

PEOPLE SHOULD GUARD AGAINST APPENDICITIS

Fredericton people who have stomach and bowel trouble should guard against appendicitis by taking simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler-i-ka, the German remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis. JUST ONE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation INSTANTLY because this simple mixture draws off such a surprising amount of old foul matter from the body. George Y. Dibblee.

OFFICERS WILL ACT AS INSTRUCTORS

Toronto, Sept. 26.—A correspondent of The Globe, writing from Valcartier Camp, says: "When seen this afternoon by your correspondent, the minister of militia was well pleased with the progress made, and especially was he delighted with the thoroughly efficient steps taken by the British admiral to secure the safety of the Canadian contingent on its way east. He had yesterday the pleasure of welcoming Admiral Wemyss, whom Britain has sent over, and the minister made no secret of the fact that he had formed a high opinion of the splendid type of British seaman, whom he described as a man such as the country might well be proud of. The admiral, said the Hon. Sam Hughes, had scarcely taken off his clothes since the war began. The fleet brought over to safeguard the Canadian troops consisted of battleships, cruisers and torpedo destroyers. There would be one good, staunch man-of-war for every two transports, and the transports were well armed. "I had a meeting with clergymen this morning," continued the minister, "to appoint clergy to accompany the contingent. I have also had a meeting of one hundred and fifty officers here, by which number we were over-strength. There were a lot of the finest fellows in the country, and out of the one hundred and fifty there were only eight or ten who failed on qualifications. All proved themselves thorough soldiers. Thousands of men were offering themselves for the second contingent from all parts of the dominion, and they claimed that they were even better than those in the first. Inspecting those in the morning, I was deeply moved at seeing so many fine officers for whom I could not find places in the first contingent and I have planned to utilize them as instructors to conduct training schools for others in various parts of Canada, if it can be arranged. All, like gentlemen, accepted the situation in a kindly, graceful manner. "I outlined to the clergymen their duties and all have undertaken to do all in their power to meet the needs of the situation."

PEAR POSSIBILITIES

GINGER PEARS.—Use six pounds of granulated sugar, the juice and grated rind of four lemons, a quarter of a pound of green ginger root which has been boiled, a cupful of water, to eight pound of pears, quartered and sliced. Boil for three hours and then remove the ginger root. Pack in jars.

PEAR COCKTAIL.—Remove the skin from ripe, well flavored pears and cut the fruit into dice. And half as much grapefruit pulp and juice as there is pear. Add a tall-spoonful of sherry for every cupful of pulp. Serve in tall stemmed glasses as an appetizer.

SLICED PEARS.—Pare and core ripe pears and slice them with a silver knife, as a steel knife blackens them. Chill them thoroughly and serve them with cream and sugar. This dish is a delicious hot weather dessert and possesses the advantage of novelty in most households.

PEARS CANNED WITHOUT COOKING.—Pare and halve the fruit, removing the core. Weight and to each pound allow a syrup made from a cupful of water and a cupful and a half of sugar and two or three drops of lemon juice. Let the syrup come to a boil and boil for ten minutes. Steam the fruit in a sieve over hot water for ten minutes. Then put the pears in sterilized cans and fill nearly to the top with the syrup. Add a teaspoonful of brandy to each can and seal.

STUFFED PEARS.—Core and remove the skins from large pears and stuff them with chopped nuts and dates, seeded. Put them close together in a baking dish and add just enough water to keep them from burning. Bake them, covered, until they are quite tender, and then chill thoroughly. Serve with cream, whipped or with a sauce made of melted marshmallows.

"WE WERE LEAD TO SLAUGHTER"

The Rome Tribune publishes an interview which its correspondent at Nice had with a wounded German officer, in which the latter attributed the German reverses to bad tactics. "Our troops," he said, "were simply led to the slaughter. Our infantry was decimated by the British at St. Quentin because the men were led in compact masses under the British Maxim. Our staff thinks nothing of the individual and was misinformed about the French army."

ADDRESS AND A PRESENTATION

H. E. Beattie a 71st Bandsman Kindly Remembered by C. P. R. Employees

A very pleasing event took place before the departure of the 71st Regimental Band for Valcartier, Quebec, on Wednesday evening, when Bandsman Henry E. Beattie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Beattie, was presented with a handsome fountain pen by the employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway in this city. A few days previous Rev. S. A. Baker gave Mr. Beattie a bible and a brush and comb on behalf of the Lend-a-Hand Class of the Reformed Baptist Church.

The following address was read in connection with the presentation from the C. P. R. employees:

"We, your fellow employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the city of Fredericton, have heard with feelings of pride that the call has come to you to go to the defence of the Empire and that you have been so ready and willing to answer the call."

We have been associated with you intimately for two years and have learned to appreciate you, and we know that when you join the ranks, battling for the right you will do your duty."

Kindly accept this little offering as a memento of happy association in the past, and we assure you that we will pray that God may protect you in your absence and bring you safely home."

TWO CALGARY RUSSIANS HANGED FOR MURDER

MacLeod, Alberta, Sept. 25.—Promptly at seven o'clock this morning, A. Paney Sokoloff and Joseph Smith, two Calgary Russians, paid the full penalty of their crime for the murder of Paymaster Wilson of the Exshaw cement works.

They walked with a firm step to the scaffold, unassisted. On reaching the scaffold, Sokoloff said:

"Cannot you postpone execution, I will not do it."

But on being informed that the proceedings could not be stopped, he said:

"Good-bye, Smith."

The black cap was adjusted and within two minutes after mounting the scaffold the lever was pulled. In both cases death was instantaneous.

KILLED BY A BULL

Hartford Observer.—On Monday, J. F. Richardson of Lower Brighton took a drove of beef cattle to Woodstock. At Grafton a bull named so attigued by the long journey that it was permitted to rest by the roadside while the rest of the herd was driven to town. Mrs. Chas. Stairs, of Grafton, later was passing by the bull when it attacked her, goring her so badly that she died. She was discovered unconscious by the roadside and died the next day. Such a shocking tragedy has not been chronicled in a long time.

DOES INDIA HOARD HER YELLOW GOLD?

Many Millions of Precious Metal is Unaccounted For

From time immemorial India has absorbed gold as a sponge absorbs water. The flow of gold to India has always continued. In the last twelve years she has received $680,000,000 in gold, partly in sovereigns and partly in bullion, in addition to enormous quantities of silver. It all goes into the country, but very little ever comes out. Lord Rothschild observed some years ago that he had noticed that none of the smooth gold bars sent to India from England ever came back. What happens to this great stream of precious metal, which continuously disappears like these rivers in deserts, lands which lose themselves underground?

The testimony of experts is most conflicting. Some say it is hoarded while a few are ready to prove by a formidable array of statistics that it cannot be extensively hoarded. Those who believe that India possesses a vast store of hoarded treasure make the wildest guesses at its probable total. The most popular estimate of the hoarded wealth of India puts the total of $1,500,000,000, which would amount to five dollars per head of the population; but some credible estimates are far higher. The experts quarrel, again, about the probable effect of India's absorption of gold upon the world's money markets and the prices of commodities. Some say that all gold-using countries benefit thereby, while others, such as Sir Edward Holden, appear to hold that "the drain of gold to India" is a potential menace. The commission while declining to endorse either of these mutually destructive contentions has declared in effect that an increased use of gold in India should not in future be encouraged by the Government, but India already seems disposed to resent this recommendation. India has been subjected to repeated invasions and innumerable internecine wars, and her people have never completely lost their hereditary sense of insecurity. Banking facilities are still sparse, and it would be surprising if Indians did not hoard.

Hoarding does not necessarily mean burying in the ground or concealment in the roofs of houses, though those practices are doubtless extensive. Mr. J. M. Keynes, a member of the commission tells a story of a Brahmin in Eastern Bengal who even hoards currency notes in his roof. Once a week he retires privily and spreads them out in the sun to remove the damp. A very large proportion of the hoarded wealth of India is however, in the form of gold and silver ornaments. It is into these ornaments that the bulk of the bullion and sovereigns, as well as much of the silver disappears.
