PATRON SAINT LAST EVENING

The members of the Fredericton Society of St. Andrew's honored the memory of their patron saint in a most fitting manner at the Knights of Pythias Hall, York street, last evening. A smoker and oyster supper, with songs, made up the program and it was thoroughly enjoyed by the half a hundred persons who composed the gathering. Mayor Mitchell, the president of the society, was in the chair, with Past President McMurray on his right and Secretary R. B. Wallace on his left. The invited guests included Judge Wilson and Mr. H. C. Christie, traveller for Cowans, Limited, of Toronto.

Prof. Washington had charge of the catering and served an excellent repast, which received full justice at the hands of the company. Greetings from sister societies in cities and towns in Canada, exchanged during this day, were read by Secretary Wallace.

Mayor Mitchell started the speech-making in a brief address, in which he referred to the fact that it was the ninetieth birthday of the society. He expressed pleasure at the large attendance and promised an interesting program.

Prof. Cameron of the U.N.B., rendered "A Hundred Pipers" in a manner which provoked very hearty applause.

Mr. E. A. McKay, in a brief address proposed "The Day and a' Who Honor It."

Mr. R. W. McLellan, in replying to this toast, made touching reference to former members of the society, including Messrs. Jas. Tennant, William Minto and A. S. Murray, who had gone the way of all the world. He alluded to the European war and the prominent part being taken in the same by Scotchmen. He paid an eloquent tribute to the great Scotchmen of the past and their noble work for mankind, mentioning particularly the names of Robert Bruce, Sir William Wallace and Robert Burns. In closing he expressed the hope that the time would come when man to man the world o'er would brothers be for a' that.

Piper Hayter of St. John, who was dressed in full Highland costume, then treated the gathering to a selection on the bagpipes.

Lieut. A. S. McFarlane, in an eloquent speech, proposed a toast to "The men behind the gun and the boys in the trenches," which was drunk with musical honors, the company singing "The Soldiers of the King."

A PATRIOTIC ADDRESS.

Rev. Dr. Smith replied in a patriotic address, which was followed with the closest interest. He warmly praised the men now serving the empire at the front and spoke of their wonderful endurance and courage under trying conditions. The casualty lists as published, showed that the officers were nobly bearing their share of the battle's brunt. He quoted from The Mail a letter written by a resident of Gagetown to Lieut. Pidgeon as showing the wonderful spirit of devotion to the empire's cause being manifested by the men and women of the country. They were prepared to make every sacrifice that the cause of the Allies might triumph in this awful war. He paid tribute to Sir Edward Grey and other British statesmen for the efforts they had put forth to maintain the peace of the world and also for the way in which they were conducting affairs in this, the greatest crisis in the history of the empire. He condemned the alliance of Germany with the unspeakable Turk and stated that if the German cause should triumph in this war, civilization would be turned back two thousand years.

Leo Dolan being called upon, rendered a vocal solo, after which Judge Crockett, in a neat speech, proposed the health of Scotchmen all over the world.

Mr. Harry Lee rendered "Loch Lomond," and Mr. R. B. Hanson, in a neat speech, proposed a toast to the Canadian troops at home and abroad. This was followed by the singing of "O Canada" by a male quartette.

Lieut. Col. Loggie, honorary colonel of the 71st Regt., replied to the toast in an interesting speech. He referred to his long connection with the active militia, dating from 1871, and to the efforts he had always put forth to encourage rifle shooting.

Col. Loggie's speech was followed by the singing of "The Boys of the Old Brigade" by a male quartette.

Secretary Wallace proposed the health of "Our Guests," which brought an eloquent and witty speech from Judge Wilson. Mr. H. C. Christie also replied briefly to this toast.

A vocal solo by Prof. McDonald of the U.N.B., and the singing of Auld Lang Syne brought the pleasant gathering to a close.

About twenty of the members formed in line and, headed by the pipes, escorted President Mitchell to his home.

as far as possible. Following the changes in the present High School building, it is proposed to transfer the science department from the basement to one of the rooms on the main floor. The Sloyd department, which is located on the third floor, will very likely be brought to the first floor. Then the removal to the Smythe Street School of the department taught by Miss Betts will enable the trustees to restore to the High School the Assembly Hall in its original form.

Several other matters requiring attention, an adjournment was made until this afternoon.

THE GRAFT ORGAN AND MAYOR MITCHELL

The local graft organ, in its issue of last evening, made a nasty and uncalled for attack upon His Worship Mayor Mitchell, who is also the president of St. Andrew's Society. It accused His Worship of having blundered in connection with the arrangements for the St. Andrew's Day celebration. It stated that the society was organized in 1825, therefore it was wrong to call it the 90th anniversary. Judge Crockett, a past president of the society and for years its secretary, stated last evening in a public address that it was the 90th anniversary or celebration and we presume he knew what he was talking about. The graft organ declares that a "luncheon" is a noon-time repast. The organ is wrong again. Webster's dictionary defines a luncheon as "a portion of food taken at any time except at a regular meal." Just beneath the word "luncheon" in the dictionary is the word "lune," which is defined as "a fit of lunacy or madness, a period of frenzy or crazy or unreasonable freak." This is a correct definition of the graft organ's attitude toward Mayor Mitchell.

FAREWELL BANQUET

A number of young men who have volunteered for overseas service in the artillery and infantry were entertained to a farewell banquet at Washington's restaurant last evening. Sergt. George Parker presided over the gathering, and the evening passed very pleasantly. The guests included Carl Walker, Amos Pickard, Smith Drew, A. C. Pincombe, John Harvey, Ken Christie, and Hub McDonald. The gathering broke up at a late hour.
