ZAM-BUK

MRS. A. SAICH, of Cannington Manor, Sask., Writes:—"My brother suffered severely from eczema. The sores were very extensive, and burned like coals into his flesh. Zam-Buk took out all the fire, and quickly gave him ease. Within three weeks of commencing with Zam-Buk treatment, every sore had been cured."

This is but one of the many letters we are constantly receiving from people who have proved the healing powers of Zam-Buk. For eczema, piles, sores, burns, cuts and all skin troubles there is nothing like this wonderful balm. No skin disease should be considered incurable until Zam-Buk has been tried.

HAS CROWN RESERVE VEIN GIVEN OUT?

(Montreal Herald)

The persistent selling of Crown Reserve shares on the Montreal stock market sent the price of the mining issue to a low of $1.20, the lowest level reached by the issue since its listing in 1909.

In all 15,505 shares were dealt in here during the forenoon, as compared with 6,000 yesterday and 3,150 on Saturday last. The price changed from yesterday's closing, but fell sharply off to $1.20, relying on opened at $1.40, or practically "un- the end of the forenoon session to $1.30.

The decline in price was again accompanied by the usual plethora of rumors which involved the safety of the present two per cent. monthly dividend and the mining fortunes of the company in both the Cobalt and Porcupine districts.

What seems to be the best founded rumor was one which stated that the vein in the Porcupine Crown Mine, in which Crown Reserve is heavily interested, has been lost between the four hundred and five hundred foot levels. It was known some time ago that at the lower level there was no indication whatever of the vein and a winze was sunk from the higher-up level in the attempt to follow the ore-carrying lead. This, according to report, has shown the petering out of the vein, which is the only one of importance yet discovered on the Porcupine Crown property.

That the effect of such a discovery on Crown Reserve's prospects would be dampening to the highest degree, is indubitable. After the lower grade ore became the vague at the Reserve, the hope of the company was to a great extent pinned on the Porcupine property. If this proves disappointing, Crown Reserve is probably selling at around what it is worth at $1.20.

Officials of the company stated today that they had no definite knowledge of such developments, but the street, remembering the events of last year, was inclined to be pessimistic of the company's future.

Directors of Crown Reserve deny categorically that they have been sellers of the stock on the decline.

Porcupine Crown was fairly active on the mining exchange, opening at ninety cents and selling down to eighty five cents, with eighty offered and ninety asked at the forenoon closing.

WORLDLY WISDOM

It's a poor mule that has no kick coming.

The man whose credit is good need not trust to luck.

One drop of guile may make a quart of goodness ferment.

We must either give up our grouches or our friends.

Lots of things and men seem easy until one tries to do them.

Many a victor is sorry he won the battle after counting the cost.

Something should be done to discourage the belief that comfortable clothes are never stylish.

It may not be good for a man to live alone, but his wife may prefer the alimony.

Man cannot regulate the weather, but he can spend a lot of time growling about it.

Living straight is like building a railway—there are a lot of cuts and fills to be made.

Even an epicure would soon tire of his job if he were one continuous tound of pudding and ice-cream.

If a man dodges when his wife throws the coffee pot, it's a sure sign that he has been married only a short time.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK IN LITTLE OLD NEW YORK

New York, April 25—In the whole list of men and women who grace the American stage there are no two who enjoy more popularity among playgoers than John Drew and his charming niece, Ethel Barrymore. Consequently their joint tour this spring is looked forward to with delightful anticipation. In the past twenty years Miss Barrymore and Mr. Drew have never failed to see each other act in the plays performed by each other. But as actor and actress footlights have always intervened between them when they have been present in the same theatre. Now Mr. Frohman has arranged for them to appear together in Sardou's "A Scrap of Paper," beginning their season at the Empire Theatre in this city on May 11.

Old-time playgoers in the metropolis have learned with regret of the death of McKee Rankin in San Francisco. Many years ago Mr. Rankin and his wife, who died several years ago, were prime favorites in this city. They were truly actors of the old school. Their greatest successes were in plays having to do with a romantic and picturesque side of life on the western frontier, such as "The Danites" and "The Golden Giant." The Rankins appeared in the initial production of "The Two Orphans" in this city. At the height of his success Mr. Rankin built the Third Avenue Theatre, which had among its opening attractions such famous players as Joseph Jefferson, Clara Morris, Richard Mansfield and J. K. Emmet. In later years the bulk of Mr. Rankin's fortune was swept away in unsuccessful ventures. The Rankins were the parents of three girls, all of whom married well-known actors—Gladys, the eldest, becoming the wife of Sydney Drew; Phyllis, the wife of Harry Davenport, and Dore, the youngest, marrying Lionel Barrymore.

Brokers who seek other ways of making a living in hard times are not the only young men in New York whom the dancing craze has put on their feet, literally and figuratively. Students at some of the colleges and universities have found in the feminine desire to dance a more or less profitable means of earning money. Most women want to dance nowadays and out of this has grown the demand for the paid escort, who recently has become a noticeable feature of social life. At a dance which takes place at the end of the week in an uptown hotel the dancing men present are mainly the husbands or relatives of the members of the club. But these could not be dragged away from business for the mid-week dance as the women were determined to have partners they cast about for them. One suggested that college students might fill the bill. The experiment was tried and was found successful and not expensive. It is said that these partners receive $1 or $2 each at the end of the dance.

Arrangements have been concluded for the meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria next week of the eighteenth annual convention of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association. Leading men of the cotton industry will be present from all over New England and the south. One of the principal features of the program will be an address by A. R. Marsh, a former president of the New York Cotton Exchange, on the new rules adopted by that body. The convention banquet will be held Monday evening. At the banquet Frank A. Vanderlip and others will discuss the "Duke Warehouse Plan."

A novel and remarkable feat of removal involving the transportation of two completely equipped cannery factories from Brooklyn to the bleak shores of distant Kamchatka, a peninsula of the Siberian coast, is being carried out by a New York company, in an expedition which is now under way and scheduled to arrive at its destination early next month. The acknowledged supremacy of the United States in the salmon industry has long been a source of envy to the Russians and Japanese but hitherto they have been content with their primitive and inefficient methods of packing the fish that have left them behind in the world's markets. Some time ago two delegations from the Orient visited the Pacific Coast of the United States with a view to

How Many Times Have You Heard the Remark "I Must Take a Spring Medicine"

Do You Know Why This Remark is Made?

The reason for this is that your liver is sluggish, your bowels inclined to be constipated, and your blood thick and impure.

This is caused by the amount of rich and heavy food you have eaten during the winter months to keep your body warm.

"Is it not enough to clog the system up with waste and poisonous matter"? What you need is something to put the blood into proper shape and prepare it for the hot summer months.

Burdock Blood Bitters

will entirely eliminate that dull, weary, tired, worn-out, don't-care-to-exert-myself feeling which creeps over you at this time of the year.

Try it, and you will find that it will give snap and vigor to the entire body.
