

CALLS ON PEOPLE TO UNITE FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT

erations a clean and honorable record we will have accomplished something and, win or lose in the political arena we will not have labored in vain.

MR. HUGHES' SPEECH.

Peter J. Hughes, one of the counsel in the inquiry for Mr. Dugal, was called upon, and spoke briefly. Mr. Hughes said:

"I am sure that after so much has been said of a complimentary nature by the gentlemen proposing the toast and by the other gentlemen who have spoken, I should have very much preferred if I could have been relieved from making any remarks at all.

"Suffice it to say that all of us engaged as counsel in the inquiry attempted to do our duty. The task of managing that inquiry, which was assigned primarily to our friend, Mr. Carvell, was not light. When Mr. L. A. Dugal, unskilled as he was in legislative procedure and unfamiliar with the language in which he was compelled to speak, arose on the floor of the legislature and in the face of Mr. Flemming, the premier of the province, holding in his hands the machinery of the investigation, backed by a house subservient to his will, and hurled in the teeth of the premier the charge of extortion and corruption, let me tell you, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, that Mr. Dugal exhibited the qualities of a hero. As such he is well deserving of our honor tonight.

"But Mr. Dugal would hardly have succeeded without the assistance of the other gentlemen whom we are gathered to honor this evening, whose perseverance, whose dauntless courage, whose skill as an advocate and whose great knowledge of men were all required to bring the great task to a successful conclusion, our friend Mr. Carvell. It was a great pleasure to serve under him and Mr. Stevens and I gave him the best service of which we were capable. We will leave it to you to say whether the result of our labors has been satisfactory. Our labors were given ungrudgingly in a great cause and we leave it to you to measure the result.

"Some of Mr. Flemming's friends say our work was a complete failure, that Mr. Flemming was entirely exonerated. Then why does Mr. Flemming so bitterly complain of his exoneration? May the Lord deliver us from such an exoneration! That exoneration reminds me of a recommendation or certificate of character of which I once heard. A young man of rather neglected appearance came into a large mercantile house looking for employment. After discussing his qualifications for the position, he was asked for his references of character. He had none. He was asked if any person in the town knew him. He was a stranger. Then he remembered that he had seen an acquaintance driving one of the delivery teams of the establishment. So this man was sent for and asked if he knew the applicant. 'Yes I do.' 'Is he an honest man?' The driver patted a moment scratched his head and said: 'Well, yes, I guess he must be. I have known him to be arrested three times for stealing and every time the jury found him not guilty, so I guess he must surely be honest.'

"That recommendation was pretty nearly as good as Mr. Flemming's exoneration. Perhaps there is one lesson which we can learn from the present situation. We are living in unexampled times. We have lived to see the civilization of Europe and the free institutions and honor of the British empire ruthlessly attacked upon the plains of Flanders, and we have been privileged to see men rushing from every corner of the world to bring aid and comfort to the old grey mother in the hour of trial. From her they had received freedom, from her they had inherited the cherished institutions under which they lived, and they realized only too truly that if the British empire fell, this freedom and these institutions would fall.

"I am sure that after so much has been said of a complimentary nature by the gentlemen proposing the toast and by the other gentlemen who have spoken, I should have very much preferred if I could have been relieved from making any remarks at all.

PEOPLE OFTEN SAY

"How Are We To Know When Tho Kidneys Are Out Of Order?"

EASIEST THING IN THE WORLD!

The location of the kidneys, close to the small of the back, renders the detection of kidney trouble a simple matter. The note of warning comes from the back. The kidneys become overtaxed and fail to do their work at nature's call.

Backache is the signal sent out by the kidneys the minute they become overtaxed. Those who heed the warning when it first comes, usually have but little trouble.

The danger lies in delay. Doan's Kidney Pills stimulate the action of the kidneys, and enable them to perform their duty perfectly.

Mrs. Greig Murphy, Lower Ship Harbor East, N.S., writes: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills in my family with great success, and don't think there is a better pill for the kidneys. I was very miserable with my back, and could hardly get about. I got a box, and tried them, and found that they were really good, so I took in all about six boxes, and soon found my back cured, and my kidneys as well as ever."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c per box, 3 boxes for $1.25; for sale at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. M. M. Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

When ordering direct specify "Doan's."

also, so they hasten to resist the new onslaught of the barbarian, the new avalanche of Hun and vandal and to lay down their lives if necessary that the empire may be saved.

"Shall we gentlemen in this supreme hour of our country's need, shall we fail to show in any less degree our appreciation of that heritage which is ours as well as theirs? Shall we, while our kinsmen, for the purpose of thrusting back the onrushing hordes and preserving our inheritance, take their places in the trenches, and before the cannon's mouth, ay, leave their homes to be whittled by the hands of the Aisne, the Marne, the Meuse and the Yser, shall we sit quietly down and permit these institutions, for which they suffer, to be undermined and destroyed by venality and corruption of those high in office? Or shall we here and now resolve that the corrupt politician shall have no place in this province. Shall we here and now resolve that we, on our part, shall do all that those of our countrymen who offer their life's blood as a sacrifice in their country's cause shall not die in vain."

Remarkable Prison Record

In Edinburgh Police Court Thomas Hyland pleaded guilty to having been drunk in the Grassmarket. Out of the 365 days in last year accused had spent no fewer than 333 of them in prison for various offences. Recently an effort had been made to deal with him under the Inebriates Act, but, unfortunately the conditions of the statute did not fully apply. Bailie Rusk sent him to prison for sixty days.

Photographic Process

Two Frenchmen have invented a process for treating photographic negatives by which the effect of stereoscopic relief is produced in pictures.

Electrical Inventions

With a device of his own invention an electrician, Senor Iglesias, at Madrid, Spain, lighted and extinguished at will fifteen electric bulbs placed at a distance of 600 yards. Scientists expect the discovery will reduce the cost of production of current for industrial purposes.

Alaska Railways

It is expected that the United States government will soon call for bids for steel in construction of the Alaskan Railroad, which will require 50,000 to 60,000 tons. There are inquiries in market for about 11,000 cars, some of which will probably be filled in the near future.

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

THE floors and doors appear to wait until the dust germs congregate; the housewife hails each dawning day with grim and harrowing dismay. Says she: "My work will NEVER end; o'er dusty stretches I must bend, until, with aching back and hands I finish what the day demands."

The "Floor-and-Door-a" Girl

Then Mrs. Jones, one afternoon, dropped in, at time most opportune. An optimist, she knew the wiles of household work—its sighs and smiles. She told of how she polished floors and woodwork and the endless doors, until when Hubby saw them, too, reflections said: "Why, howdy-do!"

"The Gold Dust Twins," said she, "I find, help leave the woes of dust behind. Each mark of sticky hands on doors, each tread of muddy feet on floors, all fade before the slightest touch of Gold Dust, and the work is such that, when the woodwork has been done, I find said work was only fun." This line of reasoning must show that those who've tried it OUGHT to know. If you, in one day's duties, find that there's a Grouch in ev'ry Grind, invite the Gold Dust Twins to share such tasks as tire and fret and wear.

From kitchen floor to bedroom suite, these tireless little chaps make neat, and best of all, the sum expense is measured up in meager cents. They put both dust and dirt to rout and run the last old microbe out.

A Word With Subscribers

ar misconception that in times of War a new paper makes money. As a matter of fact, any newspaper which tries to do its duty by its subscribers, loses money during war time. This is true of The Daily and Semi-Weekly Mail. Both of these papers, in spite of their tremendous increase in circulation, are not making any profit out of the war. This being the case, we have to ask our subscribers who are in arrears to be good enough to REMIT. If we are properly doing our duty toward you as a subscriber, we have to ask that you will carry out your duty to us by remitting promptly any amount that may be owing to us.

If you want to help us make our paper better, send us your subscription in advance. We assure you that we will spend it in improving our news service.

Accounts are now being sent out, and we will be very much indebted to you if you will give the same your prompt attention.
