CONDITION OF THE ROADS THE WORST EVER

To the Editor of The Daily Mail:

Dear Sir:—I saw a letter in The Mail of the 23rd May from a Voter in Bloomfield Ridge and he is complaining about the condition of the roads and for the benefit of auto owners or intending purchasers. As an owner of an auto I can warn you do not attempt to make a run up the river on either side. Neither should you go out into the country either from Woodstock, Hartland, Florenceville, Bristol, Bath or Perth and from Perth to Grand Falls. The roads are damnable and impassable. Messrs. Martin and Rankin Smith came over the road with an auto and broke the wind shield slick and clean off their car. Mr. M. Tompkins run from Woodstock to Hartland with his hupmobile on Saturday and the roads were so rough that he broke the axles at Bristol and he is done motoring until the roads are made passable or a change of government occurs. Why, we never see any autos here this spring. Dr. McIntosh does not take his car out. Dr. Curtis does not show up. Neither does Messrs. Woodford C. Craig, Arthur Estabrooks, C. H. Taylor, Scott Sippel and C. Raymond Rideout. Mr. Fred J. Boyer, a brother-in-law of Harry McLeod's, living at Victoria Corner, has had the courage to make the run to Hartland, but it was just for bravery. He has only been seen once in the village and then the machine bucked up on him and did not want to go home over the rough roads and it was not to blame.

There is never a day passes unless someone is cursing the present condition of the roads. We have the second highest auto tax in the world and then the owners cannot take them out owing to the condition of the roads. God help the Flemming government when we get a chance at them.

A VOTER.

Ladies of Culture and Refinement Use Salvia Hair Tonic. It makes the Hair Beautiful

At last a remedy has been discovered that will positively destroy this pest.

That Dandruff is caused by germs is accepted by every sensible person. Dandruff is the root of all hair evils.

SALVIA will kill the Dandruff germs and remove Dandruff in ten days, or money back.

Ryan guarantees it. It will grow hair, stop itching scalp, falling hair, and make the hair thick and abundant. It prevents hair from turning gray, and adds life and lustre.

SALVIA is a hair dressing that has become the favorite with women of taste and culture, who know the social value of beautiful hair. A large generous bottle costs only 50c. at leading druggists everywhere, and in Fredericton by Ryan. The word "SALVIA" (Latin for sage) is on every bottle.

you N. S., seems to have been no more successful than elsewhere. The Advocate says: "Many of his off-hand remarks raised a smile. For instance Mr. Robertson was urging him to give the filled in land at the east of the station as a site for a gun shed, and said: "You know you will need us (the militia) to defend the road if the enemy invade the country."

Give your servants GOLD DUST to clean with, treat them rightly and you will have few occasions to insert a "help wanted" ad

They say a good workman is known by his tools. You cannot expect your maid to keep everything ship-shape unless you give her every modern help. To keep house without GOLD DUST is to do work by hard, old-fashioned methods. For cleaning everything and anything about the house—from cellar to attic—GOLD DUST is worth its weight in gold. It cuts grease and dirt like magic, loes away with scouring and scrubbing, and saves time and tempers.

Your servant can do more and better work and keep sweet with the aid of GOLD DUST in all household cleaning.

DEATH SENTENCE MAY BE COMMUTED

Boston, Mass., May 27.—A determined effort is being made to have the death sentence of Mrs. Lena Cusumano, convicted of murdering her husband and sentenced to die in the electric chair in the State Prison at Charleston one week from today, commuted to life imprisonment. While it is believed there is a good chance these efforts will succeed, there is a strong sentiment in some quarters in favor of permitting the law to take its course, in view of the unusual atrocity of the crime and the fact that the Supreme Court of Massachusetts decided that the trial court had not erred in its judgment.

Little public sympathy is expressed for Enrico Mascioli, the accomplice of Mrs. Cusumano, who is sentenced to be electrocuted on the same day that the woman is to die. Only perfunctory efforts are being made in the man's behalf, although it is the general belief that he is likely to share in any act of clemency that is extended to Mrs. Cusumano.

Those who are assisting in the movement for a commutation of Mrs. Cusumano's sentence do so largely from sentiment rather than reasons of justice or personal sympathy. They declare that no woman has ever met death in the electric chair in Massachusetts and that it would be a disgrace to the State if the sentence was carried out. It is not only the first time in the history of Massachusetts that a woman has been sentenced to die in the electric chair, but the first time in the memory of persons of this generation that a woman has been condemned to death in this State as a penalty for a crime.

The crime of which Mrs. Cusumano and Mascioli were convicted was committed in Hull in September, 1910. A few weeks after the disappearance of Cusumano his body was found on the ocean beach and an autopsy disclosed that he was murdered. The defendants were arrested shortly afterward and they were placed on trial at Plymouth last February.

A number of witnesses testified the most important of whom was Accuscia, the seven-year-old daughter of Mrs. Cusumano, who identified the quilt in which Cusumano's body was wrapped, as one that was on her father's bed. Other witnesses were Mrs. Cusumano's sisters. Both defendants testified, denying the crime, but the evidence, such as the finding of a blood-stained ax, a hole in the ground near the Cusumano house and a bundle of blood-stained clothing which belonged to Mrs. Cusumano, was so strong. The testimony for the State showed that Mrs. Cusumano and Mascioli entered the room where Cusumano slept and killed him.

In behalf of the woman it is said she was an unwilling and involuntary accomplice of Mascioli and that she long under the influence of Mascioli. The term "hypnotic eye" has been mentioned in this connection. It is recalled by the court officials that throughout the trial of the pair the woman seemed to be in constant and abject fear of Mascioli. Not once during the long trial did she lift her eyes to meet his.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane's visit to Picton. "No," said the minister, "if the enemy come we will give them the road and if it gives them as much trouble as it does me they will soon get rid of it."

"Who is the man who laid out this yard?" He asked Mr. Brady.

"He's dead," said Brady.

"He should be," replied the minister.

Soft shapless little boleros reaching only to the waistline, coat sharply cut away and fitted in at the waistline. Directoire models with high collars around sides and back, mantlets crossing diagonally in front and either falling to the waistline in the back like a loose cape or belted in with coat tails of some kind below the belt; short Prussian coats, fastening down the left front, belted and with short coat skirts all around, sleeveless boleros, straight loose Louis XV coats with neck frills, buttons all the way down the straight front, waistcoats and other details belonging to the type—there is apparently no period to which French makers have not turned for inspiration in the designing of the coatees and the variety extends to color scheme and details.
