BIRTHDAY OF PIONEER SUFFRAGIST

Elizabeth, N.J., May 20—The Rev. Dr. Antoinette Louisa Brown Blackwell, the oldest survivor among the pioneers of the equal suffrage movement in America, quietly celebrated her eighty-ninth birthday anniversary at her home in this city today. Messages of greeting from suffrage organizations and personal friends in all parts of the country were received.

Mrs. Blackwell attended and took a prominent part in the first woman's convention held in Worcester, Mass., in 1849. In the years that followed she was intimately associated in the cause with Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Susan B. Anthony and other pioneers of the movement who have since passed away.

In addition to being the oldest living equal suffrage advocate Mrs. Blackwell has the distinction of being the oldest woman minister in this country. She studied at Oberlin Theological Seminary and was ordained to the ministry in 1853. Because the Congregational church would not permit of a woman regularly filling a pulpit she severed her connection with that denomination and embraced Unitarianism. She is pastor emerita of All Souls Unitarian church in this city.

LATE MR. SANSOM WAS HIGHLY ESTEEMED

(The Campbellton Graphic.)
Last Friday afternoon those passed away to her eternal rest, one who was greatly beloved by all who knew her, Mrs. David Sansom.

She had been in failing health for the past six months but she bore her illness with uncomplaining patience and Christian resignation. She was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bell of Taymouth, her father being a well-known farmer and lumberman in that district, and is owner of the well-known Bell's Hotel in that town. She was married in 1890 to Mr. David Sansom of this town, and was a highly esteemed member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, to which she devoted much loving attention. It is but lately that she and her husband donated the exquisite individual communion set which the church now uses. The deceased lady was a niece of Mr. E. A. Bell of Fredericton. She leaves three children, Jean, Quentin and Jim, to the care of a mourning husband, and two sisters, Mrs. Hoyt of Fredericton, and Miss Bell, who nursed her through her long illness, and they mourn for one who, only in her thirty-fifth year, was cut off in the midst of her usefulness and in the flower of her womanhood. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon, the services being conducted by Rev. W. Gordon Firth B.A., of Tide Head, assisted by Rev. J. H. Jenner and Rev. C. W. Squires. A double quartette from St. Andrew's church carried out the musical part as arranged by the deceased lady, the hymns sung by them being, "Let the Lower Lights be Burning," "Nearer My God to Thee," "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Good Night."

About the largest number of mourners turned out as ever was known here, many being unable to procure teams to take them to the Rural Cemetery, where interment was made. The pall-bearers were Messrs. J. R. McKenzie, W. M. Millican, A. A. Andrew, James R. Craig, H. A. Carr and James D. McMillan. During the time of the funeral procession the bell of the Baptist church was tolled. The floral tributes were very beautiful, flowers and wreaths being received from many friends, among whom were:

The Men's Union of St. Andrew's church.
Mrs. Barberie and Mr. J. Barberie, Dr. and Mrs. McNichol.
Mr. and Mrs. R. J. S. Sly.
Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Richards.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Richards.
Mr. and Mrs. John Richards.
Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bell, Fredericton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McMillan.
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Miller.
Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Evans.
Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Moores.

There was also a beautiful pillow from the bereaved husband and children and an anchor from her mother and father and family. The expressions of sympathy extended to the sorrowing ones have been heartfelt and general and with these others The Graphic desires to extend sympathy and kindly thought to the mourning family who feel their loss so keenly.

MODERN LANGUAGES.

There is a certain old German of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., whose pride, like that of many self-made men, leads him at times into a sort of patronizing condescension toward those things he did not "have time for" when he was making his way in life.

Upon the occasion of the graduation of a nephew he said:
"Vell, Wilhelm, vot did dey teach you up there?"

"Greek and Latin," said the boy, "and German and algebra."

"So, so," murmured the old German. "And vot's der algebra for potatoes now?"—Youth's Companion.

STIFF SENTENCE WAS REMITTED

(Montreal Mail.)

Though sentenced by Mr. Justice Langelier to a term of imprisonment far in excess of the statutory period, Joseph Grasson did not remain long the victim of a judicial error. For the offence he committed Grasson was liable to the penalty of a fine of twenty dollars, or imprisonment for one month. When a term of five years was imposed his lawyer, Mr. A. Tashereau lost little time in moving for a remedy against undue hardship to his client. Habeas corpus proceedings resulted in the presence of Grasson in Mr. Justice Lavergne's chambers. He entered the room in the striped suit the badge of the penitentiary and emerged fifteen minutes later a free man.

The offence with which he had been charged was the theft of four chickens the charge being brought under article charged before Mr. Justice Langelier 370 It is expressly provided therein that "every one who steals any dog, or any bird, beast, or other animal ordinarily kept in a state of confinement or for any domestic purpose," is liable, if the property does not exceed the value of twenty dollars, to a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars, or to one month's imprisonment with hard labor; and if the culprit has been previously convicted he is liable to three months imprisonment.

Having served one month, the application was made in behalf of Grasson by his counsel, for the release. Mr. Justice Lavergne was called upon to decide whether his colleague had or had not exceeded the power conferred upon him. His judgment was to free Grasson from further imprisonment.

All that the latter had to do then was in the language of Mr. J. C. Walsh, K. C., to "fetch his clothes." He lost no time neither in divesting himself of the convict apparel nor in speeding back to his wife and family.

WAS TROUBLED BOILS AND CARBUNCLES.

There is no more frequent source of illness than that arising from bad blood, for when the blood becomes impure, it is only natural that boils, pimples or some other indication of bad blood should break out of the system.

Boils in themselves are not a dangerous trouble, but still at the same time are very painful, and the only way to get rid of them is to cleanse the blood of the impurities. Cleanse it thoroughly by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters, that old and reliable blood medicine that has been on the market for nearly forty years.

Mr. James Wilds, Plaster Rock, N.B., writes:—"I was greatly troubled, a few years ago, with boils and carbuncles, and the doctor told me I was in a bad condition. My appetite failed me, I began to lose strength, and was pretty well run down when one of my friends recommended Burdock Blood Bitters. After using three bottles I began to feel like another man. My troubles soon left me, and to-day I can certainly give Burdock Blood Bitters a high recommendation to my friends."

TRIED A TYPEWRITER

"Have you ever tried a typewriter?" asked one city man of another, as they chatted together in the railway carriage on their way home after business.

"I have," responded the merchant addressed, visions of the fluffy-haired damsel who had manipulated the machine floating before his mind's eye; "and she tried me, too—for breach of promise."

A LIVING DEATH

Tom:—"How's our old friend Dick?"
Harry:—"Don't speak of him—poor fellow!"

Tom:—"What! is he dead?"
Harry:—"Worse than that."

Tom:—"Heaven! What has happened to him?"
Harry:—"He's run off with my wife!"

SHERLOCK IN THE KITCHEN

The modern Sherlock climbed through the window and entered the kitchen.

"His wife is away," ejaculated Sherlock, as he surveyed the room with the critical eye of Scotland Yard. "I shall find out how long she has been away."

And then Sherlock began to count the soiled dishes piled up on the shelf. "She has been away exactly fourteen days," he commented.

"And how did you find that out, chief?" asked his friend and assistant, Dr. Watson.

"Why, it's dead easy! Married men never wash their dishes when their wives are away, and there are just forty-two soiled plates on that shelf. That means three plates a day for fourteen days."
