KID FLEMMING'S DREAM

'Twas the eve before departure, While the province soundly slept, O'er our premier's restless slumbers One dark vision slowly crept.
Nights before he'd laid in silence;
And the world to him did seem,
One vast multitude of go(u)ld bugs 'Til there came to him this dream.

That the "grim and silent Reaper," Whom we give the name of death, Came along in search of flowers.
Mowed him down with one swift breath,
Then by angel wings transplanted J. Kidd left this scene of graft; Next he stood in fear and trembling In the heavenly realms—aghast.

All about him richest splendor.
Gorgeous robes and fairest forms.
Grandest music softly stealing Over all of heavens charms.
Stately halls of smoothest marble Furnished in the grandest style, Widest streets of purest yellow, Go(u)ld that made our Kiddie smile smile

Rose St. Peter, grand and stately; Spoke, he then in fullest tone;
While the angels paused to listen All around the great white throne;
"James Kidd Flemming is present Let him speak if he would live, While the answer to these questions I command that he shall give."

Art thou honest man or grafter?
Speak and be ye not too loath!"
Calmly, slowly, James Kidd answered Did'st thou stand for no corruption.
Or go the limit for the graft? On your oath?
And again our premier answered "Whv, I stood flat footed for them both."

Then did St. Peter pause and ponder As he sadly shook his head, Then again to J. Kidd turning Waved for silence, as he said:
"Can a man be white and upright At the same time yellow too?
Can a man through graft and blackmail Make a record clean and true?"

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE IN THE DOMINION

Interesting Figures Showing How Young Canada is Being Educated From Kindergarten to University

The school attendance of the population of the Dominion, between the ages of five and twenty-four years, is given in a Bulletin issued by Census and Statistics Office. The statistics are based on information collected by the enumerators for the year prior to the taking of the last census, and show that the total number of persons between the ages of six and twenty at that date, was 2,141,909, of whom 1,801,779, or 84.12 per cent., were Canadian-born; 6.65 were British and 9.23 per cent. foreign born. Of this number, only 44.82 per cent. were at school for more than six months in the year, and only 52.51 per cent.
attended school for any length of time.

These figures do not seem very credible or very promising at first sight, but further examination partially accounts for the low percentage at school. The smallest numbers are of children at the age of five, which many people think is too young for beginning school unless a kindergarten is available, and of boys and girls over fifteen, when the public school course is in most cases completed.
The largest attendance is between the ages of seven and fourteen, at which period 921,454 children, or 79.83 per cent., attended school, but of these only 69.58 per cent. attended for more than six months in the year.

The proportions of boys and girls attending school in Canada are fairly equal at most age periods, the girls being in the majority between the ages of fifteen and twenty, thus indicating that more girls than boys go on to High Schools. Between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-four the figures are 4,073 males and 1,749 females. Probably this is due to the fact that more young men enter college for the professions; also in some cases young men who have had their own way to make in the world manage to go to school for a part of the year to obtain a belated education.
One notices that the proportions of boys and girls attending school are more nearly equal in the Canadian-born population than in the foreign born. In the latter, the boys are in excess except at the five-year age period.

Viewing the figures in the negative the statistics show that of the total number of children between seven and fourteen, the Province of Ontario had 157 children of every 1,000 who were not attending school; Quebec had 190 per 1,000, New Brunswick 200, Nova Scotia 171, and Prince Edward Island 154, whose education had apparently been neglected in the year the census was taken. The numbers not reported as attending school were proportionately larger in the Western Provinces, but this does not by any means indicate that opportunities for education are not valued in those provinces. On the contrary, new schools are opened up every week in the year. But the circumstances of settlement in a new country, particularly when settlers have to take up homesteads in remote districts, make it impossible sometimes to send the children to school, at least for some years until more settlers come in.

As might be expected, the attendance was proportionately larger in the cities and towns than in the country districts. The children of immigrants from foreign countries show the smallest percentage attending school, only 48.19 per cent. for over six months in the year.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are not a new and untried remedy—our grandfathers used them. Half a century ago, before Confederation, they were on sale in nearly every drug or general store in the Canada of that day, and were the recognized cure in thousands of homes for Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness, Rheumatism and Kidney and Liver Troubles. Today they are just as effective, just as reliable as ever, and nothing better

A DO. C. L. S. LAKE

Peculiar Body of Water Discovered in Rockies by Foresters

In the heart of the snow-clad Rockies hundreds of miles west of Edmonton lies a lake whose waters are always troubled, into which a large river flows but out of which there is no visible exit. The leader of a fore-survey party sent out by the Dominion Forestry Branch to examine the forest in this wild region states that the Indians shun this lake as the abode of evil spirits, and, to give credence to this superstition, from time to time deep rumblings may be heard where far below the surface the water swirls through the hidden outlet. The river that enters the lake rushes from a subterranean cave many miles down the valley, the portal of which no man has ever yet passed.

WAS TROUBLED WITH Weak and Dizzy Spells.

Heart Would Beat Something Awful.

Those feelings of weakness, those dizzy spells which come over people from time to time, are warnings that must not go unheeded.

They indicate an extremely weakened condition of the heart and a disordered state of the nerves. One dizzy spell may pass off, but eventually they will come frequently, and at the same time more serious.

Those who are wise will start taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills before their case becomes hopeless, for they have no equal for restoring the heart to its usual strength, and making the nerves firm and steady.
Mrs. Len. Kinney, Moose Mountain, N.B., writes:—"I was troubled with weak and dizzy spells, and my heart would beat something awful. I got so I had those spells every day. I got so I would try one medicine, and then another, but nothing did me any good until I got Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I can safely say they did me more good than anything I ever took, for I feel like a very different woman. My friends often ask me what I have been taking, and I always say 'Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.' I tell all my friends who say their heart troubles them, to take your pills."
