MEN OF THE HOUR

Second cousin of the Czar, to whom the latter has delegated the supreme command of the Russian army, and who has been responsible in large measure for the crushing defeat of the command of the Chronic The Chronic Poland as what he is, a horn cavalryman. He won the St. George's Cross for conspicuous gallantry on the batelefield of the Turkish war of 1877, is the eldest son of the late Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholatovitch, who commanded the Russian army in that sampaign, is rated by the German War Department at Berlin, and by the military experts of Europe, as the most clever and brilliant cavalry leader now living, and has for several years past been at the head of the military district of St. Petersburg and of the capital, and as such re-sponsible for the safety of the Czar. the reigning house and of the government. Like General Sukomlinoff, he is married to a divorcee, his wife,

THE KING OF

Germans in Poland. The Grand Duke seen by eye witnesses from Cernovich, became commander-in-chief of the Rawa and other towns. According to this story the German general staff and the kaiser were so sure of conquest 3. He was born in Petrograd in November, 1856. as the city was taken.

Great receptions were on the pro gramme and with this in view the king was accompanied not only by court dignitarians but by ladies of his court, young and old. The thing turn ed out differently from what had been expected and the inhabitants of the towns mentioned, saw a procession of glittering court personages rushing home in motor cars.

DO WITHOUT.

While instructing his class regarding the early days of the New England states, a school teacher asked: "Do you know that the house of burgesses in those days was so pow erful that it controlled the clothes worn by the men? A man who earned $13 a week and one whose salary was $50 were compelled to show a distinction in the clothes they were wear ing and not to go beyond their

THE floors and doors appear to wait until the dust germs congregate; the housewife hails each dawning day with grim and harrowing dismay. Says the: "My work will NEVER end; o'er dusty stretches I must bend, until, with aching back and hands I finish what the day demands.'

Philosophy

"Floor-and-Door-a"

Then Mrs. Jones, one afternoon, dropped in, at time most opportune. An optimist, she knew the wiles of household work—its sighs and smiles. She told of how she polished floors and woodwork and the endless doors, until when Hubby saw them, too, reflections said: "Why, howdy-do!"

"The Gold Dust Twins," said she, "I find, help leave the woes of dust behind. Each mark of sticky hands on doors, each tread of muddy feet on floors, all fade before the slightest touch of Gold Dust, and the work is such that, when the woodwork has been done, I find said work was only fun." This line of reasoning must show that those who've tried it OUGHT to know. If you, in one day's duties, find that there's a Grouch in ev'ry Grind, invite the Gold Dust Twins to share such tasks as tire and When the battle's crash has ended and fret and wear.

From kitchen floor to bedroom suite, these tireless little chaps make neat, and best of all, the sum expense is measured up in meager cents. They put both dust and dirt to rout and run the last old microbe out.

A Word With Subscribers

ar misconception that in times of War a news aper makes money. As a matter of fact, any newspaper which tries to do its duty by its subscribers, loses money during war time. This is true of The I ally and Semi-Weekly Mail. Both of these papers, in spite of their tremendous increase in circulation, are not making any profit out of the war. This being the case, we have to ask our subscribers who are in arrears to be good enough to REMIT. If we are properly doing our duty toward you as a subscriber, we have to ask that you will carry out your duty to us by remitting promptly any amount that may be owing to us.

If you want to help us make our paper better, send us your subscription in advance. We assure you that we will spend it in improving our news service.

Accounts are now being sent out, and we will be very much indebted to you if you will give the same your prompt attention.

THE FALLEN HERO.

The soldier was limping back to camp from the battlefield when suddenly a vision in white rushed toward nim. Upon the sleeve of her dress he saw the insignia of the Red Cross.
"Poor fellow." she criedm "yod are wounded."

The soldier gazed long and sadly into her filue eyes. A frown furrowed his brow. He seemed to be having a strugile with himself. Then he shook

'But you must be injured," the insisted. "You are linping."

Again the soldier fought the good fight against temptation and again he won. Lowering his head, he muttered.

"Tight shoes, ma'am."
