LIBERTY THE ISSUE

Just what has occurred at Liege, just what is the German military programme, just what is the degree of success or failure of that programme, time is yet to record with certainty. That the Germans have been checked, at least, that the German military arm is not as crushing as its creators believed, is apparent even from the meagre and conflicting reports. So, weighing all the evidence offered, it is the world's judgment that Germany has failed, at least to the extent of not succeeding quickly. In that there is hope—for what? For the French? The English? Yes, but more than that.

The hope so fed and made strong is the hope of the right of man, the liberty that is the ideal of humanity and the need of all peoples. There are great issues in this gloomy war, greater than the ambitions of strutting demigods such as Wilhelm, or the boundary-carving wobbles of the House of Hapsburg. These issues are the issues of liberty and sane self-government. No man is good enough to govern others without their consent; and consent wrung by might, consent wheedled by fatuous worship of monarchism and feudalism, such as is the consent of the German people to be made fools of by an overweening braggart claiming bloody alliance with God Almighty,—this is not true consent, and cannot be regarded by men with their eyes open and their minds clear.

The issue to be fought out in Europe is the extinction of the Divine Right idea. That the Germans a great race, a race of thinkers, men who have made great mark in philosophy, economics, the arts and the artifices of modern civilization, can remain subservient to the non-productive braggadocio God of Self, that milks the people for the fattening of personality, is a grim jest out of tune with experience and not comfortable with man's progress. Kaiser Wilhelm has dared much in this swashbuckling reversion to savagery. Let him reap what he has sown. The whirlwind has come. It must blow until it has swept clear from its last important standing place the inept aggression of the few upon the many—until the people of other nations recognize the role of other nations recognize the blasphemy of politically yoking a Kaiser and a God.

Political boundaries shift and disappear, but the rights of man are everlasting, for they are the flavor of humanity's purpose. So, in the cut and thrust barbarism which convulses Europe and shocks civilization, there is this hope of better things, things better than monarchical greed, things better than race jealousy, things better than the murder of many for the tinselled coxcombes of self-worshipped might. From all this horror there must be an awakening; and it cannot be to a resumption recognition of the right of any man to dominate or John Smith, to hurl a nation's people into a shambles.

War, like murder, lust and greed, dies hard. It may be that this will not be the last great war. But it piles higher and higher the world's indictment and disgust. It marks a life-bought step towards the end of war. And to help that step we must have, because it is in progress, programme, an end of bragging, of roaring bullies in hereditary office.

The fight to make laws and to enforce laws is God-given, but it is not God-given to any family or to any individual. It is given to man as man, to be used for all, not for self. That is the teaching of evolution and of experience—that is the Divine Right. No man may seize it for himself. Those who have seized it, or received it from complacent peoples, will lose it. This cat-actism in Europe hastens that end.

MARRIED MEN MUST HAVE WIVES' CONSENT TO VOLUNTEER

Innoculation for Typhoid Fever Ordered From Ottawa--Other Important Orders--Church Parade Sunday Morning--Strength of Active Service Contingent Increasing

According to orders wired to regimental commanders by the assistant adjutant general, Ottawa: married men will not be accepted for the overseas force unless each has the consent of his wife in writing. The same orders also contains advice that all volunteers must be inoculated against typhoid. The order has caused considerable stir at the barracks, where the volunteers of the 71st York Regt. are quartered.

The number of volunteers at the barracks is increasing steadily by men already accepted reporting and by others being accepted after the medical examination.

FIRST FROM ST. STEPHEN.

The first volunteers from St. Stephen to report here arrived this morning. They are Privates McKay and Frank Ryder. The latter is a son of Lieut. George P. Ryder, commanding officer of "F" Company, 71st Regt. Twelve more men are to arrive from St. Stephen late tonight and others will come Monday.

MEDICAL CORPS AWAY.

Volunteers for active service in the Army Medical Corps left for St. John by the early C.P.R. train this morning. Lieut. Kilburn and Sergt. Bert Boone of St. Mary's, accompanied them.

CONTINUE TRAINING.

Training of the active service contingent of the 71st Regt. continues. The volunteers under the command of Capt. H. G. Deedes had a march of several miles this morning.

FROM HEADQUARTERS.

Orders from headquarters at Ottawa were received by Lt. Col. McLeod this morning as follows:

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 14. Lt. Col. H. F. McLeod, 71st Regiment, Fredericton.

Upon receipt of the order to proceed to Valcartier, all officers and men who have volunteered and who have passed the medical examination may be assembled at Valcartier, where a selection will be made and those selected will compose the division for overseas service. No married men will be authorized to proceed to Valcartier without the written consent of his wife. Every effort should be made to obtain the services of men of special character, such as clerks, farriers, shoemakers, cooks, signallers, fitters, smiths, motor cyclists, pioneers, armourers and motor car drivers and names of volunteers who have such special characteristics and who pass the medical examination should be forwarded to militia headquarters. Regarding conditions of service, all ranks must agree to serve for a term of one year unless war lasts longer, in which case they will be retained until war is over.

If employed with hospital depots of mounted units and as clerks, etc., they may be retained after hostilities until services can be dispensed with, but such retention shall in no case exceed six months. Any individual may be attached to any arm of service as required. For transport to regimental headquarters, instruct all concerned to obtain railroad tickets at usual military rates on presentation to agents of letter telegram from you. Officers, first class, other ranks second class. You will render a return to assistant director of supplies and transport, giving number carried and showing places of en-trainment and assembly covering transport. Warrants will then be issued. Director general of medical services urgently advises that volunteers be inoculated for typhoid. Use only vaccine from Ontario board of health. Requisition by wire chief health officer, Toronto. Make entry on every man's paper and report daily to militia headquarters, giving names. Have this inoculation done by your regimental officer. All vaccine bottles will be returned to the Ontario Health Office when empty.

The Boston Globe has apparently no doubt regarding the application of the Monroe doctrine if the Germans should happen to attack Canada. The Globe says: "While we have taken a neutral stand, nevertheless, we have committed ourselves. By the terms of the Monroe doctrine, we are opposed unequivocally to the increase or seizure of territory in this hemisphere by any European nation. This makes us the guardians of Canada in case an attempt on the part of Germany to capture the Dominion. Should the German fleet be victorious over the English, such an attempt is not an impossibility. The probability, however, is very slight."

FINE IMPOSED

on the matter. These insulting remarks were made by men who were afraid to do what the volunteers had done—place themselves at the service of their country in one of the most serious wars which ever had confronted her. As far as the nature of the offense was concerned, it made no odds if the remark was not intended as an insult if the volunteers took it as an insult that was sufficient. He then imposed a fine of two dollars and said that the next offender would be fined ten or twenty dollars.
