WEATHERBY CHESNEY.

"Aren't you Elsa Carrington?" she asked in a low voice.

"Yes."

"Do you know who I am?"

"You are Margaret Ryan."

"I was. I'm Mona de la Mar now. Come down to my cabin. Sambo, you heard what the lady said about the boat. Can you do it?"

"Got to, Missy Mona," said Sambo cheerfully. "Can't stay here till the wind comes. Oh, yes, we'll do it all right."

"Then be quick as you can. Let me know when you've done it. I shall be in my cabin."

She led the way down below, and Elsa followed her.

As she lit a lamp in the pretty little cabin she said with a smile:

"It's a funny meeting between us too, isn't it? I wish I could have shown you over my home under less wobbly conditions, but the circumstances are peculiar. Do you think you can sit on the edge of that bunk without being shot off when she rolls?"

"Why are you here?" said Elsa.

"Why am I here—oh, because of a variety of reasons. It's a long story though, and I think you know most of it already. The Sea-Horse is here because I didn't allow enough for drift, and piled her up. There, I've answered your question, haven't I?"

"Both," said Elsa.

Mona laughed again.

"I'm here because—oh, because of a variety of reasons. It's a long story though, and I think you know most of it already. The Sea-Horse is here because I didn't allow enough for drift, and piled her up. There, I've answered your question, haven't I?"

THE MIGHTY HAAG SHOWS

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

THE floors and doors appear to wait until the dust germs congregate; the housewife hails each dawning day with grim and harrowing dismay. Says she: "My work will NEVER end; o'er dusty stretches I must bend, until, with aching back and hands I finish what the day demands."

The "Floor-and-Door-a" Girl

work and the endless doors, until when Hubby saw them, too, reflections said: "Why, howdy-do!"

"The Gold Dust Twins," said she, "I find, help leave the woes of dust behind. Each mark of sticky hands on doors, each tread of muddy feet on floors, all fade before the slightest touch of Gold Dust, and the work is such that, when the woodwork has been done, I find said work was only fun."

This line of reasoning must show that those who've tried it OUGHT to know. If you, in one day's duties, find that there's a Grouch in every grain, invite the Gold Dust Twins to share such tasks as tire and fret and wear.

From kitchen floor to bedroom suite, these tireless little chaps make neat, and best of all, the sum expense is measured up in meager cents. They put both dust and dirt to rout and run the last old microbe out.
