THE POWERS ACTIVE

Paris, Oct. 16—France is actively exchanging views with the other European powers for the purpose of inaugurating the localization of the Balkan conflict, according to a statement made by premier Poincare to his colleagues at a meeting of the French Cabinet today.

Although it is too early to speak definitely of an international conference and to solidify the peace of Europe, once to settle the Balkan difficulties the attitude of powers as unofficially made known here justifies the hopes that the premier initiative may later be crowned with success.

It is reported that Arnold Daly will return temporarily to vaudeville, presenting "A Comedy for Wives."

GENERAL NOGI GAVE LIFE
FOR DISGRACE OF YOUTH

Tokio, Oct. 16—A letter has been brought to light here which was written by the late General Nogi, a few hours before he committed suicide. It is addressed to his dear friends Sadamoto Yoji, Chosaku Odate and Masayuki Tamato, and to Shizuko, his wife, whom he did not expect to die and fully explains the writer's deed. It reads as follows:

"I am following the late Emperor to death, though I know I shall be guilty in no small degree in doing so. Through my carelessness I lost the regimental flag entrusted to me during the Civil War in the tenth year of Meiji (Saigo Rebellion) and ever since I have been looking for an opportunity to put an end to my life on account of that disgrace. But I could find none. On the contrary, I have ever hitherto been bathed in the light of the Emperor's great benevolence, which I scarcely deserved. I am now advanced in age and I have come to the belief that I should be of little use to the Emperor, when suddenly occurred his death, which was a great blow to me and prompted me to resolve to die."

"After the death of my two sons in the war it was often suggested to me by my inferiors, friends and others that I should adopt an heir for my family. But the evils of the system of the adoption of heirs have been widely discussed since ancient times. I can point to numerous instances of the same, including the present one presented by the family of my oldest brother, Mr. Nogi. Special care should be taken in the care of my family, to which the privileges of nobility are given. If my heir were my own son I should be content. Should the adopted heir be an unworthy man he would disgrace, I fear, the name of my family. I cannot do a thing which is against the divine principles. There are my relatives to take care of the graves of my ancestors, therefore I hope my residence at Shinsaka-machi will be presented either to the ward or to the city."

"Enclosed you will find another letter, referring in detail to the distribution of my property. Shizuko (his wife) will consult you about all else. As for the other things I leave behind me, I have entrusted Col. Tsukada to choose for those who were my attaches in the army, from my watches, telescopes, swords, harness and other things used by the soldiers. Col. Tsukada served in each of the two wars, is known to Shizuko and I hope you will consult him. All other things you may dispose of after consultation between yourselves."

"I have entrusted Messrs. Matsui and Otani with the disposition of all those things which were given me by the court and bear the imperial crest of the chrysanthemum and all which I desire to devote to the Peers' School. With regard to my books, those which are useful for the Peers' School, I wish to donate to that school, as also the rest of the Chofu

Library, except the books which may be of no use there."

"I desire to be kept forever either at Marquis Sasaki's or the Sasaki shrines all those comments which are left by my father, grandfather and great-grandfather, and which may be regarded as a history of the Nogi family, excluding only those of them which may be of no use. All those things which belong to me and are or exhibit in the Military Museum (at Kudan) I desire to donate to that institution, because that is the best means of keeping those souvenirs of the Nogi family."

"Shizuko is advanced in age, and she says, and I agree with her, it would be awkward for her, especially in case of her falling ill, to live at the house in Ishibayashi, which is a remote place. I agree, therefore, to transfer that place to Shusaku (her brother) and that Shizuko shall live in the house at Nakano, the disposal of which and the site I leave to her own discretion."

"My remains I entrust to the care of Baron Ishiguro and I desire they be sent to some medical school. My hair and teeth (including artificial ones) are enough for my grave, (all this Shizuko knows.)"

"The gold watch on which are engraved the words 'Given by the Emperor' shall be given to Masayuki Tamaki, who, however, should not carry it except when he wears military uniform."

"About all other minor things I hope you will consult Shizuko, who knows them all. The title Count Nogi shall remain as long as Shizuko lives but after her death it is my sincere desire that it lapse forever."

According to a statement printed in certain vernacular papers which is said to emanate from the maid who discovered the suicide, Countess Nogi or Shizuko as her husband called her, was the first to kill herself, with a short dagger. She did so before the eyes of her husband, to whom she was very deeply devoted, and who resolutely watched her perform the deed. She accomplished the work deliberately and thoroughly, like the wife of a Samurai, but being a woman after all, she cried out under the intense pain before she expired. It was these cries that one of the maids heard.

When the maid presented herself at the apartment, which was not locked, according to later reports, she found the Countess writhing in pain, but could not see the general. The general, it is reported, after seeing that his wife had succeeded in her attempt, concealed himself from the maid in another room, but, after the maid had gone out to call for help, he returned to the room and killed himself in front of his wife.

That the general had long been determined to die did he but find a good opportunity, was proved by the preparation of his own tomb-stones which, it is now learned, he ordered from a stone-cutter near the Aoyama public cemetery.

ONLY BUILDING OF ITS KIND 1912

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 17—Scores of distinguished public men and educators of this and other States joined today in the dedication of the New York State Education Building, the only building erected by any American State or any foreign country for the exclusive use of its educational activities. The dedicatory exercises were combined with the one hundredth anniversary of the act of 1812, which laid the foundation upon which the New York State system of education has been constructed and maintained.

A reception in honor of the delegates representing educational institutions throughout the country was held in the new building this morning. Whitelaw Reid, ambassador to Great Britain and chancellor of the University of the State of New York, delivered the opening address at the dedicatory exercises this afternoon. Governor John A. Dix, on behalf of the State, presented the building to the board of regents, for whom acceptance was made in an eloquent address by Vice Chancellor St. Clair McKelway. Dr. Andrew S. Draper, Commissioner of Education of the State of New York then proceeded to deliver the dedicatory address. The exercises concluded with brief congratulatory addresses by former Governor Benjamin B. Odell, Jr., and others.

The building dedicated today was erected at a cost of $4,000,000. It is a structure of imposing beauty and classical design. One of the leading features is a great auditorium, occupying two stories, with a gallery and promenade on three sides. The ground floor is given over to offices. On the second or main floor of the building is a great central rotunda whose dome soars ninety feet to the top of the building and whence radiate the main halls of the library.

To the rear of the rotunda extends the wing in which are housed the main reading-room and the book

Madison, Oct. 17—The Delta Upsilon fraternity began its annual convention here today as the guest of the University of Wisconsin chapter. The attendance is made up of 300 delegates representing nearly forty colleges. Delta Upsilon is one of the largest of the Greek letter fraternities, having a membership of nearly 10,000. It was founded at Williams College in 1843, as an anti-secret society, by a group of students which included Stephen J. Field, afterwards judge of the Supreme Court of the United States and James A. Garfield afterwards President.

The whole of the top floor is given over to the State Museum, which will occupy four immense rooms. LAXATIVE FOR OLD
PEOPLE—"CASCARETS."What Glasses are to Weak Eyes,
Cascarets are to Weak Bowels---

A 10-Cent Box Will Amaze You

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles. So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages but never so much as at fifty.

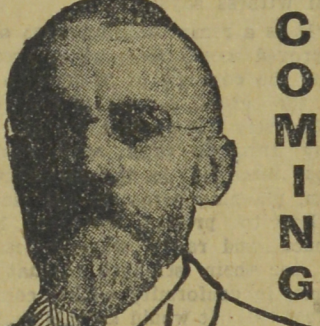

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets and they cost only 10 cents a box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

NOTED SOLDIER 85 YEARS OLD

London, Oct. 16—The observance a week or so ago of the 80th birthday of Lord Roberts served to call attention today to the 85th birthday of another noted British soldier General, Sir William Gordon Cameron. General Cameron began his military career nearly 70 years ago and took part in almost every important war and military expedition in which British arms have been engaged from the Crimean in the '50s until his retirement in 1895.

Dallas, Tex. Oct. 16—The cornerstone for the main building of the new Southern Methodist University in this city was laid today with interesting exercises conducted in the presence of a large gathering of churchmen and educators representing the entire South. The principal addresses were delivered by Bishop James Atkins and Dr. E. D. Moulton of San Antonio. It was expected the university will be ready to open next fall.
