BY A DIFFERENT ROUTE

Donald aged seven, had had a disagreement with his little sister, Louise, and a gentle touch characteristic of her sex Louise at last said solemnly:

"Donald, you are a bad boy. If you keep on acting that way you'll never go to heaven."

The lad eyed his sister thoughtfully. "Don't want to," he announced, putting on a bold front.

"What? Don't want to go to Heaven along with mamma and sister?"

"Nope," snapped the self-sufficient youth, "I've made arrangements to go with papa."

Mr. Kjold Flemming the prince of political grafters will be known by future generations as the man with the iron nerve.

OBITUARY.

Lines written by Annie E. Sutton on the death of Mrs. Charles McGuffigan, who died at her home at Millville April 3, 1914

Dearest mother, she has left you,
She has only gone before,
She is waiting to receive you
On that beautiful, beautiful shore.
She is waving, sweetly waving,
Waving with those beautiful, beckoning hands,
Whilst gazing down from heaven on you,
Standing on that beautiful strand.

For she was the most dearest of mothers,
To her children and to all;
She was never tired of answering,
Working, planning, answering to their every call,
But dear Jesus gently whispered,
Come, oh come from earth to me;
Lo, he sent an angel for her,
To help guide her on her way.

She has gone, you're dearest mother,
That sweet name, forever gone.
She shall never more answer to it,
No, never more within that home,
How you miss you're dearest mother
Miss her at morn, at noon, at night,
None other one can ever fill it,
No, not one, that vacant spot.

Earth could not claim one here so lovely,
None so good and sweet as she,
Sickness came and overtook her,
So suddenly, so quickly she was taken away,
When on her bed of pain and suffering
She never murmured, not at all,
She kept praying, Jesus, precious Jesus,
Do Thy will; that was just all.

And, if it's Thy will to take me with Thee
Thou knowest best just what to do
But if it's Thy will to spare me to them,
But it it's not I'm prepared, yes willing to go,
When she was so very languid, so weary
Just holding on a tiny thread,
When asked if she would like to live longer,
Only for friends and my family's sake, she said.

In sickness or in trouble she always stood ready
To extend a helping hand to all,
Left everything just where it was
Always ready at every one's call;
Why should such a noble personage as she
Be taken from this earth away,
Oft, so oft is asked this question
That one so noble as she had such a short time here to stay.

ASSISTING WOOL-GROWERS

Sheep-raising Industry to be Further Improved and Developed

The live stock branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is prepared to offer practical assistance to associations of wool growers in the preparation and display of their wool clips for market. Associations, in order to receive aid, must be organized in accordance with the regulations of the branch, and membership is limited to actual owners of sheep. West of Fort William an association must contain at least 3,000 sheep, or sufficient to comprise one carload of wool; east of there, a relative number. The services of expert wool classifiers, who will take charge of and perform the grading, classification and preparation of the wool, will be provided.

This proposal represents much more than a mere continuation of the work that has already been undertaken. It means the introduction of a definite scheme whereby wool producers may be actually assisted in preparing and presenting their wool upon the market in the most acceptable fashion, and thus be in a position to cater more directly to the requirements of the market. Moreover, it should prove effective in developing and improving the general status of sheep-raising and in creating an impetus to the production and preparation of an improved grade of wool, and indirectly, a better class of mutton.

Pursues the Stale Egg

DR. ALBERTA READ

Stale eggs are Dr. Alberta E. Read's specialty; her reputation as a chemist rests on stale eggs, and it is to her ability to keep stale eggs out of the United States housewife's pantry that she owes her unusual position.

As an expert chemist in the Government bureau of chemistry, it is Dr. Read's business to examine the frozen and dried eggs submitted to the bureau for inspection under the interstate commerce law and to see that all the "stored" egg product is pure and wholesome when given to the consumer. By applying chemical tests, she can tell for a certainty the age and "previous condition" of the eggs under inspection.

A Chicken Coop

A combination two-in-one poultry coop for setting hens and chickens is 6 feet long, 3 feet deep and is divided into four compartments by removable partitions. At the back of each compartment is a nest, at the front is a sliding door which opens into a detachable runway. The front of the little house is three feet high and has an opening in the upper half, lengthwise covered with wire screen and closed by a hinged door at the top. Four hens are set in this coop at one time. As soon as the chicks come, two of the partitions are taken out and one hen given both hatchlings, while the other hen is put to more profitable work. When the chicks are ready to do without the hen, the hens are taken out, the other two partitions removed and perches put in for the chicks to roost on. The runways in front are then taken away also.

"One man's food is another man's poison," as you've often heard. Don't try to conform your diet to some other person's diet. Find out what suits you and then stick to it.

Get the habit of doing the right thing. Get the habit of rising early, of going to bed betimes, of eating wholesome food. Life's all much a matter of habit. Why not get the ones which will help you to live healthfully?

HIS HEALTH IN A TERRIBLE STATE

"Fruit-a-tives" Healed His Kidneys and Cured Him

HAGERSVILLE, ONT., AUG. 26th, 1913.

"About two years ago, I found my health in a very bad state. My Kidneys were not doing their work and I was all run down in condition. I felt the need of some good remedy, and having seen 'Fruit-a-tives' advertised, I decided to try them. Their effect, I found more than satisfactory.

Their action was mild and the result all that could be expected.

My Kidneys resumed their normal action after I had taken upwards of a dozen boxes, and I regained my old-time vitality. Today, I am enjoying the best health I have ever had."

B. A. KELLY

FULL LENGTH.

Ambrose Patterson the Australian painter a very lengthy and wealthy paint a very lengthy and wealthy suburbanite. Patterson himself is a lank brush, shooting up beyond six foot one inch. He was rather priding himself on having been given this commission, bearing in mind the great pressure of artists round every possible job in Australia. Eventually, however, the sitter explained. "I was a long time looking for a suitable artist," he said. "I'm six foot two-an'-a-half and till I struck you? 'adn't seen a painter that 'ad enough 'light to do a full length of me."—Argonaat.

SIXTH BIRTHDAY OF DON JAIME

Madrid, July 22—His Royal Highness the Infante Don Jaime, second son of King Alfonso, celebrated his sixth birthday anniversary today, having been born at La Granja Palace, July 22, 1908. He is a fine active little chap, equally fond of outdoor sports and everything pertaining to the military. On account of certain infirmities of hearing and speech with which the king's elder son is afflicted, there is a belief in some quarters that Don Jaime is most likely to succeed the throne.
