cure it to stay cured as we can prove by the thousands of testimonials we have received from time to time.

Miss Sarah McRae, Newfield, Ont., writes: "I write to say that I have used your Burdock Blood Bitters, and have found it the best remedy I have ever used for dyspepsia. Two years ago, I had stomach trouble so bad that I could not even take a drink of water without suffering. I took six bottles of B.B.B., and have been entirely cured, and can now eat anything without any bad after effects."

Burdock Blood Bitters is an old and well tried remedy but on account of the many substitutes we would ask you to make sure that our name appears on both the label and wrapper as this preparation is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ward and then slides in a long volplane toward a neighboring clover field

"We run toward him cheering but the biplane clears the clover field and seems about to rise again. Then it pitches head-first into the swamp beyond. Flames shoot from the wreck. We find the occupants, a captain and a sapper, both burned and mangled."

FRENCH CRUISER'S ESCAPE.

A thrilling story of how a French-cruiser engaged with an aeroplane and submarine simultaneously is told by a midshipman, who says that the French armoured cruiser Waldeck-Rousseau was heading for Cattaro in the small hours of the morning and was warned that three submarines had stolen out to get her. Day had scarcely dawned when also an Austrian biplane came sailing through the air straight toward the cruiser, hovering at not more than 1,500 feet above the ship.

Unmoved apparently, by the hail of shot by quick-fires, the biplane let fall a bomb which splashed into the sea about thirty feet to the starboard, abaft the bridge. A second bomb just missed the port quarter. At the same time the lookout signalled the submarine 800 yards starboard. The submarine discharged a torpedo almost as soon as she was sighted, but the ship had time to shift her helm and the deadly shaft went swirling by not more than three feet from the stern.

Before it could make a second shot the cruiser had blown away its periscope and another broadside must have sunk her for she was never seen again. Another submarine came sneaking up on another side. A destroyer endeavored to draw the cruiser's fire while the submarine crept in.

The Waldeck-Rousseau was easily a match for the two and shortly after the destroyer turned and ran for the harbor with a nasty list to port, while the submarine dived to escape the storm of shell and did not show itself again.

"AS IF BY LIGHTNING!"

The awfulness of modern artillery fire is described in a thrilling story told by a British officer just returned from Flanders. He says:

"I took eight men to find out what happened to Captain. B.—and a platoon who were sent to support the firing line. Three hundred yards out I saw the line of our infantry lying flat on the ground and made toward them. I shall never forget traversing those 300 yards. The Germans' guns which were only 800 yards away, fired with extreme accuracy. It seemed impossible my little army could escape. Three were almost immediately hit but we others kept on and reached the line.

"To my horror I found all dead or wounded except three men who were keeping perfectly still. I found a subaltern on his knee with one hand resting on the ground just in the attitude of a runner who is waiting the signal for the start of a race. He was stone dead. A shrapnel bullet had pierced his head. The man next him, badly wounded in the thigh, told me the entire line was struck down as if by lightning. He said the subaltern remarked after being hit, 'Go on, please; I can't move. I must be wounded.' In the centre a bunch of twenty-five men lay in a heap, having massed as they advanced for mutual protection. I never have seen such wound at this short range. Many had been blown to bits by shrapnel. One had twelve bullets in his leg. Another had his chest blown away."

BETWEEN VOLLEYS.

"Latest" from the trenches: A hare startled by rifle fire bounds wildly along the space between the French and German trenches. Instantly every rifle aims at the animal which is shot.

Impulsively a Frenchman jumps out and hastens to seize the game, having visions of a tasty evening meal. That does not suit the Germans who momentarily suspending their rifle fire shout: "Tobacco! Tobacco!"

The Frenchmen comprehend at once that the Germans will allow them to appropriate the hare if they leave the tobacco in exchange.

Whereupon the Frenchmen collect cigarettes and tobacco. One goes out, lifts the hare and leaves in its place a respectable packet of tobacco for the

INDIGESTION GAS OR SICK SOUR STOMACH

Time "Pape's Diapepsin!" In Five Minutes all Stomach Misery is Gone

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breathe foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back. It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.

"EAST LYNNE"

On Monday and Tuesday next week, the Gaiety Theatre will offer to its numerous patrons "East Lynne," in six reels and 117 scenes, adapted from Mrs. Henry Wood's famous novel, the world's greatest emotional drama, magnificently staged in the famous Severn Valley in Western England, by a selected cast of celebrated English stars.
