A Word With Subscribers

It is a popular misconception that in times of War a newspaper makes money. As a matter of fact, any newspaper which tries to do its duty by its subscribers, loses money during war time. This is true of The Daily and Semi-Weekly Mail. Both of these papers, in spite of their tremendous increase in circulation, are not making any profit out of the war. This being the case, we have to ask our subscribers who are in arrears to be good enough to REMIT. If we are properly doing our duty toward you as a subscriber, we have to ask that you will carry out your duty to us by remitting promptly any amount that may be owing to us.

If you want to help us make our paper better, send us your subscription in advance. We assure you that we will spend it in improving our news service.

Accounts are now being sent out, and we will be very much indebted to you if you will give the same your prompt attention.

AMERICAN LEAGUE TO SET SALARY LIMIT

(New York Telegram.)

The greatest secrecy is being observed by those in a position to know why "Ban" Johnson, has called a meeting of that organization to be held in Chicago next Friday. The annual meeting is not to be held until December, and this action on the part of the league's executive has caused the wildest sort of speculation.

Of course, there can be but one answer—conditions in baseball, which is the same as saying the Federal League. It is rumored the Feds, in spite of their announced intention to stand pat, have submitted a proposition to several American League owners with an idea of establishing peace.

It is said that this meeting has been called to consider this proposition, so that the American League's view of it at least can be referred to the National commission in the event of its being acceptable, before the Feds hold their adjourned meeting the latter month.

This of course, is a logical deduction but it has been impossible to confirm the report. Those who have been questioned have invariably replied that they do not know why Mr. Johnston has called the meeting; but they cannot venture even a surmise because they are just as much in the dark as the public is.

ARRANGE SALARY LIMIT.

It is also rumored that the meeting has been called to decide what is the best course to pursue in regard to the case of Walter Johnson, who has been quoted as having notified the Washington club that unless it meets the offer made him by the Feds he will jump, and leave important but similar matters.

This rumor insists the club owners are to meet to arrange a salary limit—to reach an understanding of just how high they will go to protect the few unsigned stars from jumping to the outlaws. Of course, if some such understanding is reached it will not be made public. It would be poor business policy to do so, for the Feds then would be furnished with a definite basis upon which to work.

The salary question, as has been explained in the EVENING TELEGRAM, is the most serious one that confronts backers and promoters of baseball clubs. Whether there is any foundation for this rumor cannot be said. It is printed merely because it exists, and is left for "fandom" to decide its plausibility.

THE RECENT SHOCK.

It is useless to try to figure why "Connie Mack" has decided to strip the uniform of the Athletics from Bender, Plank and Coombs. It is certain there is something greater behind this move—more of a reason for it—than that which has been announced, the fact that they have entertained proposals from the Federal League. It is said that Plank did the negotiating, but it's better than 100 to 1 that Federal League is not the reason for Mack's action.

However, now that they have been put on the block the records of Bender and Plank afford an interesting study, and once the facts have been digested Mack's action becomes more of an enigma than ever.

ON THE SIDE

Report says Von Kluck—has Klucked.

Germany fears a shortage of potatoes but isn't a bit anxious for Great Britain to send over any murphies.

Turkey says she didn't mean it. Germany pushed her. Turkey hasn't been very steady on her feet for some time.

Pretty hard to worry those Indian troops of the Allies. They nonchalantly pretend to think the bursting German shells are fireworks set off in their honor.

According to the Berliner Nachrichten, the German army is suffering from a shortage of officers. German wives and mothers are suffering from a shortage of husbands and sons.

An Opportunity for Household Economy

The great advance in price of cream of tartar—which is derived from grapes—due to inability to care for and market the grape crop in the European countries now at war, can be made advantageous to housewives

Housekeepers will find it more economical and much more satisfactory to use Royal Baking Powder, which is made from highly refined, pure cream of tartar. First, because the price of Royal has not been changed and it will do perfect work; second, because food made with Royal Baking Powder will be finer and more palatable; and finally, because it insures the absence of all danger from alum or similar unwholesome products.

The old-fashioned custom of buying cream of tartar and mixing it with soda, or using sour milk, may be discarded with profit. The high cost and scarcity of cream of tartar furnishes a temptation to unscrupulous dealers to substitute an adulterated product, which may be either lime phosphates or alum, that will change the baking strength and may spoil the food.

KNOCKED HOUSE DOWN TO GET FOUR SOLDIERS

London, Nov. 7.—Many narrow escapes and deeds of wonderful bravery have been made by the injured British and Belgian soldiers now recovering in English hospitals. A young lance corporal of the King's Royal Rifle, who is recovering from a bullet wound in his knee owes his life to a crucifix which he picked up in an empty house where he was billeted. A strange impulse impelled him to pick up the crucifix and put it in his haversack.

One of the officers on the ill-fated Cressy which was sunk by the German submarines was severely injured on the head, had both his legs broken and his feet crushed as he was thrown into the air by the explosion. His body was sucked under the water by the sinking cruiser, but was picked up by one of the rescue ships.

Twenty-four hours afterwards the injured officer regained consciousness and his first words were: "Are we down-hearted? No!"

A sergeant of the line was made adjutant for his coolness and bravery in one of the engagements in Lorraine. With three men the sergeant was sent across an open field to attract the fire of the Germans so the colonel could tell where the enemy's trenches were and what their probable strength was. A hail of bullets was directed at the four men.

They made their way to a small farmhouse where they climbed up on a tile roof and from the shelter of a chimney began firing at the Germans. The Germans directed one of their bat-

A DIFFERENT SPIRIT.

Bishop Theodore S. Henderson said at a dinner in Chattanooga:

"The Kaiser speaks of 'God, our old ally.' The aged Franz Josef has it, 'God, our defense and bulwark.' King George's God is the 'God of our race,' and King Albert's is 'our right arm, God.'"

"All this is very well but doesn't it savor a little, perhaps, of self-righteousness?"

"Lincoln engaged in war in a different spirit. At the height of the civil war Lincoln was asked:

'Are you sure God is on our side?'

"I don't know," Lincoln answered. "I haven't thought about that. What I'm anxious to find out is whether we are on God's side."—Washington Star.

teries on the house and razed it.

My smartest patrol leader is gone," the colonel remarked, as he saw the building crumble. The three privates were no more, but the little sergeant was soon seen running across the field. When the sergeant arrived at headquarters the colonel asked with mock severity why he did not stay.

"Sorry sir, but the pigs knocked my house down," was the reply.

GERMAN RIGHT HELD BY DEAD AND DYING

London, Nov. 6.—What has now become another well-defined stage of the battle in West Flanders—that is to say, a second concerted attempt of the German army to blast its way through to the sea—was flaming and roaring from Neuport to the French frontier today without definite result. The area near the coast formerly held by the extreme German right, and which the invaders were forced to, the Allies after many days of hard fighting, is held only by dead, dying and wounded, the inundation having made the vicinity uninhabitable for the living and having prevented an advance of the Allies.

Hundreds of Germans left behind in the retreat doubtless will perish, as many were marooned like driftwood on an American lowland in time of flood. Thousands more on both sides are yet to perish in the struggle now progressing, the outcome of which should decide whether the Germans are going to reach the French coast this winter.

An official despatch from the British army headquarters at the front today pays a tribute to the way the invaders are meeting with death and speculates as heretofore whether this is due to patriotism or to ironclad discipline.

Rumor says that the Commission Bomb will blow up the Local Government.
