Federal Election in the Spring is the Tory Plan

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 30.—The government is quietly laying its plans for a federal election early in the spring. From present indications, according to the government plans, a short session will be held, starting in January and the election will take place probably at the end of February. Already preparations are going forward for the contest, the city from day to day is full of Conservative members and defeated candidates, who are continually in conference with those members of the government to whom are entrusted the task of organizing and winning elections.

Organization preparations are also going forward at various centres. A further re-organization of the cabinet is contemplated before the appeal is made to the people. It is probable that a further change may be made in Quebec and Hon. Louis Coderre, secretary of state, may retire in favor of Albert Seigney, member for Dorchester. In Ontario it is stated that W. J. Hanna, provincial secretary, may take the place of Hon. T. J. Crothers, who will receive a judgeship. The position of solicitor general will be made a cabinet one and Hon. Arthur Meighen will be taken on the treasury benches. A further report is to the effect that Hon. Martin Burrell will be transferred to the senate and Sir Richard McBride, premier of British Columbia, will be brought into the cabinet.

It is not exactly clear what the issue of the government will be, though it is reported that a naval

POTATO EMBARGO HAS BEEN LIFTED

(St. John Standard.)
The United States government has raised the embargo on potatoes which was placed in force over a year ago, and potato shippers here expect to do a big business with the states this year, as prices there are comparatively high.
Some weeks ago the Ontario government adopted regulations making it necessary for all potatoes shipped in to that province to pass an examination by government inspectors instructed to prohibit the shipment of potatoes with the powdery scab. This regulation caused some inconvenience to local shippers at the outset, but has not stopped the shipment of potatoes from this province to Ontario, as there is very little powdery scab in New Brunswick. With the removal of the embargo by the United States another and important market will be opened up to New Brunswick potato growers, and as the potato crop this year was large it will be a great advantage to the farmers.

A western newspaper man tells of a friend who edited with more or less success, a paper in an Iowa town. That he was somewhat discouraged by the lack of interest shown in his journal was evidenced by this note which one afternoon, appeared on the editorial page:
"Burglars entered our house last night. To the everlasting shame of the community for whose welfare we have labored, be it said, they got nothing."—Harper's Magazine.

It is sometimes easier to get what we like than it is to keep on liking it after we get it.

program combining the principles of contribution and co-operation will be outlined at the coming session. In addition, an extensive program of military assistance to the Motherland will be presented. The government may profess that it requires the mandate of the people to proceed with these. For western consumption it is probable that the government will promise an investigation into agricultural conditions along the lines suggested by the joint deputation which waited on the cabinet a few days ago. This would obviate the necessity of making any declaration upon such economic questions as the tariff, transportation, distribution or agricultural credits. The highways bill, as intimated by the prime minister to the deputation, will again be re-introduced.

It is not apparent at present that business and financial concerns throughout the dominion are any more anxious for an election during the present troublous times than they were when it was mooted a month ago, nevertheless plans are being seriously laid and it will not be the government's fault if an election is not held.

THE SIDELIGHTS OF WAR

The report again refers to the efficacy of German discipline. It says that the British soldiers could hear the command "vorwaerts" coming from the woods. It was followed immediately by a rush of Germans. Once, twice and thrice this was done. Each time the Germans were mowed down. Then the order was given again.

This time, however, there were loud exclamations of "Nein, Nein," and no advance was made.
The repulse of the famous Prussian Guards is again dwelt upon.
"After the enemy had broken through our front line the situation became most serious," the report continues, "for there were only two field companies of the Royal Engineers available at the moment, as a reserve in this quarter of the field."

On the right front of the German attack, firing through open spaces in the woods were heavy batteries and field batteries, which dealt havoc among the attackers both after and before they reached our line. But the Germans continued to come, almost up to our guns. Some bodies were picked up only seventy yards from the guns.

"Realizing that all might be lost unless a firing line of some sort could be established battery officers managed to form a line of gunners, regimental cooks, and details of various descriptions. These men stood firm and kept up a steady rifle fire. They checked the assault at the most critical moment, thus enabling other troops to come up to repel it more completely."

GOOD FOOD HELPS.

Other incidents taken up in the report are the movement of British cavalry by motor cars, thus adding one more novelty to the roles which the cavalry has played during the war; the blowing up of a farmhouse containing German snipers; the heating of trenches with brazier stoves, and the transport service, whose work in supplying food is commended.

"No little part of our success," says the report in this connection, "is due to the ample quantity and excellent quality of the food."

"It is probably not saying too much to assert that no other soldiers in the field had ever been so well fed."

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

THE floors and doors appear to wait until the dust germs congregate; the housewife hails each dawning day with grim and harrowing dismay. Says she: "My work will NEVER end; o'er dusty stretches I must bend, until, with aching back and hands I finish what the day demands."

The "Floor-and-Door-a" Girl

work and the endless doors, until when Hubby saw them, too, reflections said: "Why, howdy-dol!"

"The Gold Dust Twins," said she, "I find, help leave the woes of dust behind. Each mark of sticky hands on doors, each tread of muddy feet on floors, all fade before the slightest touch of Gold Dust, and the work is such that, when the woodwork has been done, I find said work was only fun." This line of reasoning must show that those who've tried it OUGHT to know. If you, in one day's duties, find that there's a Grouch in every Grind, invite the Gold Dust Twins to share such tasks as tire and fret and wear.

From kitchen floor to bedroom suite, these tireless little chaps make neat, and best of all, the sum expense is measured up in meager cents. They put both dust and dirt to rout and run the last old microbe out.

A Word With Subscribers

are misconception that in times of War a newspaper makes money. A matter of fact, any newspaper which tries to do its duty by its subscribers, loses money during war time. This is true of The Daily and Semi-Weekly Mail. Both of these papers, in spite of their tremendous increase in circulation, are not making any profit out of the war. This being the case, we have to ask our subscribers who are in arrears to be good enough to REMIT. If we are properly doing our duty toward you as a subscriber, we have to ask that you will carry out your duty to us by remitting promptly any amount that may be owing to us.

If you want to help us make our paper better, send us your subscription in advance. We assure you that we will spend it in improving our news service.

Accounts are now being sent out, and we will be very much indebted to you if you will give the same your prompt attention.
