

GLAD NEWS TO ALL WITH BAD COLDS INSTANT RELIEF—FEW HOURS FOR CURE

Nothing Known to Science is so Invariably Sure to Cure as "Catarrhozone"

JUST BREATHE CATARRHOZONE!

The Ozonated Air Cure, better known as "Catarrhozone" is death to colds.

Its health-laden fumes contains the leading balsams of the pine woods. Soothing and antiseptic, it gives instant relief—stops gagging, hawking and sneezing.

Mucous and phlegm are cleared away, breathing made easy, and Catarrh symptoms entirely disappear.

Delightful and pleasant is Catarrhozone, simple to use because you breathe it—sure to cure colds and catarrh because it destroys the cause. Doctors say nothing is more scientific, nothing possesses such might of merit in winter ills.

"To clear a cold out of your nostrils and, to be able in a minute or two to breathe freely again, I can't conceive of anything being better than Catarrhozone," writes J.H. Galvin of Port Limer, C.R. For any of Catarrh, throat trouble, or Bronchitis, Catarrhozone is a specific. I know scores of people who use Catarrhozone and all speak wonders of its merit."

AN OUTSIDE OPINION OF THE DUGAL CHARGES

(Toronto Globe.)

The premier of New Brunswick, against whom charges of the gravest nature have been made on the floor of the legislature by L. A. Dugal, has been granted leave of absence pending the holding of an investigation, and his colleagues are now carrying on the government of the province without him. Mr. Flemming has not been in good health for some time, and his condition may delay the process of probing the Dugal charges. There are suggestions in the press and by Mr. Dugal of improprieties in connection with railway construction grants, but the specific charges made by Mr. Dugal have to do with the premier's administration of the lands and mines department. It is alleged "That the said Honorable James Kidd Flemming, through the agency of William H. Berry, chief superintendent of sealers of the Crown Lands Department of this province, and under the direct control of the said Honorable James Kidd Flemming, in the year A.D. 1913 did unlawfully extort from divers large lessees of the crown timber limits within this province a sum of fifteen dollars per square mile of their said timber limits over and above the amount of bonus paid by them respectively, as set forth in the fifty-third annual report of the Crown Lands Department of the Province of New Brunswick for the year ending the 31st day of October, A.D., 1913, thereof both inclusive, which said amounts so unlawfully extorted from said lessees amounted in the whole to the sum of about one hundred thousand dollars, no portion of which sum was accounted for or paid into the revenue of this province, and said moneys were extorted from said lessees and paid to the said William H. Berry with the knowledge and consent and under the direction of the Honorable James Kidd Flemming while occupying the said office of premier and minister of lands and mines and all of said moneys were so paid before the said lands were classified under the provisions of chapter eleven of the statutes of New Brunswick for the year A.D., 1913."

The New Brunswick press shows no disposition to prejudice the case, but there is a general demand for a thorough house-cleaning. Perhaps the most significant editorial utterance is that of The St. John Globe, which, though an old-time Liberal paper, supports the Flemming administration. It says in part: "The premier of New Brunswick was in the legislature when a formal charge was preferred against him of fraud in connection with the administration of the crown lands of the province. That he did not then and there repudiate and deny the imputations against his personal honor is as mysterious and as strange as his silence on a later date when his masterful speech in introducing the Valley Railway legislation gave him a second opportunity to make, if he desired, a statement in his own behalf. This strange, this unusual, this unexpected silence at a time when most men—either innocent or guilty—would have said something, has only been made more mysterious by the fact that it was left for the attorney general, a new member of the government, to give voice to the premier's answer. What has been said is explicit enough, satisfactory enough in its way, but everybody must regret that it was not said by the accused himself and on the first opportunity that offered. Perhaps it is not altogether fair to say the premier should have spoken earlier than Thursday, as it was not until then that the charge was formally before the House, but it is certainly not unfair to say that there was nothing to prevent him speaking earlier, that most men would have done so and that his failure to do so created surprise and regret and intensified the public anxiety with reference to a matter that cannot be too quickly cleared up and disposed of."

It is clear from this utterance of a hitherto friendly paper that Mr. Flemming's method of facing the charges caused his friends deep anxiety. If he would win back their confidence there must be no undue delay in bringing the charges up for a hearing. Mr. Dugal professes to be ready with his evidence at any time. Mr. Carvell, M.P., is understood to have important testimony at hand besides that as to the transactions of the Lynch estate with the government which he has already made public, and in which $1,830 is said to have been paid over and not accounted for. The New Brunswick government is on trial. If the charges are proven Mr. Flemming will assuredly not go down alone.

LAW COULDN'T KEEP JOHN AND MARIE APART

(New York Sun)

An international complication arose today involving the United States immigration authorities, a Scotch-Dutch violinist, who has date to play in Montclair, a fair Holland dame, who hoped to marry the Scotch musician and a tall young woman wearing glasses, who represented the Travelers' Aid Society, and took charge of everything.

It all happened after the arrival of the Rotterdam, on which the bride-to-be, Marie Matilde Johanna Sofia Miga, 18 years old, from The Hague, was a second cabin passenger. On the pier, wearing a large black hat, was John Ingram, the Scotch-Dutch violinist, also born in The Hague, waiting patiently for his Marie Matilde Johanna Sofia.

With him was his friend Victor Verschoor, who had arranged everything, and with Victor his friend from the Hoboken Health Department wearing a gold badge and bearing in a large envelope in which was the license for the wedding. Victor among other things, had prepared a marital feast at Meyers's Hotel, and it was to be some feast.

Great rejoicing when Marie Matilde ran ashore and into her violinist's arms. Joy turns to tears on Marie's part and excited objections on the part of Ingram when the immigration officer announces that the marriage is impossible in Hoboken today.

An old law, which he was mean enough to dip up, said said something about a residence of twenty-four hours at least being necessary before any person could marry within the bounds of Hoboken.

"We want to be married in Hoboken," said John Ingram, "but, we don't want to stay here twenty-four hours. We are due in Niagara Falls to-morrow morning."

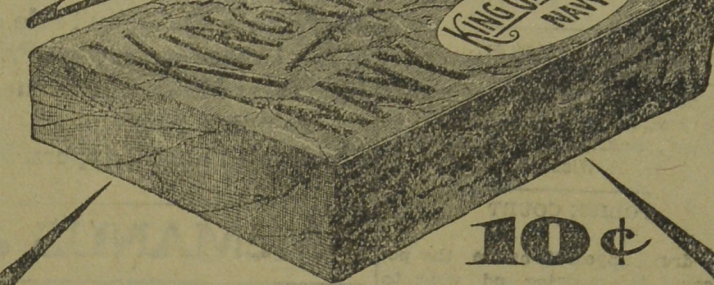

Well, what was to be done? It was a very serious situation, with the Holland-America pier resounding with Dutch expostulations. Then the immigration inspector cleared it up somewhat by suggesting New York as a perfectly good place to be married with no annoying twenty-four hour delays.

"Sure," said Victor Verschoor, the Hoboken friend of Ingram who had arranged everything, "and we can back to Meyer's come for the road." It was at this juncture that the Travelers' Aid young woman entered the plot, as it was absolutely necessary to place the bride in her charge for the trip to New York.

Victor Herbert has been engaged to write the music for an operetta to be produced next season in which Hazel Dawn who appeared in "The Pink Lady" will be starred.

James A. Hearne's play "Sag Harbor" has been revived for the stock companies.
